The King Felicitates.
Lipton's $400.
Miss Crane's Nine Poets.
Labor Airplane War.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LAST SUNDAY was President Hoover's fifty-sixth birthday anniversary. Everybody hopes he will live 56 years more and that his highest ambition centered on public service may be realized.

The British King sent "warmest felicitations," signing his cable "George R. I." The initials at the end represent two Latin words, "Rex Imperator," meaning "King, Emperor."

You might say: "It must give a man a thrill to sign those initials, so much more imposing than anything a president could tack on to his name."

But to the King, whose messages are all written by somebody else, it's an old story. He may not even know that he sent the cable.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON will soon arrive to see his yacht win or lose. He is 80, and the cup that he seeks was won by an American boat when Lipton was a 1-year-old baby.

It would please everybody if the genial old Irishman could take the cup back with him. We don't need it, and our young millionaire yacht-builders would enjoy going over after it.

YACHT RACES mean little to the average man, but a few words that Lipton said to reporters, mean EVERYTHING TO MILLIONS.

He told how he first came to this country, at 17, in the steerage, adding:

"I went to work in the South, saved money, and returned home with $400 in my pocket, and I thought I was the richest man in the world."

He wasn't the richest man, but he was rich, because he knew how to save.

Lipton has business ability, understands advertising and trade. But all his business intelligence would have done him no good without the first $400. That money enabled him to start something.

And starting, he succeeded. A great majority of all Americans die worth less than $100, 85 per cent of those past 65 are dependent on others, and that in a country where average intelligence, willingness to work, and capacity to save, mean independence in old age.

THE CHARMING Miss Nathalia Crane, recently an infant prodigy, and 17 years old yesterday, had a birthday party, and told about her new book, an epic poem called "Pocahontas." In that book, which some Wall Street bankers will devour, the Russian "Reds" conquer America, sweeping along the coast, seizing everything. Then America's manhood asserts itself under the leadership of nine poets (please don't laugh) and the beautiful Pocahontas, remarkably like Miss Crane probably, reigns as queen of the United States.

THAT IS QUITE as reasonable as things that some of our "best financial minds" say about the "Red menace."

Be that as it may, Russia's government has spent here, in the last 60 days, $40,500,000, buying agricultural implements, for use on co-operative and government owned farms in Russia.

The money has bought tractors and "combines," the most scientific machinery for harvesting grain, cutting, stacking, weighing the grain, all in one operation.

While we talk about farm relief, wondering what can be done, Russia seems to be showing us.

BRITISH AIRPLANES have driven away thousands of Afridis, attacking towns under British control. Afridis fight on the ground. A few British airplanes can dispose of them.

YESTERDAY FOR the first time airplanes appeared in labor war.

In the coal mine region around Providence, Ky., upset for several months past by labor troubles, an airplane appeared at 6 a. m., slowly circling the city. It dropped a bomb at the mouth of one mine, dropped eight other bombs and went its way. Nobody, fortunately, was hurt. But explosions, heard for miles, filled the city with terror.

BRITAIN, ITS AFRIDI enemies repulsed by air attack, looks on, while Mohammedans kill Hindus and Hindus kill, or try to kill, Mohammedans in India.

The Hindus again paraded past a Mohammedan mosque, annoying Moslems. Later a Mohammedan laundryman washed clothes in a pond attached to a Hindu temple. Twenty killed, 300 hurt this time.

ON THE HUDSON, near Sing Sing prison, four persons in a sinking boat were in danger of drowning. Four convicts, sentenced to long terms, with many years of prison life ahead of them, asked for a chance to save those in danger, saying: "We will come back." The guards wisely consented. The convicts saved the four, and they did come back to serve out their terms.

There are thousands in prisons that with a better chance in youth would have been useful men. There are thousands living in luxury that

JURY FAILS TO INDICT CARROLL

Charge of Obscenity in Stage Revue Fails; Producer And Chorus Girls 'Happy'

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The grand jury today dismissed the charges of obscenity lodged against Earl Carroll, Faith Bacon and several others as a result of the production here of Carroll's revue, the "Vanities."

The grand jurors held that the evidence against the defendants did not warrant an indictment.

Besides Carroll and Miss Bacon the other defendants were Kay Carroll, a chorus girl, and Jimmy Savvo, comedian.

SHOW RAIDED

The police raided the show several weeks ago following a complaint made by Police Capt. James Coy, who declared that Miss Bacon performed a dance while nude, except for two fans. He also claimed that a dressing scene in which Savvo dressed and undressed a chorus girl was in violation of public decency.

All the defendants were heard by the grand jurors.

Carroll told the jury that he

VOTE MACHINES ACTION FRIDAY

Chairman Armstrong, of the county commissioners, announced today that bidders for the contract to supply vote machines to Allegheny County would be heard at 11 a. m., Friday, and that the contract probably would be awarded then.

Armstrong set Monday as the date for a special hearing asked by Commissioner McGovern, who charges that the building of the county airport is being bungled.

Coolidge Sees No Threat Of Great Food Shortage

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 12.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

All of the central part of the United States and especially that region East of the Mississippi, of which Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia are the backbone, is suffering from lack of rain. There has been nothing to compare with it since 1874. The damage is very great and destitution is threatening some sections; probably there will be considerable reduction in agricultural products.

Calvin Coolidge.

The national and local governments are already moving to relieve present and future distress and prevent further loss so far as possible. As they always do in every emergency, those great public servants, the railroads, are responding to the resulting needs of the people. But there is yet no prospect of general food shortage or distress. This is a large country. When it is dry in one part there is moisture in other parts. Seed time and harvest have never yet failed us.

This experience shows that no one can foretell what crops the weather will produce in any specific season and clearly demonstrates that if acreage is reduced so that production is not excessive, prices will be higher. A temporary surplus or temporary shortage that might then result can be remedied. It is the permanent surplus that becomes unmanageable.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

HELEN GIVES UP TENNIS CROWN FOR HOME

Declines to Defend Title; Will Remain in California, Shun Forest Hills Tourney

BULLETIN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12—(INS.)—Although Mrs. Helen Wills Moody will not be seen in action this year in the women's national tennis championship at Forest Hills, she plans to play for the national crown next year.

In order to do this she plans to forego her annual tennis pilgrimage to Europe next year.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Helen Wills Moody has decided she will not defend her national women's tennis title this month at Forest Hills, N. Y.

The champion gave unwillingness to leave her husband, home and relatives so shortly after her long trip to Wimbledon, England, as the reason for decision. She said:

"I have decided to stay at home with my husband and relatives for a time. It wouldn't be right for me to go away again so soon when I have just returned from a long trip.

"I love competitive tennis and have no intention of giving it up, but I am not going to defend my national title this year."

Mrs. Moody returned recently from Wimbledon where she captured the singles title. With her she brought many furnishings for the Moody apartment here.

The apartment hardly was arranged to suit her, she said, when she was again confronted with the problem of whether to make a long journey east to defend the title she has won six times.

The entry list for the national women's event closed today. In past years Mrs. Moody always

KDKA Asks License For Big Transmitter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Station KDKA today applied to the Federal Radio Commission for a license covering its new 200,000 watt transmitter just south of Saxonburg, Pa. The Westinghouse Company also asked for authority to continue operating the old transmitter in Wilkins Township, and to carry on synchronization trials with the new and old transmitters for the purpose of accomplishing a gradual transition from one to the other over a period of three weeks.

Mum Is the Word For Night Golf Fans

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—If you must play in the wee small hours, don't call your shots. That was the edict of Health Commissioner Wynne today on miniature golf players. In the wake of many complaints that noises on Tom Thumb courses disturbed sleep, the commissioner ordered that courses might be kept open during the night, but quiet must be maintained after 11 o'clock.

Father Demands Son Be Punished; Court Frees Him

"I stole my father's radio because my young wife and I had not tasted food for four days."

The admission was made in South Side Police Court today by Francis Reither, 21, of 18 Bailey avenue, who, with his wife, Eva, 22, was arrested, charged with the theft of the senior Reither's radio.

Magistrate John J. Sweeney addressed the father:

"What would you have me do with your boy?"

The father replied:

"I want him punished to the extent of the law."

Magistrate Sweeney said:

"I'll discharge him under the circumstances."

The hearing was over, and while the young couple, tearful, thanked the magistrate, the elder Reither picked up his radio and departed.

TAXICAB DRIVER SHOOTS, HALTS MOB'S ATTACK

Old Strike Foes Clash as Feud Flares; Man With Gun Fined—Others Beaten

The taxicab drivers' war, smoldering since the settlement of the strike some months ago, flared to the accompaniment of gunplay early today.

Several drivers who reported for work before the final adjustment of the walkout have been beaten in the past two days, and today saw a renewal of violence.

Three men were arrested in East Park, North Side, this morning after V. Neeley, 213 Lowrie avenue, Emsworth, was alleged to have fired a shot at a crowd he said was following him.

Neeley, D. Mas, 605 Thorpe street, and J. Morrow, 321 Beltzhoover avenue, all said to be cab drivers, were arrested on suspicious person charges. A revolver with one exploded cartridge was found near the scene, police reported.

FINED FOR SHOT

In North Side Police Court Neeley testified he was warned by the superintendent of the Ross street garage that he was in danger of attack. He said he borrowed a revolver from a fellow driver, and that shortly after leaving the garage he noticed a truck loaded with men following his cab.

Near Cedar avenue, he said, the crowd rushed him and he fired a shot to scare his attackers. The mob was checked momentarily. Then police arrived and arrested the trio.

Mas corroborated Neeley's testimony. Morrow said he was only a spectator. Neeley was fined $25, with the alternative of 30 days in jail. Mas and Morrow were freed by Magistrate Ray Schneider.

FLIER HELD IN LABOR BOMBING

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Paul Montgomery, licensed airplane pilot, was arrested here today of a Webster County (Ky.) warrant charging felony, in connection with the bombing of the Providence (Ky.) mines yesterday.

O. C? Martin, Bruce Stone and H. Black, store manager, bookkeeper and employe respectively of the Providence Coal Mining Company, and the Lewton Coal Company of Providence arrived here today.

Montgomery's arrest followed.

The aviator, who had talked of a Rome-to-Dallas (Tex.) nonstop flight this summer, declined to make any statement other than to deny he had flown in the vicinity of Providence yesterday or that he had any connection with the air raid. Immediately after his arrest, he asked for permission to engage counsel.

Montgomery also placed telephone calls for friends he said went to the field with him early Monday, to see him take off, and who, he said, were with him on a Sunday night party. He said:

"I may need an alibi. I am not using my plane for criminal expeditions and I will prove I had nothing to do with this mine bombing."

KANE, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Augustus H. Gaffney, 62, president of the American Plate Glass Corporation, of Kane, died suddenly at Henderson Harbor, N. Y., late yesterday. The body will be brought here today. A heart attack caused his death.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM KENNETH MOYER

Moyer, Souderton (Pa.) poet, and his January bride, who today announced the birth of a baby. Before their wedding they had signed a contract providing that either could seek a divorce if there weren't a baby within two years.

Marriage Contract Provided Separation in Two Years If No Issue

SOUDERTON, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Mr. and Mrs. William Kenneth Moyer, married here after signing a contract that either was privileged to obtain a divorce, without consulting the other, if there was no issue within two years, today announced the birth of a son.

Moyer, a Chicago free lance writer, said the child weighed 8½ pounds and arrived at 3 o'clock this morning. Both parents were delighted with the new arrival, he added.

The baby was born at the home of Moyer's father, Abner Moyer, a prominent resident of this town.

Guardian Appointed For Elderly Suitor

READING, Pa., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—As the sequel to a visit to Allentown, several months ago, when he sought to marry Ruth Deppen, 22-year-old divorcee, Thomas Eck, 79, a railroad flagman, today was under the care of a guardian, appointed to administer his $17,600 estate.

PRESIDENT TO DIRECT RELIEF

Reports to Cabinet Show Losses Over U. S. Fast Mounting; No Rain Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Abandonment of his proposed western vacation trip to remain in Washington and direct the drought relief program was announced today by President Hoover.

The President expects to spend two or three days a week at his Virginia camp and, if the weather remains cool in Washington, he may shorten the length of his stay there.

The announcement that Mr. Hoover would forego a month's recreation trip to Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks followed the semi-weekly cabinet meeting at which the drought situation came in for lengthy discussion.

Secretary Hyde reported the latest developments in the situation based on several hundred reports from county agents, but no announcement was made as to further steps in the government's relief plan.

AWAIT GOVERNORS

It was understood, however, nothing further would be done until after the governors' conference here Thursday.

Meanwhile the Agriculture Department's monthly crop report yesterday, showing a decline in crop yield prospects of nearly 7 per cent on the basis of conditions August 1 was receiving considerable study in official circles.

Weather Bureau forecasts today gave little indication of any immediate or widespread break in the prevailing dry weather.

The weather almost all over the country took a long cool dive today, in some places almost to the freezing point.

In temperatures reported to the Associated Press from all sections of the country there were a num-

MERCURY HERE FALLS TO 50

In the last few weeks many Pittsburghers prayed for cooler weather—they got it this morning. Today is the coldest August 12, since 1889. At 8 o'clock the thermometer touched 50 degrees. In Elkins, W. Va., the mercury dropped to 38, the cold being accompanied by frost. Forecaster Brotzman declares that the cool weather will last for some days. No rain is in sight.

Heat exhaustion was given today as the cause of death of Dan du Crow, old-time circus clown, who was found dead in his home at 2001 Sarah street, South Side, last night. Dr. John Weber, who was summoned to the home, said the man was a member of the Du Crow trio, famous clowns, and that he recently had entertained at the Shriners' circus at Kennywood Park. In his room were found clown suits and advertising posters.

SLEUTHS AT DOG TRACK SAFE

No definite action will be taken against the county detectives who failed to notice gambling on the dog races at Guyasuta track, near Aspinwall, according to District Attorney Andrew T. Park, who yesterday returned from his vacation.

Park made no comment on the fact that his first assistant, George F. P. Langfitt, had visited the track the night gambling was reported strong but yet had noticed no betting.

Park held a conference with Langfitt immediately upon his arrival. It is believed that Langfitt reported on the failure of the sleuths to report the gambling. After the conference Park reported that he had received a report that there had been no organized gambling at the track.

After learning that the races had been halted, Park said:

"I sincerely hope the track is closed for good."

Park still maintained he would prosecute any person who attempted to organize any betting schemes at the track.

'Numbers' Books Cut Odds From 600-1 to 500-1

The high cost of running a "number racket" became evident today when players in many parts of the city were informed that beginning tomorrow the payoff would be reduced from 600-to-1 to 500-to-1.

The new scale first was in evidence in the North Side, "the home of the numbers racket." To the angry snorts and boycott threats of the players the bookies replied that the operators of all major pools within the city had entered into a mutual agreement to reduce odds.

The agreement report was denied in the downtown and South Side districts by representatives of major pools in those sections. The rumor of the new scale was confirmed in the Bloomfield, Lawrenceville and Hazelwood districts. East End pools, refusing to write numbers in which the cipher appears, have increased the odds to 700 to 1.

On the side of the number-playing public are the numbers writers. They lament their percentage by the reduced scale will be greatly decreased, since their cut on the pay-off is 10 per cent of the money the players win when they "hit."

The reduction was threatened by operators last week after the hunch number 805 backed them "into the red." The promised reduction in the payoff was fought bitterly by the Pittsburgh number players, and each pool feared public protest against the project would result in boycott.

However, by mutual agreement on the new scale the racket men may be able to ignore wails of their complaining public.

5 STATES VOTE IN PRIMARIES; OUSTED HEFLIN WATCHES

DECIDE FATE OF NORRIS, ROBINSON

Associated Press.

The political fate of national figures hung in the balance today as voters of five states chose party nominees for state and federal offices.

The veteran Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, faced two opponents for the Republican senatorial nomination in a primary intensified in interest by his defection from the Republican ranks in 1928, to support Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee.

HEFLIN WATCHES

The colorful J. Thomas Heflin, Senator from Alabama, was forced to step aside at today's primary by state leaders, leaving the party's senatorial contest in Alabama between John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, and Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher.

Heflin however was urging voters to stay away from the polls today. He will run against the Democratic winner as an independent candidate in the November elections.

In Oklahoma and Ohio the Democrats selected candidates to oppose the Republican senatorial incumbents—W. B. Pine and Roscoe C. McCulloch, neither of whom had opposition within their party.

5 FOR OHIO SENATE SEAT

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Except for a lively five-cornered contest for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, in which prohibition was one of the chief issues, Ohio's primary today created only nominal excitement.

On the Republican side the balloting was virtually a formality, United States Senator Roscoe McCulloch was unopposed for the nomination to seek election to the post he assumed by appointment following the death of Senator Theodore E. Burton. Gov. Myers Y. Cooper also was without opposition.

Prohibition was made the issue in the democratic senatorial race, when one of the candidates, former Congressman Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, came out for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and a second, George S. Myers, also of Cleveland, declared for modification.

Former State Agriculture Director Charles V. Truax, of Bucyrus, and W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, kept silent on the question, devoting their speeches to the tariff, farm relief and other economic problems, while the fifth candidate, former Congressman John McSweeney, of Wooster, was supported by the Anti-Saloon League.

The liquor question also was figured in the Democratic gubernatorial contest with former Congressman George White, of Marietta, favoring enforcement, and Stephen M. Young, of Cleveland, recommending modification.

White managed the presidential campaign of former Governor James M. Cox in 1920. The latter advocated repeal of pro-

JUDGE TO PASS ON BLUE LAW

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Another skirmish in the battle against the 1794 Sunday Blue Law is scheduled today when Judge Edwin O. Lewis will be called upon to decide if police may stop Sunday baseball games by locking the participants up on disorderly conduct charges.

Judge Lewis came into the case as an aftermath to a game here two weeks ago when two managers and an umpire were fined $10 each on charges of disorderly conduct because they participated in a Sunday game. They refused to pay the fines and were immediately sentenced to 30 days each in jail by a magistrate. An appeal was taken to Judge Lewis and he ordered the men freed in bail pending arguments.

The game was played for the purpose of testing the Blue Law, but when police discovered the managers of the contest intended to have the arresting bluecoats seized under an ordinance of 1705 preventing arrests on Sunday for Blue Law violations they charged the trio with disorderly conduct instead of infractions of the Blue Law.

The first game in detail:

FIRST INNING

PHILADELPHIA — Brickell was hit with a pitched ball. Thompson sacrificed, Brame to Suhr. O'Doul flied to Comorosky. Klein lined to Southern.

PITTSBURGH—Southern was safe on Thevenow's high throw of his grounder. Southern stole second. P. Waner grounded out to Hurst as Southern advanced. Comorosky lined to O'Doul, scoring Southern. Hansen threw out Traynor. One run, one error.

SECOND INNING

PHILADELPHIA — Hurst lined to P. Waner. Engle threw out Whitney. Thevenow singled to left. Comorosky made a circus diving catch on Davis' fly. One hit.

PITTSBURGH—Bartell walked. Engle also walked. Suhr fanned. Bool hit a home run over the left field fence, scoring Bartell and Engle ahead of him. Thevenow threw out Brame. Thevenow threw out Southern. Three runs, one hit.

THIRD INNING

PITTSBURGH—P. Waner walked. Comorosky flied to Brickell. P. Waner was caught off first, Hansen to Hurst. Traynor flied to Brickell.

FOURTH INNING

PHILADELPHIA—Engle threw out O'Doul. Klein tripled to left center. Hurst went out, Brame to Engle to Suhr, as Klein scored. Brame's left hand was hurt as he deflected the smash and the game was stopped. After receiving first aid he stayed in the game. Whitney singled to left. Thevenow forced Whitney, Bartell unassisted. One run, two hits.

WEATHER STILL HOLDS HAWKS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Unfavorable weather reports today continued to delay Capt. Frank Hawks in taking off for New York in quest of another transcontinental speed record to add to the one he established when he flew here from the East last week.

Late last night Capt. Hawks announced that reports of adverse flying conditions along his proposed route had compelled a postponement of the start until tomorrow.

Capt. Hawks plans to make the west-east flight in 10 hours with the aid of tail winds.

At a late hour Capt. Hawks had not yet been served with a summons obtained by his former wife, now Mrs. Newell Vaughn, who seeks to collect $10,635 she claims is due her on a judgment granted last April. They were divorced six years ago, and the flier also has remarried.

WANT PINCHOT AND BROWN AT PICNIC

Politicians Interested in Contemplated Appearance Of Rivals at Outing

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12. (AP.)—With Gifford Pinchot in possession of two independent party titles under which to run for governor in the event he is deprived of the Republican nomination by the Supreme Court in the Luzerne County ballot dispute, politicians today were interested further over the contemplated appearance of both Pinchot and his Republican rival, Francis Shunk Brown, at the open air meeting next Saturday at Fogelsville, Lehigh County.

Following the action by Pinchot pre-empting the titles "Fair Play" and "Square Deal" in the Dauphin County Court at Harrisburg, and on the heels of a conference of Philadelphia Republican organization leaders with William S. Vare here, it was disclosed that Brown, who is contesting for the gubernatorial nomination in the Supreme Court, will attend the picnic near Allentown by invitation.

INVITED BY SCHANTZ

Previous announcement had been made that State Senator Horace W. Schantz, Lehigh County leader, invited Pinchot to attend the Fogelsville rally, which usually marks the formal opening of Pennsylvania Republican campaigns every two years. Subsequently it was declared by State Treasurer Edward Martin, chairman of the Republican State Committee, that the affair will not reflect the formality of other years, and that the Republican campaign for the November general election will not be started until after the Supreme Court's decision.

Pinchot, it has been announced, will deliver an address at the Lehigh meeting. It has not been disclosed whether Brown will be asked to speak.

Brown said:

"I was invited to Fogelsville and expect to attend. I do not know whether I am expected to make a speech or not."

208 PAPERS FILED

Blanketing of the state with pre-emptions for the "Square Deal" party was completed today in Harrisburg when 208 papers were filed to cover every congressional, state senatorial and legislative district.

Pinchot's secretary, P. S. Stahlnecker, made it clear that both the "Square Deal" and "Fair Play" parties would be dropped in event of a favorable decision by the Supreme Court, but that if the decision is adverse, the "Square Deal" name would be used.

MORE PRE-EMPTIONS SEEN

The only explanation offered by Stahlnecker for taking possession of two parties, instead of one, was that the former Governor placed a great deal of weight on both names and wished to preserve their use for himself. He intimated there may be more pre-emptions.

Filing of the two sets of papers gave Pinchot access to three party names in all. The name of "Independent party" was taken out by Pinchot supporters in Allegheny County some time ago.

Filing of papers with the courts taking title to a party name is only a preliminary formality to actual appearance of the name on the ballot at the November general election.

BRITISH DEFEAT AFRIDIS, KILL HUNDREDS

Tribesmen's Savage Attack On Peshawar Fails; Afghans May Continue Raids

International News Service.

BOMBAY, Aug. 12.—Hundreds of Afridi tribesmen were reported slain today in bitter fighting in the Peshawar district, on the northwest frontier.

The ancient walled city, gateway to the Khyber Pass and Great Britain's most important Indian military outpost, was in a panic as the swarthy warriors dashed boldly into the gardens on the fringes of Pehsawar. The British garrison rained tons of shells into these cultivated spots all day yesterday.

Armored cars slowly patrolled the Peshawar-Nowshera road, seeking the tribesmen. An attempt by the Afridi to isolate the key city, through wrecking of the railroad tracks, was frustrated by watchful troops.

sonia street, North Side. In Allegheny General Hospital it was said he was suffering internal injuries. He told police four men, whom he recognized as drivers, dragged him from his cab and attacked him, kicking him as he lay on the ground. He was detained for further questioning.

Later Charles Ernst, 24, of 115 Sherman avenue, Millvale, appeared at Mercy Hospital and asked for treatment. He told police he had been attacked by six fellow drivers in Fifth avenue, near Miltenberger street. He suffered severe body bruises.

A third driver, whose name was not learned, used a novel method of escaping violence at Wylie avenue and Elm street when set upon by a gang of fellow workers. He leaped into his cab and locked the doors, remaining there until the noise of the arriving patrol frightened off his attackers.

GIRL LINKED IN BANK BOMBING

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Hope for the complete solution of the "sucide bombing" here of the Stock Yards National Bank was entertained by police with the arrest of Gladys Milam, 21.

Miss Milam said she had known Nathan Martin, 30, the bomber-holdup man for four years, and that he was accompanied to the bank Saturday by two men.

"I'm the only one who knows who they are and I won't ever tell," police quoted her as saying.

Fred L. Pelton, vice-president of the bank, was killed as was Martin, when the latter threw a vial of nitroglycerin to the floor after demanding $10,000 and declaring he was desperate.

Two men already have been questioned in connection with Miss Milam's story but were released.

Wife Collecting Alimony From Tabernacle

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jessie W. Walker was divorced from a mere man, but she is collecting her alimony from a tabernacle's congregation.

Her husband, Carl C. Walker, was leader of a local sect. He defaulted several installments on his separation. Mrs. Walker, by proper process, reaped a truck load of "ecclesiastical" furniture, including a xylophone, shotgun, electric ice box and 193 chairs.

HELEN WILL NOT DEFEND CROWN

filed her entry well in advance of the closing date.

She has been practicing tennis on local courts and said she would continue to devote considerable time to her art work.

ENDS LONG REIGN

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The decision of Helen Wills Moody not to defend her women's national tennis championship this year marks the abdication of a queen who has ruled the courts since 1923.

The only previous break in the series of triumphs which began when she took the national championship from the former Molla Bjurstedt seven years ago, was in 1926, the year she was kept out of competitive play by an operation for appendicitis.

Her career as a tennis champion began when she was 15 years old, with the winning of the girls' national tournament. She repeated the next year, then moved up to fight her way to the top of the seniors.

In 1922 she was runner-up for the national title and has never been headed since in any tournament in which she competed.

TRIUMPHS IN EUROPE

Her European campaigns have been as successful as her play in this country. She won both the British and French singles championships this year. She also won the British doubles championship at Wimbledon this season with Miss Elizabeth Ryan.

Mrs. Moody was a member of the victorious American team in the Wightman Cup matches in 1923. Her only defeat in singles play in the international matches was at the hands of Mrs. L. A. Godfree.

Mrs. Moody was born in Berkeley, Cal., October 6, 1905. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Wills. Her first tennis coaching was at the hands of her father, a creditable player himself and later under Pop Fuller, widely-known instructor.

THEN PLANNED TO PLAY

When she returned from the tournaments in England and France this summer Mrs. Moody said she planned to come East for the national tournament which begins at Forest Hills on August 18.

The tennis star was married last December to Frederick S. Moody, son of a San Francisco capitalist. She has always held tennis of secondary importance in her life and that her art work came first.

Mrs. Moody exhibited 30 water color sketches at the Grand Central Galleries last April. All were purchased by collectors and art patrons.

Held for Shooting At Estranged Wife

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Jacob B. Kissell, 25, of Romney, W. Va., today was held for the county grand jury on the charge of shooting to kill, preferred by Roy Covert, of Nashville, O., father of Kissell's wife.

The shooting was said to have been a result of the elopement of Kissell and Covert's daughter. Covert said his daughter had started divorce proceedings when Kissell came to the Covert home to return her to West Virginia. The shooting followed.

Empty Canoe Tells Fate of Two Boys

SQUANTUM, Mass., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Half filled with water and floating slowly in the breakers, a red canoe, found by a searching party today gave mute evidence of the fate of William Mann, Jr., 12, and Walter Singleton, 20, who went sailing yesterday.

SEEK RESCUE OF 2 FROM SHARPERS

Elderly Couple, Carrying $70,000 Feared 'Captives' Of Notorious Gang in Ohio

International News Service.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12.—Police are searching for an elderly, well-to-do St. Louis couple who are in the hands of two men, believed to be swindlers, near Defiance, O., according to a telephone message received today by Chief Gerk, of St. Louis, from Chief Haas, of Toledo.

The couple, Charles Kern, retired, and Mrs. Kern, are said to have been carrying a bank draft for $70,000. Kern is reported to have told his St. Louis banker, J. H. Powers, vice president of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust Company here, that he intended using the money to complete a real estate deal with a group of wealthy Toledo men.

According to advices from Toledo police headquarters, the Kerns left a train at Defiance with the two men, entered an automobile with them and were driven away.

CARROLL FREED BY GRAND JURY

had elimnated the two objectionable scenes from the show, and said that as a consequence he saw no legitimate action for further complaint.

CARROLL VERY 'HAPPY'

Following the dismissal Carroll said:

"I am very happy that the grand jurors allowed us to appear before them and tell our side of the case. Naturally the dismissal makes us feel that we have secured the vindication we hoped and prayed for."

Incidentally, Carroll stated that the scenes that resulted in his arrest would not be returned to the show.

Both Miss Bacon and Carroll were all smiles when the jury's decision was announced and plainly showed their jubilation.

Meanwhile, Bishop William T. Manning, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of the Free Synagogue, today had joined the crusade of the Catholic Church to pudge the Broadway stage.

CALLED DEGRADATION

In a telegram to Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle, director of the campaign, Bishop Manning said:

"The present degradation of the stage is a calamity and a reflection upon all of us. It is time that such a crusade was undertaken, and it shou.d have the support of all decent elements in the community, and especially of all who are friends of the theater and wish to see it fulfill its true and great function."

With the approval of Cardinal Hayes, Monsignor Lavelle wrote recently in the Catholic Theater Moment's summer bulletin that the New York stage had become the "dishonor of America's finer, noblest and most hospitable of cities."

While no productions were named, the rector's charges were believed to be aimed at Carroll's "Vanities" and "Lysistrata," a classic by Aristophanes.

Boy Scout Succumbs After Poison Attack

Scout John M. Cronin, Jr., 12, member of Troop 169 of the Sto-Rox district, of which his father is scoutmaster, died last night following a brief illness from peritonitis, following ptomaine poisoning. The boy was a member of the team that won second place in the Western Pennsylvania Boy Scout first aid meet here on July 16. He is survived by his parents, a sister and two brothers.

Battle Over Candy King's Body Delays Funeral

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—(INS.)—Funeral services arranged for Aaron Unger, New York candy magnate, today were delayed for more than an hour while members of his family and his nurse, Miss Amelia Philips of Lansdown, in whose apartment he died yesterday, quarreled over possession of the dead man's body.

The services as arranged by Miss Philips were permitted to be carried out finally, however, when she agreed to surrender the body to Unger's family for interment.

A restraining court order, however, was obtained before the squabble was settled.

The strife today was a continuation of a battle which began several weeks ago in the Delaware County Court at Media and later shifted to New York as Unger's relatives claimed he was being held a "captive" by his pretty nurse.

Unger's death of paralysis yesterday ended the battle for possession of him, but another battle—one for possession of his large estate—is expected to begin upon the filing of his will.

Mary Pickford, 4 Others Go Back to Stage

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Mary Pickford is to return to her first love, the stage, it was announced today.

The noted screen actress will appear on Broadway this winter, probably during the holiday season, under the management of Arch Selwyn.

Four other silver screen stars, Colleen Moore, Lya De Putti, Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque will also return to the legitimate theater this season. It is understood none of the players is permanently abandoning the screen.

Miss Pickford's play has not been selected.

Miss De Putti, a German actress, will be seen here next month in a comedy and Miss Moore will star in a new play by Benjamin Glazer. Miss Banky and La Rocque will be jointly starred in a play adapted from the Hungarian by John Emerson and Anita Loos.

Miss Pickford was said to be considering a play by Paul Kestor.

TRUCK CRASHES AUTO, 3 HURT

Three persons were injured today when a five-ton truck of the Pennsylvania Transfer Company, driven by Ernest Frankenfield, 19, of 2140 Merriman way, crashed into an auto driven by Thomas Jones, 20, of 1017 Grand avenue, North Side, at Madison and North Canal street, police reported.

The truck, according to a witness, traveling at a high rate of speed, struck the auto three times before careening into a cement pillar. Both cars were demolished.

Valentine Miller, 23, of 3491 Carson street, a helper on the truck, was thrown through the windshield. Leo Orlander, 23, of 57 Steuben street, also on the truck, suffered lacerations on the hands and head. Both were treated at the Allegheny General Hospital.

Jones escaped serious injury. Frankenfield received lacerations. Both Jones and Frankenfield were held for reckless driving.

Four Suspects Held As Jail Breakers

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Four suspects have been arrested by Baltimore and Ohio Railroad police who are co-operating with Allegany County authorities in the capture of three youths who sawed their way out of the county jail here Sunday morning. Two of the suspects were taken at Martinsburg, W. Va., and two at Brunswick, Md. The trio sought are Melvin Uplinger, 17, and Lewis M. Edwards, 18, both of Cumberland and Thomas Smith, of Cincinnati.

Thomas Ryan Drops His Divorce Suit

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The divorce suit of Thomas F. Ryan, II, filed in district court Saturday, came to an abrupt end Monday when a motion to dismiss the case without prejudice was filed by the plaintiff.

Ryan, scion of a wealthy New York family, in a statement said the "charges brought against Mrs. Ryan were absolutely without foundation or justification." Ryan is a grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure, central over the lakes and the Upper Ohio Valley, caused further slight, but general, falls in temperatures in Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia and portions of New England. Elkins, W. Va., reported a minimum of 38 degrees, with light frost, the lowest temperature on record there for so early in the fall.

Falling pressure on the western side of the high is causing scattered light rains in portions of the Plains states. Rain has also fallen over most of the Central Rocky Mountains and portions of the plateau region.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary. Stages at Franklin is 6.2 feet; Lock No. 7, 9.0; Pittsburgh, 9.1; Dam No. 4, 9.0; Dam No. 5, 7.1; Dam No. 6, 7.5, and Dam No. 12, 3.9. The dams are up.

Aviation Bulletin.

High pressure covers the lake region and the Upper Ohio Valley, attended by clear skies throughout this region, the only exceptions being in the mountains of Pennsylvania, where some cloudiness prevails. Ceilings everywhere unlimited and visibilities all over four miles, except at Chicago one mile, owing to smoke. Winds were light, mostly northerly; temperatures ranged between 55 and 65 degrees for the most part.

U. S. Destroyer of Money Quits After 67 Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—For the last nine years two Pennsylvanians have supervised the production and destruction of all money issued from or returned to the United States Treasury.

Andrew W. Mellon has been on the production end, and probably will continue to sign newly-issued currency for some time to come.

But Edmund E. Schreiner, who was born in Gettysburg in 1847, and has managed the destruction of more than thirteen billion dollars in old bills and bank notes, has turned that task over to another, as he is retiring after 67 years' service. His official title was superintendent of the redemption division in the office of the controller of the currency.

Schreiner entered the employ of the federal government in the commissary of the War Department in 1863. He was an usher at Ford's Theater the night President Lincoln was assassinated, but did not witness the slaying as he had gone home soon after the show began.

Entering the controller's office in 1867, Schreiner advanced until he reached the superintendency of the redemption division. Prior to 1870 old money was burned in a building on the Washington Monument grounds. Today special machines macerate the redeemed currency.

Wealthy Realtor Discovered Shot to Death in Hotel

POLICE FIND SECRETARY WEEPING

International News Service.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Owen Glenn Leach, 52, wealthy real estate and lumber man, was found shot to death today in his apartment in the Belmont Plaza Hotel. In a connecting room police found his beautiful private secretary weeping hysterically.

The secretary, Mrs. May Finnegan, discovered Leach's body when she admitted herself to her employer's room this morning. She found the real estate man dead, lying on the bed with a bullet hole in his temple. A .38 caliber revolver lay on the pillow beside him. He had been dead several hours.

BELIEVED SUICIDE

Police were inclined to the theory that Leach took his own life. The fatal shot had been fired at close range. Friends were not discarding the possibility, however, that Leach was murdered.

Friends said that he had worried considerably during the current business depression. He was separated from his wife and family. The suite adjoining his own was occupied by his secretary and her mother.

BREAK IN DOOR

Mrs. Finnegan, aroused because Leach failed to answer his alarm clock, called the hotel manager who forced an entrance to his rooms and found him dead in bed. He was clad in pajamas and by his side lay the pistol.

Mrs. Finnegan said she and her mother had been for a ride with Leach last night before he retired. She said he had been depressed for some time and had mentioned suicide as a way out.

Warner's Estate Set at $1,171,671

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Samuel L. Warner, moving picture executive, who died in October, 1927, left a gross estate of $1,171,671 and a net estate of $1,005,913, filing of transfer tax appraisal revealed today. Mrs. Lina Basquette Warner, the widow, receives the income from a $100,000 trust fund, as does also a daughter, Lita, who receives the principal when she is 21. The residue of the estate goes to Harry, Albert and Jack Warner, brothers.

RUMOR CAROL, HELEN REUNION

VIENNA, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Reconciliation of King Carol of Rumania and his wife, Queen Helen, was said in reports from the Rumanian summer palace at Sinaia today to be imminent.

The reports represented a reversal from dispatches of a few days ago which said a reconciliation was hopeless and that Carol would be crowned, possibly in September, without Helen's participation.

The more recent information was that Queen Helen, mother of the former King Michael, had now been persuaded of the correctness of the king's view that their divorce, which was granted in his absence from Rumania, never was legal.

Driver Faces Charge After Car Hits Girl

BEAVER, Pa., Aug. 12.—Charged with running down and injuring Lois Means, 19, Vanport, with an automobile, Sergy Foucheraud, Rochester, is held in the county jail on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated.

Train Loses Valet Car, Passengers Their Clothes

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Two westerners who entrusted their clothes to a train valet en route to New York left Grand Central Station in strange garments.

One wore a suit borrowed from a conductor and the other was wrapped in blankets. The car in which the valet worked had been switched off the train.

Thornton Cooke, president of the Columbia National Bank, of Kansas City, Mo., wore the blankets, and was taken to a hotel in a wheel chair. M. S. Kimball, a Chicago advertising man had better luck, he managed to borrow a suit. But both stayed in their hotel rooms until the railroad came to their rescue.

Frick Coke Plant Head Resigns Post

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 12.—Ralph E. Kirk, superintendent of the Colonial No. 3 plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, has resigned to become division superintendent for the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company at Pottsville. William M. Marwin will replace him at Colonial.

CHILD CLINGING TO TIES SAVED

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—A fearful dream common to many persons was a tragic reality today to 10-year-old Arthur Brelle, alive because he remained calm in danger.

Arthur, with his brother, Robert, 13, were caught on a high trestle of the Erie Railroad over the Hackensack River by two trains. As the trains thundered down the tracks from opposite directions, Robert, terror-stricken, leaped to his death, while Arthur calmly lowered himself between the ties of the trestle and hung on with his small hands until he was rescued after the trains had passed.

BLAST KILLS 1, BURIES OTHERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—One person was killed, two were injured and 12 buried in debris for more than an hour late yesterday after a chemist's experiment exploded and wrecked a downtown building.

The body of Erke Malino, 19, was dug out of the wreckage hours after the blast. Mrs. Lillian Leff, 40, and Dominick Signorelli, 20, were taken to a hospital.

The explosion, which police said resulted from an attempt by Marcus Cohen, the chemist, to find a new formula for vanilla products, blew off the roof of a five-story building and deposited it on the roof of a two-story structure. The floors of the smaller building collapsed and swept occupants on two floors into the basement.

Traffic Directed Without Whistle

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A traffic officer without a whistle? That's the experiment being tried by Police Commissioner Mulrooney. He reasons that if the policeman has to direct traffic solely by motion, he must face the automobiles and thus be more likely to see and shoo to safety any unwary pedestrians.

Tree Sitter Breaks Skull in Tumble

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Stephen Streleck, 16-year-old tree sitter, sustained a badly fractured skull last night when a limb on which he had been perched for nearly 400 hours gave way, plunging him 25 feet to the ground. He was taken to the hospital in a critical condition.

EUGENIA LAWS

One of the two young sisters who with the pilot were killed in the plane. Struck by lightning, the ship lost its wings 1,000 feet above Chicago and shot down.

AIR CRASH LAID TO NEGLECT

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A coroner's jury declared that the fatal airplane plunge of two young women and a youthful flier through the top of a huge illuminating gas tank during a rain squall Saturday, was due to "gross negligence" on the part of pilot and owner.

The plane, piloted by Orville Buchy, 21, and carrying Misses Mary and Eugenie Laws, collapsed during the storm, dove through the top of the metal container, and plowed into the mud bottom of the water well that supported the gas tank. A diver recovered the bodies.

The jury decided the pilot flew too close to a severe storm and that the owner of the ship, Ralph Caffarella, deserved censure for permitting his equipment to be taken into the air "when expert testimony showed meteorological conditions were dangerous."

AIM TO STAY UP 3 MORE WEEKS

Chicago Title Holders See Crown Slipping, But Pull for O'Brine, Jackson

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The monoplane Greater St. Louis, piloted by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine, early today soared nearer a new record for endurance refueling flying.

As Jackson and O'Brine approached the present record of nearly 554 hours, held by the Chicago Hunter brothers, their plane continued to function well—so well, in fact, that John Hunter, a visitor at Lambert-St. Louis Field, said:

"It looks as though they have got it in the bag."

At 9:11 a. m. today, Pittsburgh time, Jackson and O'Brine had been circling over the field for 528 hours and had slightly less than 26 hours to go to equal the Hunters' record. Under endurance flying regulations they must remain up an additional hour to break the record.

PLAN TO KEEP GOING

Although within sight of the record, which they formerly held, Jackson and O'Brine today had no intention of an early landing. They planned to remain in the air at least eight days beyond the present record. Jackson, speaking over the plane's radio transmitter, even talked of staying up three weeks more.

John Hunter, who acted as spokesman for the brothers after their arrival here yesterday, assured their St. Louis rivals they would not attempt to break the record of the Greater St. Louis this year if a new mark is achieved.

"We would like to see the boys make it," he said.

HUNTER PILOT CHAGRINED

There was a suggestion of chagrin, however, in the well wishes of Harry Perkins, of St. Louis, Hunters' manager.

The success of Jackson and O'Brine has cost the Hunters about $100,000 in contracts which might have been forthcoming if there were not a tendency to wait and see if a new record was established, Perkins said.

Plans were under way today for a fireworks celebration tomorrow night if Jackson and O'Brine break the record.

The fliers received the first assurance of a financial return from their flight yesterday when an oil company announced it would give them $100 for each hour they remain aloft over the old record. The offer will continue for 70 hours, or until the fund reaches $7,000.

DEATH HOLDS UP MERGER CASE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Another 24-hour delay in the trial of the suit to enjoin the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation resulted today from the death last Friday of Myron C. Wick, Jr., co-plaintiff in the case.

After an hour's conference this morning, court adjourned until tomorrow to allow time for probating Wick's will and appointing executors whose names will be substituted for Wick's in the court records.

Assurances were given that the will would be probated this morning, and that appointment of executors would be expedited so that the trial can proceed tomorrow.

Wick died of pneumonia Friday, after court had adjourned for the week-end. Court remained in adjournment yesterday while funeral services were held.

Franklin Records Coldest August 12

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 12.—Today went down on record as the coldest August 12 ever experienced in this district. Frost was reported at Polk, Cooperstown, Utica, and several other points. Franklin's official temperature was 37. Overcoats were general.

COMMISSIONERS INSPECTING AIRPORT

JOSEPH G. ARMSTRONG NORMAN F. BROWN E. V. BABCOCK

Public Works Director Brown explaining to two of the three County Commissioners the progress made on construction of the county airport, inspected to investigate charges made by Commissioner C. C. McGovern. Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Babcock expressed their pleasure.

Commissioners 'Pleased' Over Airport Flight

Criticism of the new County Airport yesterday spurred a handful of county officials into personal aerial inspection of the field.

After watching a number of planes land and take off from the graded property, County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and E. V. Babcock, with the remainder of the party, took a short flight from the port in a tri-motored Ford plane, furnished by the Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., expressed themselves "pleased."

Told that completion of the job would cost the county and city $1,000,000, Babcock seemed impressed by its size and present development. He said:

"Only $1,000,000? What's a million?"

Although the field is graded, there are no hard run ways—merely a mud surface.

With the commissioners were Director of the County Department of Public Works Norman F. Brown, Director of the County Bureau of Aviation Brooks Ross, County Solicitor J. Heber and James Semple, secretary of the County Planning Commission.

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, leader in the criticism of the airport, was not of the party.

Among the pilots who tested the landing field were Dick Laughlin, Pittsburgh-Greensburg Airport pilot; Bud Baker and Mrs. Clifford Ball in the Ball plane; Harry Taylor in a Pittsburgh Airways biplane, and Ted Taney, piloting the big tri-motored Ford.

Presence of a huge gravel pile, belonging to the Vang Construction Company, brought no comment from the party.

CROP OUTLOOK ENDS FEAR OF FOOD LACK

Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The spectre of general food shortage was banished by the Department of Agriculture in a comprehensive official survey of the drought issued as part of the Department of Agriculture's August crop report.

The shortage is chiefly in feed crops, the department said, with "about the usual supply of food crops" in prospect.

It found most of the crops that will find their way to the nation's dinner tables promising to be only slightly smaller than in previous years. Some will be larger than in the past.

Supplies of feed for animals, on the other hand, probably will be the smallest since 1911 according to the report. More serious than this, in the department's view, is "the critical condition prevailing in certain states," and the fact that the drought as yet has been broken only in small areas.

DROP 7 PER CENT

Crop prospects generally declined nearly 7 per cent during July, the report said, due to a drought that in many states is the worst ever recorded and to a record-breaking heat wave.

On the basis of crop conditions on August 1, the crop reporting board estimated that yields per acre will be 5.5 per cent below those of last year and smaller than those in any of the last 20 years, except 1921. But this year's condition differs from 1921 in that the shortage is chiefly in feed crops, the board added.

"The corn crop is expected to be the smallest since 1901," its summary said.

"The feed shortage is accentuated by pasture far poorer than in any previous summer month for 50 years or more, with many farmers already compelled to feed hay and new corn.

STATE OUTPUT OFF

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Corn, seared and wilted by drought, is at its lowest ebb in 20 years in Pennsylvania.

The first official picture of the damage done farm crops in the state by the recent weeks of rainless, hot weather, revealing the large extent of the injury to corn, was furnished in the monthly report of the State Department of Agriculture based on first hand surveys by agents over the state.

The report showed conditions as of August 1 and the 11 more dry days since then have made crops even worse than they were shown in the report.

One single bright spot showed in the statement in winter wheat exceeding all expectations, gives promise of being the biggest crop in the history of crop prospect recording, dating back as far as 1866.

In an excellent condition, the wheat crop is estimated to reach 28,110,000 bushels, exceeding by 5,000,000 bushels the harvest of 1929 and the average for the last five years.

Hardest hit of all the condition of corn was only 67 per cent of normal on August 1, and the forecast production was 44,948,000 bushels as against 46,472,000 last year and 55,440,000 for the last five years. The average yield was reported at 34 bushels compared with 35.5 last year and the five-year average of 41.6 bushels.

POTATO YIELD LOW

In less severe degrees, potatoes, tobacco and tame hay shared damage with corn. The indicated harvest of potatoes is 24,308,000 bushels against 25,740,000 last year and 26,036,000 for the last five years. The yield of tobacco was placed at 47,880,000, which is slightly above last year, but considerably below the five-year average of 50,856,000. The condition is the lowest since 1913. Hay is estimated at 3,755,000 tons, a half million drop from last year and even more from the average.

The report said "the condition of pasture is the lowest on record, many fields appearing lifeless."

Fruit already damaged by cold weather and hail in the early stages of formation was further harmed by the drought. The yield of apples is estimated at 8,145,000 bushels below normal, but considerably above last year's crop. Peaches with an estimated harvest of 780,000 bushels is about half the size of the normal crop.

U. S. TO COMBAT PROFITEERING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(Universal)—Federal agencies will fight profiteering in animal feedstuffs in the wake of the drought, Vice Chairman Stone of the aFrm Board, has announced.

The price of bran has jumped from $25 to $31.50 a ton in certain eastern markets in the last five days, Stone said. Bran is an important cattle food.

Any evidence that pools are attempting to corner feed stuffs and run up prices will be investigated promptly and the offenders punished, Stone indicated. He made it plain the board has no intention of trying to hold prices down artificially, or of fixing the prices to be charged.

Tidal Wave Sweeps Island of Hawaii

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—A minor tidal wave struck the south and west coast of the island of Hawaii Friday night, according to belated advices received here today.

DROUGHT BALKS HOOVER TRIP

ber of 30's and most were 50's and 60's. The highest was 85 degrees at Miami, and the lowest 34 at Burrville, Conn.

Frost was reported in New England and Pennsylvania, and in many places new low records for the day were established. The drop was precipitate i most places from the extreme heat of the past several weeks, in some instances amounting to a degree an hour for the past two days.

Each day without rain in the states affected increases the gravity of the problem the governors of 12 states, the President and government officials will consider at the conference Thursday. A meeting of farm organization officials and Farm Board members had been called for the next day.

Showers were indicated for tonight or tomorrow in parts of Indiana, Illinois, Upper Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Iowa and Northeastern Kansas.

R. H. Weightman, forecaster, said however, the rain would not be heavy, but in some places might be moderate.

Showers also were predicted for parts of the Lower Ohio Valley tonight or tomorrow, including portions of Western Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

CUT RATES IN HALF

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the aAssociation of Railway Executives, said after a call at the White House that where reductions in freight rates are made by the railroads on hay, feed, water and livestock, the cut would be a uniform one of 50 per cent.

The Interstate Commerce Commission last week authorized the railroads to cut rates immediately.

Thom asked the President to have the Agriculture Department set up machinery to help the railroads get livestock out and feed and water into the drought areas.

He suggested county agents be designed to work with railway representatives.

Boston Sues to Get Franklin's Bequest

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Benjamin Franklin is the cause of an action before the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

A fund provided in his will for the benefit of "the inhabitants of the town of Boston" now amounts to $458,864.25, and a dispute exists between the city and the Franklin Foundation over its administration.

Son, 2 Daughters Share $9,000 Estate

Albert A. Hutchinson, of Ardmore, left $9,000 by his will filed for probate today. His son, Charles H. Hutchinson, is given $3,000 in trust for his children. Another son, Henry S., receives $3,000 outright. The remainder of the estate is divided equally among the two sons and a daughter, Eleanor H. Kuhn. Mrs. Kuhn is named executor.

Weather Seer, 80, Sees Drought's End Aug. 17

MONT CLARE, Pa., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—George Brown, Montgomery County's 80-year-old weather prophet, broke his long silence today with a promise of relief to drought-parched Pennsylvanians. The graybeard says:

"The present drought will be broken by a three-day rain by the morning of August 17."

Supplementing his drought prediction, Brown forecast a "late fall" and a "green Christmas."

DROUGHT RELIEF URGED IN W. VA.

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—"Thousands of families are now in want and will need help," was the message sent to Gov. W. G. Conley today by the meeting of the West Virginia Farm Bureau and conference of farm agents, which asked the executive to come here for the closing session to gain first hand information concerning the seriousness of the drought effects in certain West Virginia counties.

The Governor has accepted an invitation to attend a drought conference called by President Hoover Thursday of this week.

The West Virginia farm leaders met to consider relief measures against the severest drought in the history of the state. Attention was devoted to burned up fields, and unfed and unwatered cattle. It was indicated 10,000 or more farm families were in need of food, although no cases of actual privation were reported. Suffering was forseen by the farm directors, however, unless immediate relief steps were taken.

Liner Passenger List Breaks Record

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—With the largest incoming passenger list of the year, the North German Lloyd liner Europa was to arrive in New York tonight. She is carrying 1,888 passengers.

The French liner Paris will also arrive this evening.

FORBES HOPES FOR UPTURN THIS YEAR

Writer Expects Stocks and Bonds Will Lead Way to U. S. Economic Recovery

Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—In the terms of one who knows his subject as a master observer and analyst, B. C. Forbes told Los Angeles financial leaders that a decided upward trend to business is on the way, and why.

A capacity crowd of 250 that filled the music room of the Biltmore Hotel applauded the after-luncheon address yesterday of the noted writer for the Hearst newspapers. In the representative gathering were bankers, brokers, insurance, investment and building and loan company executives.

NO MARKET AUTHORITIES

Forbes said:

"Sometimes I am misrepresented as being a great authority on the stock market. I don't know anybody who is an authority on the stock market.

"Briefly, I may state the situation as this: a year ago I couldn't follow the extremists who predicted heights to which Wall Street was going, and today I can't follow the pessimism.

"Never was I so glad to get away from New York. Not even in the 1907 panic was financial sentiment so blue and gloomy.

HOPES FOR TURN SOON

"The United States has the characteristic of flying to extremes. What could keep the market from continuing to go up when it was going up? And now, what is going to keep the market from going down and down? This has been the attitude.

"The stock market, sold to a standstill, has definitely gone beyond any reason. The recovery may not set in quickly, but the first decisive upturn will come from stocks and bonds, particularly stocks. People want to know about stock recovery. This is encouraging. I hope for the turning point this year."

DROUGHT BREAK SEEN SOON

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Hope that the damaging drought of the past few weeks in the Middle West would soon be broken was seen today in the continuation of unseasonably cool weather, which definitely ended the heat wave.

Weather experts pointed out that a return of normal summer warmth, inevitable at this season of the year, probably would be accompanied by sufficient rainfall to relieve the long dry spell.

Forest fires, continuing today in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, added to the drought damage. Fire wardens, leading hundreds of men in an up-hill battle against these blazes, said the fires would burn until rain fell on the parched woodlands.

Lower temperatures and increasing humidity appeared today to have checked crop destruction in the corn belt.

Railroad Cuts Rates On Stock in Dry Area

ST. PAUL, Aug. 11.—(AP.)—The Northern Pacific Railway today announced plans for a reduction of freight rates on Montana cattle and sheep as an aid to shippers in the drought-stricken sections of the state. The announcement followed receipt of blanket authorization from the Interstate Commerce Commission. Great Northern officials said they will take similar action if conditions warrant.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Deeply grieved by a second tragedy within a few weeks, Mr. and Mrs. George Arents, of New York, planned today to bury young Jules de Konkoly-Thege alongside his wife, the former Dorothy Arents.

Grieved and inconsolable since his charming wife was found dead here from poisoning, July 7, during their honeymoon, Konkoly-Thege shot himself through the heart while on a trip with his parents-in-law.

Important Warning!

An Open Letter To The Public:

DAMAGE DONE BY DROUGHT IN LOCAL AREAS

Slight Effect Likely On Agriculture As a Whole.

FOOD SUPPLY PLENTIFUL

Believe Needs of Worst Affected Districts Will Be Soon Taken Care Of.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright, 1930, by Consolidated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Although President Hoover felt compelled to call 12 governors into conference to organize relief measures in the agricultural areas affected by lack of water and rain, there are indications that the situation has been somewhat over emphasized.

From a national point of view the ill effects will be spotty with relatively little influence on agriculture as a whole or the food supply because of the great abundance of the various crops. Distress is likely to be confined, Government reports reveal, to local areas where cattle may have to be sacrificed or where farmers have had all their grass and hay crops ruined.

Relief measures now being planned are twofold; transportation is the most vital because it will be necessary to transport expeditiously wheat and other grain for feed purposes and some financial aid will have to be rendered to those engaged in the cattle industry in certain sections of the country, including individual farmers whose feed crops have been destroyed.

Plenty of Money Available.

The railroads have already applied for permission to put into effect emergency low freight rates and much of the work of local organizations will be to handle the problem of transportation of feed.

The Federal farm board has plenty of money which it can advance to local citizens' organizations, and still conform to the law which prevents loans to individuals.

With the interchangeability of crops, many Government officials here feel that within a short time most of the feed necessities will have been satisfied. This will take care of the cattle to a large extent, though losses here and there of live stock will still be considerable.

Comparatively Few Affected.

The distress to the individual farmer in certain areas no doubt is already acute and will grow more intense in the drought areas, but reckoned on a national basis the total amount of farmers involved is a small percentage and also the total amount of failures is not yet sufficient to interfere with domestic food supplies. Most of the wheat has already been harvested and it is estimated that in the Northern agricultural states where wheat has not yet been gathered the shortage due to drought conditions may not exceed 17,000,000 or 18,000,000 bushels, which, of course, is a negligible amount when the total overproduction is considered.

From the Government point of view, however, interest is naturally just as deep, no matter how small is the relative number of individuals affected. Relief plans are under way with the full authority and power of the Federal as well as state governments. But anything like a major disaster of national proportions is not by any means involved in the damage done thus far.

Some Crops Aided.

In fact, some crops are likely to be aided in the prices they obtain, which may mean that some sections of the country will benefit by the drought in other sections.

There is, on the other hand, no tendency in Washington to minimize the effects of the drought upon those who are directly concerned in certain states, but a fear is expressed that because of the unusual character of the relief measures an exaggerated impression of the whole drought situation may be produced on the minds of those who are unfamiliar with the compensations as well as the interchangeability of agricultural crops.

Now is NOT the time to buy canned fruits and canned vegetables for the winter—the fall season always has been and always will be the proper time to buy. If you buy now you will not get fresh, new pack foods—you will get last year's pack which should not be carried over through this winter and into next year.

Assertions such as "crops ruined throughout the country" are not true.

The great fruit and berry-producing states west of the Rocky Mountains—California, Washington, Oregon, etc.—from which practically all our canned fruits and berries come—have not been affected and are now busy canning their crops for the fall season.

Vegetables in many vegetable producing states also have not been affected and are now being canned for the fall season.

Do not be stampeded into buying now for the winter and hoarding away last year's pack of canned goods by flamboyant, sensational, misleading food advertisements. Such "calamity howlers" usually have some old stock they wish to get rid of.

Food prices are low and will probably remain low unless driven upward by a big buying rush on the part of a falsely and unduly alarmed public.

David Lawrence, internationally known newspaper editor and writer, has his fingers on the pulse of every public situation and is one of the best informed, soundest writers in this country. In the article reproduced at the left, published yesterday in a Pittsburgh paper and in various other newspapers throughout the country, Mr. Lawrence summarizes conditions exactly.

We heartily endorse everything he says for we know his statements to be facts.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Robin Dale has a visitor, a Miss Geraldine Knight. She tells him of the mysterious murder of Jack Sharon, a wealthy promoter. The crime took place at a mountain lodge. Dale drives there with Miss Knight. Upon arrival they are astounded when a shrieking woman runs toward their car in the moonlight.

CHAPTER II.

Geraldine Knight grasped Robin Dale's arm in terror. He pushed hard on the brakes, bringing the car to a stop with a screeching of fiber and metal which added to the horror of the scene. The car, fortunately, came to a stop in time or the woman might have been under the wheels.

Robin Dale knew the expression which was on her face—he had seen it before. It was the contortion of a person who was facing death. She came to the side of the car, the side on which Dale sat, and clutched at the door.

"It's Mrs. Nash," he heard Miss Knight whisper to him.

Dale alighted and helped Geraldine from the car. She took charge of Mrs. Nash who was on the verge of a breakdown.

"What was it, Mrs. Nash?" he heard her ask.

"It's horrible! . . . I'm going to die! . . . I'm going to be murdered!" Then she burst into hysterical sobbing, and it was all Geraldine could do to make her continue toward the lodge.

As they neared it a number of forms issued from the gloom of the porch. Once the door opened Dale saw, in the yellow swath of light, four or five forms. Then another came running around the side of the house. This latter figure arrived first.

"Wot's goin' on here? Who did that yellin'?" Dale felt the tone of authority in the voice. So obvious that it could not have been anyone but a small-town policeman on his first important case.

No one appeared eager to enlighten the officer. They were assisting Mrs. Nash toward the house. Her husband's arm was about her as they mounted the steps to the porch. Jim Milburn had come forward almost immediately to greet Dale and Miss Knight.

"I knew you'd come, Robin . . . Jerry probably explained and you realize what a mess we might get into—especially with all the detectives in the county on the trail by morning."

"Promises to be plenty excitin', Jim . . . and quite a problem, from what Miss Knight has told me."

They went inside. The main room of the lodge was massive. Indian rugs were spread over the floor; at one end was a huge fireplace. The stairs led directly from this room to the upper floor. The lodge, Dale had noticed as they drove up, was two-storied, built of unfinished timber. Inside, the rooms were all finished. The furniture was massive, mostly all in red and green leather.

There was a little alcove just inside the entrance door. It contained racks for clothes on one side and on the other an immense gun-rack into which were fitted not less than a dozen shotguns. One groove of this rack was empty. Dale made a note of it. Most of the guests had already mounted the stairs. The subdued hum of conversation drifted down from the floor above.

"I heard you address the lady as Mrs. Nash . . . I imagine it will be impossible to chat with her tonight. Tell me, who else is at the lodge."

"There were 10 people in the lodge for the week-end. Sharon and his wife, Lloyd Warren, who was Sharon's attorney and friend; Kenneth Nash and his wife, Fay Turner. . . ."

"The musical comedy prima donna?"

"Yes; she came with the Nashes. Then there was Alan, who's known to everyone here as Arthur King, and Geraldine and I. That's nine, isn't it? Oh, yes, there's Mrs. Walsh, the housekeeper, who lives in Havenhurst, that's the village, and comes here whenever Sharon has a party."

"What's your idea of the affair, Jim?"

"I don't know, Robin—lots of queer things going on, but nothing to put a finger on . . . the relations between the guests is what I mean. Warren and Mrs. Sharon are almost openly in love . . . Fay Turner is always on hand at every affair Nash attends . . . there were Sharon's actions toward Jerry. I didn't like the thing from the beginning."

"There seems to be all sorts of lights bobbing about on the lake, Jim—what are they?"

"Oh, some of the county detectives dragging the lake for the murder weapon. Been at it all afternoon."

"When they find the shotgun," Dale said, with a smile, "they'll merely find that it fits into the empty groove in that gun-rack." He nodded toward the little alcove.

"There's something been puzzling me!" Dale felt the vibrant note in Milburn's voice. "Jerry probably explained that I was out gunning for Sharon myself last night. I took one of those shotguns and loaded it, both barrels, with shells Alan had bought in the afternoon. There was one gun missing then. In the excitement I came back without mine, left it standing in the cabin, I think. Yet, this morning I found it back in the rack, and only the one missing."

"Alan was going hunting . . . did he take the gun?"

"No," Geraldine explained. "When he found the note that Sharon wrote me he forgot his hunting expedition entirely."

"Let's turn in now, eh? And Jim, mind getting abroad at daylight with me? Want to look over the place and there may be some things to explain."

"Sure! You'll share my room anyway."

As they went up the stairs Robin Dale could not help remembering the thought Geraldine had expressed—there was a murderous fiend loose in that house!

Shortly after dawn the next morning Robin Dale and James Milburn came out on the rear porch of the lodge. The house was set on a little knoll a hundred yards from the edge of the lake.

The lake was about a half mile wide at this point, its western extremity. It spread eastward for nearly five miles. At the far end the lake widened to a distance of almost three miles. Directly across the half mile of water from the house was the cabin. Slightly east of it was the beach upon which Jack Sharon had been found.

Dale and Milburn walked around the western shore of the lake, following, as nearly as possible, the course pursued by Milburn on the fatal night when he went in search of Sharon. A vague footpath led entirely around the lake.

The cabin, Dale found, was a small structure of two rooms, used evidently as dressing rooms for the men and women. Each room was furnished with a shower. There were lounges and easy chairs in both, and even small writing desks. On one of these were pen and ink. Dale only remained a moment.

Outside, below the cabin, was a small dock to which a canoe was fastened. Dale observed this and then moved on toward the sandy beach. It was 100 yards east of the cabin, a stretch of sloping ground extending for more than a mile along the southern shore of the lake.

beginning near the water's edge and extending 50 yards along the beach, then stopping abruptly. That was where Jack Sharon had been found, face down, shattered with buckshot. As Geraldine had explained there were no footprints coming from the opposite direction and none coming off the beach (with the exception of one track to the body and back which Milburn explained were those of the policeman who had carried Sharon's body off the beach). Summer showers had smoothed the sand so that Jack Sharon's tracks were the first and only footprints on the sand.

The police had already measured the size of the prints and compared them with the shoes Jack Sharon wore when he was killed. There was not the slightest question that the two matched exactly!

The footprints were there! They were still plainly visible.

QUIZ ATTIC MAN ON FATAL SHOT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (INS.)—When Otto Sanhuber, so-called attic man, resumes the witness stand today it is expected that he will be asked who fired the shot that ended the life of Fred Oesterreich, former wealthy Milwaukee manufacturer, here eight years ago.

Called as a witness yesterday in the trial of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, who is charged with being an accomplice to the murder of her husband, Sanhuber recounted how he met her in 1911 and how they formulated a plot of being near each other without the knowledge of Oesterreich.

When Sanhuber was recently tried, he was convicted on a manslaughter charge. The state contended he fired the shot which killed the manufacturer. He was freed, however, because of the statute of limitations.

Sanhuber has since married. He was accompanied into court by his wife.

KILLS PARTNER, ENDS LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (AP)—J. W. Leavitt, pioneer founder of a San Francisco automobile company, shot and killed Albert D. Plughoff, partner and friend for 28 years, and then committed suicide.

Police were notified after Plughoff's body was found in his office and arrived at Leavitt's home just as he shot himself to death.

Close friends could give no reason for the act other than loss of a large amount of money because of poor automobile sales.

A note signed by Leavitt was found beside Plughoff's body. It said:

"Sorry to do this but his family is well provided for."

The automobile company went out of business three weeks ago.

Third Fire Damages Old Miner's Theater

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (INS.)—The Miner's Bowery Theater, famous old variety and burlesque house, was damaged by fire Monday. It was the third fire there in 18 months.

American Lawyer Dies in England

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—Word was received here of the death in London, Eng., of John Milburn, 78, widely known attorney, resident of New York City and former resident of Buffalo. It was in the residence here of Milburn that President William McKinley died September 14, 1901, after he had been shot at the Pan-American exposition.

STORE BALCONY FALLS, 50 HURT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP)—The second-story balcony of a furniture store here, overloaded by a crowd of bargain hunters, collapsed and dropped 100 or more women and children to the first floor, 10 feet below. Between 50 and 60 of the shoppers were injured slightly.

Approximately 40 were admitted to hospitals. Most of them were discharged after treatment of bruises, sprains and cuts.

PREDICTS NEW WORLD WAR

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 12 (INS.)—Prediction of another world war between 1935 and 1940 was made by Prof. C. Delisle Burns at the session of the Institute of Politics.

"The world is now in almost exactly the same position as it was in 1909, five years before the outbreak of the World War," Burns said. "Unless active steps are now taken to develop international co-operation and make people realize the benefits of peace, the great armaments on the part of all nations and the present militaristic attitude of mind will make a war shortly after 1935 absolutely certain."

Young Woman Hurt In Auto Crash Dies

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 12—Miss Geneva Hoey, 22, New Brighton, injured in an automobile accident along the Darlington road in which Mrs. Austin Thomas, 64, New Brighton, was instantly killed, died at the hospital here yesterday.

Pitt Glass Expert Given Post in China

Dr. Chi Fang Lai, research fellow at the University of Pittsburgh and first man to make sodium-beryllium glass, has been appointed director of the cut glass and enamel industry of the Central Industrial Laboratory of China by the Nanking government. Dr. Lai, who has been in the United States for six years, received his doctor's degree from the University of Pittsburgh in 1928.

FIRE DAMAGES MARCONI YACHT

CIVITA VECCHIA, Italy, Aug. 12 (AP)—Fire broke out on Guglielmo Marconi's yacht Elettra but was put out within half an hour.

First reports said that the stern was practically destroyed, but later indicated that the damage was not so serious. The blaze was understood to have started around a gasoline motor.

INSPECTION DUE FOR 107TH AT TOBYHANNA

Troops Slated for Return March After Seven-Mile Trip Ending in Bivouac

CAMP HALL, Tobyhanna, Pa., Aug. 12—After a bivouac which followed a seven-mile road march under full pack, the 107th Field Artillery, of Pittsburgh, was to return to camp today for the "showdown" inspection.

Monday was an excellent day for the strenuous march to Buena Vista. When the batteries left the streets the thermometer registered 90.

Midway between the base camp and the bivouac the two battalions of firing batteries called a halt and unlimbered their guns and caissons at established firing points.

The French 75's went into action at 9 o'clock, continuing until the simulated enemy was successfully subdued at noon. The march was taken up anew after mess ending at 4 o'clock on the site of the bivouac. Pup tents were pitched on the crest of a hill commanding a view of three counties of rolling farm lands.

CAVALRY FIELD DRILL NEAR

MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 12 (AP)—The 103rd Cavalry of the Pennsylvania National Guard spent Monday working out platoon contest problems as a preparation for three days of field maneuvers.

The regiment was to take the field today to defend the encampment against an imaginary enemy. The first day's maneuvers call for an advance into the enemy territory with a night bivouac at Hammer Creek Pass.

Troop B, of Philadelphia, under the command of Lieut. Thomas Boylan was adjudged the winner of yesterday's problems with a score of 76.6 points. Troop E, Sunbury, was second with 72.8 points and Troop I, Bellefonte, third with 69 points. The contest involved a 15-mile ride during which instructions were received at five stations.

The 109th Infantry started the last week of its training by going to the combat ranges to skirmish with an enemy in the form of moving targets. The 110th Infantry spent the day on the rifle ranges.

Cuba Sending Ship To Veterans' Meet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Cuba will be represented at the annual national encampment of Spanish American war veterans, which opens in Philadelphia August 17, by a cruiser and by a special representative of the Cuban president.

The cruiser Cuba is being sent by the Cuban government, the embassy here was informed, to participate in the four-day reunion of the veterans.

Loses Homestead If She Marries

If Elizabeth Heuber marries she loses her exclusive right to the homestead of her father, Michael Heuber, 260 Atwood street, by terms of his will, disposing of a $25,000 estate, filed for probate today. In event she marries, the property is to be divided equally among her and four children, Charles M., Edgar F., Theodore and Paul. Elizabeth and Paul are named executors.

"Filling Stations" For Madrid Burros

MADRID, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Filling stations for burros have been established here by the Society for the Protection of Plants and Animals. One hot summer day one of the stations supplied 7,000 buckets of water.

NAVY TO REDUCE STOCK COSTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—In response to presidential requests for economy, the Navy Department announced an expected saving of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 annually from a revision of its stock replenishment system.

Assistant Secretary Jahncke explained the new system would reduce supplies on hand by cutting the period of replenishing them from six to three months. This he said would reduce the number of inventories taken and release funds which otherwise would be tied up.

The Assistant Secretary said during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, the Navy Department entered into contracts for supplies involving $75,000,000.

He added that the Navy Department has been having all of the material remaining from the World War examined with a view to retaining only such as can be profitably used.

Ill With Goiter, Woman Kills Self

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Crazed with pain from an inward goitre, Mrs. Zella Lowther, 32, wife of Henderson Lowther, Davisson Run farmer, seized a pistol and shot herself dead this afternoon. Besides the husband, four small children survive.

DU PONT COKE PLANT FIRED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 12.—The coke plant of the duPont Ammonia Corporation at Belle is now in operation. The initial output, which will be increased, is 600 tons daily, all of which is being used in the duPont plant there.

Although the ammonia corporation is now deriving only tar and gas from the coke, the manufacture of other by-products is planned after January 1. The coke ovens were constructed at a cost of $1,500,000.

Stahlstown Plans Its Flax Scutching

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—A flax scutching and road opening is being planned by residents of Stahlstown for Saturday, September 13.

Despite the drought, the flax crop in that section has ripened and will be ready. At the same time a celebration in honor of the opening of the new highway extending through Stahlstown will be held.

Ohio Woman Hacks Husband to Death

WELLSTON, O., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Mrs. Josie Napper, 70, hacked her husband, Jasper Napper, 71, to death with an ax today as he lay asleep, because she couldn't stand to see her aged husband running around with other women and girls, according to Sheriff Ray Cox, of Vinton County. The couple had been married 40 years and lived at Hawk Station, near here.

Exquisite Afternoon Frock
Pattern 2004
Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Necklines are extremely important in the newest models and particularly lovely are the collars that have developed from the popular cape mode. The model sketched today boasts a most becoming deep cape in back that narrows in front and gathers softly into flattering lines. The frock itself is quite simple, with low-placed skirt flare and plain sleeve that achieve chic through an added upward flare.

Pattern 2004 may be fashioned of flat or canton crepe, dull satin, chiffon velvet or georgette. If you wish to omit sleeves, chiffon voile or dimity may be used for a delicious warm weather frock. Tiny buttons trim the front bodice and the cuffs.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins, carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our BOOK of PATTERNS for adults and children, including transfer patterns, is FIFTEEN CENTS. Book with pattern, 25c. Address all mail and orders to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5.—Address your request to

Rail Officials to Go to Conneaut

Officials of the Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Erie offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad will attend the annual outing of the Oil City-Franklin Traffic Club, to be held Thursday at Conneaut Lake. Included in the list invited are E. B. Hankey, of this city; George Berg and P. K. Raynor, Erie; J. F. Normile, of Oil City, and R. A. Fergus, of Franklin.

Police Seize Still In Raid on Stable

A two hundred gallon still in operation was seized by police in a raid upon a stable in the rear of 733 Shawnee street this morning. Although Daniel Muller, 45, 733 Shawnee street, denied knowledge of the still, he was arrested on a charge of violating the Snyder act. According to Capt. John Schnurr, who lead the raiders, Muller told him he had rented the stable to a man by the name of Brown.

BOY, 9, NAMED AS SLAYER

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 11—(AP)—A 9-year-old boy was named in a murder warrant issued here in the death of Russell Ortwig, 6, who was drowned in the Ohio River on August 6.

The warrant was issued upon complaint of Howard E. Ortwig, father of the dead boy, who claimed the lad lashed in the warrant had pushed the son into the river. At the time of Russell's death it was reported he had waded beyond his depth and was drowned.

The 9-year-old boy was released in custody of his parents to appear before Juvenile Judge J. D. Isbel on Saturday.

THRIFTY WOMEN SEE VALUE OF CANNING FRUIT THIS SUMMER

Never Before Has Sugar Been so Low in Price and Fruit is Plentiful

A glance at the overflowing fruit markets and then at the low price of sugar proves conclusively that 1930 is the year to put up fruit. Of course the more that is canned the bigger the financial gain, but even a few jars of preserves and glasses of jelly stored away will help cut food bills next winter.

Pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and watermelon rind are also economical to put up. Their spicy tartness of goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Canned fruit has a place in the balanced diet. Most of them are rich in vitamins. For children, canned fruit is an ideal breakfast dish or a fitting dessert.

Beyond a doubt, the housewife who puts up plenty of fruit this summer will find that its consumption next winter will help keep her family well and save her money. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

CARBONA
POWDER
REMOVES GREASE SPOTS WITHOUT LEAVING A "RING"

Most silks are now "weighted" or "loaded" with foreign substances to make them appear of better quality. Liquid cleaners dissolve this "weighting" or "loading," and this causes "rings" on Silks. We have therefore created Carbona Grease Absorbent Powder for use on Silks only. This Powder will not affect "weighting" or "loading" in any way—it absorbs Grease Spots instead of dissolving them, and no "rings" can result from its use on Silks.

RUSS PLOT SEEN IN CHEAP ORE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The American Manganese Producers' Association requested Secretary Mellon to suspend the collection and assessment of duties on manganese ore from Russia pending an investigation by Treasury agents to determine whether additional duties should be imposed.

The request was made in a letter signed by J. Carson Adkerson, of Washington, president of the association. He charged that Russian ore "is freely offered and sold in the United States at less than its fair market value and at less than the indicated cost of production in Russia."

Relief was requested under the "anti-dumping" act of 1921. It would not prevent the importation of Russian ore, Adkerson said, adding:

"It is common knowledge that the Russian Soviet government has determined to sell manganese ore in foreign markets as a means of creating gold credits, regardless of cost. It also is common knowledge the Soviet government is attempting to break down the capitalistic system and to destroy industries in the United States."

Policeman Is Slain Pursuing Gunmen

STERLING, Ill., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Robert J. Card, 31, a city motorcycle policeman, was shot and killed early today by the one or more occupants of an automobile speeding toward Chicago. Witnesses said Card emptied his revolver at the automobile and received a hail of bullets in return.

BANKER SUICIDE AS QUIZ OPENS

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—First pulling an adding machine into position for the convenience of two state bank examiners arriving to inspect the books of his institution, Howard Snyder, 45, president of the First National Bank of Argyle, shot himself to death in one of the vaults.

No shots were heard. When Snyder did not reappear after 20 minutes in the vault, Porter A. Burgess, cashier, found the dying president seated in a chair, a revolver close at hand.

The examiners said their preliminary inspection showed no shortage in accounts. They had no reports of irregularities at the bank, they said, and went there only for a routine visit. The bank remained open.

New Stomach Formula To End Torture For Millions

Pain, Belching, Gas, Bloating, Acidity, Heartburn Vanish with New Acidine

Don't suffer any longer with burning, acid stomach, gnawing knifelike pains before or after eating, belching, gas, bloating, heartburn, dizziness, fullness, short breath. New formula Acidine containing an effective scientific digestant stops pain and gas and quickly ends all trouble. Get Acidine from your druggist today—it is not expensive—and say goodbye to stomach torture for good.

"I had a mean case of acid indigestion for the past three years," writes Miss Adelaide Bellean of 359 39th Street, Brooklyn, New York. "I have tried everything with little, if any results. Then heard about Acidine and got some. It is certainly a marvelous medicine. I can eat everything without gas or pain. Sleep fine. I'd like to broadcast Acidine so every one like myself could try it and get thoroughly well."

Remember, this new Acidine is different from other remedies. Contains a marvelous starch digestant, Japtase, which liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy, starchy food under proper conditions. Five other scientific ingredients relieve burning acid, stop gas formation, soothe irritated stomach lining. No other remedy contains this scientific combination to end acid stomach trouble.

Physicians are prescribing Acidine as the best remedy they know of for acid indigestion and dyspepsia. Introduced only last year, people who were given it were so delighted that they told their friends and its use spread like wild fire. Over 5,000,000 stomach sufferers have used it already and they are enthusiastic boosters. It is rapidly taking the place of other stomach remedies.

Don't run chances of getting dangerous troubles from acidity. Get Acidine today and note the prompt relief from pain and belching. Eat, drink and smoke, take Acidine to end the resulting acid stomach. Results guaranteed or money promptly refunded. Get Acidine from your druggist today.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

Eight of the more popular numbers of "Carmen" will feature the all-Bizet concert on the Eveready Hour, WCAE at 8 o'clock tonight. Tandy MacKenzie, tenor, will sing the famous "Flower Song."

Martha Bruckman

Amos 'n' Andy have signed a five-year contract with the National Broadcasting Company. This will replace their present contract which ends Saturday.

Phillips H. Lord, creator of "Seth Parker," is just about as hard to find in Gotham as it is to locate the sponsors of barred songs in Pittsburgh, relates Dave Olsen of WCAE. The author of "Uncle Abe and David" is lean and weary from writing so much of his retreat atop a New York skyscraper. Others say—

A green building is to be added to Mayfield Development, it is announced. The WJAS secretary is considering the date to add "golf."

The KDKA golf match ended in a tie, each team garnering 410 strokes. Ed Spencer was low with 87 strokes. Walter Myers next at 93.

Jack Shurwood started out at 5 a. m. Some appreciated, we're sure, the earliness when he failed to [illegible] at the clubhouse at 9 o'clock for dinner. A scratching party found him addressing the ball at the seventeenth hole. The count was 137.

A visitor to the party, Edwin J. Wuertherle, the bowling alley manufacturer, turned in 45 for nine holes.

The athletic at the East Palestine Country Club was excellent. How those students were tackled to meet Leo Kaufman, Fred Rodgers, Percy Boyd and other celebrities [illegible] present.

QUESTION A DAY.

Eleanor Davis, Trafford City—How old is William A. Farren, the KDKA announcer?

A.—About 50.

A full week laying the dust does not interfere with Ed Brown playing one of the sweetest cellos in town for WJAS every Sunday.

"Oh, is that the microphone? Why, I thought it had a horn on it," exclaimed a pretty visitor at WJAS. Another remark often made: "You say that program comes from New York over telephone wires; how can all those musicians play into one telephone?"

TODAY'S TID BIT.

Remember when rolled oats, boxes 'round were eagerly sought for the winding of coils in the hay-wire days of radio? Freddie Gundermuth, the orchestra leader does. Gundermuth was not only one of the first artists to appear at a Pittsburgh station but a set-builder as well. He's home again after playing with the Sis Brown Brothers.

Bares the Heart of a Woman who Loves Greatly Enough to Stay in the Back Streets of a Man's Life

The Season's Most Important Novel

"BACK STREETS"

RAY SCHMIDT—with a flair for clothes and a thirst for life . . . Ray Schmidt, a fascinating question mark among the girls in her street . . .

Mothers used Ray as a warning—they called her any man's girl. And yet, among all the men she attracted, only one could move her to ecstasy or to the verge of heartbreak. Hers is indeed the story of a Grand Passion.

You see more than the career of this girl—an important era of American life moves in a colorful pageant across these pages . . . begin Fannie Hurst's supreme novel in September Cosmopolitan.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Be the Captain of Your Soul If You Want to Anchor In the Harbor of Satisfaction

They tell stories like this on Broadway when the lights have dimmed to sickly smears and the morning comes over the sill in a greasy scum—tales of girls who Thought They Could Beat the Game.

And they'll point them out to you — those girls. Haggard wrecks — sprawled whimpering over a drained glass — poor ghosts who walk aimlessly through a draggled dawn unable to leave the hell in which they are trapped.

Today like a shadow across a warm-lit room comes such a story. The story of Natalie whom her mother called "sweet" just four years ago. Today Natalie's drifting, fouled and forgotten on Broadway's tragic tide. And down the wind comes the wail of her warning to the girls who still are safe.

Is restlessness squirming in your blood, youngster—tickling your heels? Would you like to get a kick out of life—that kick the old folks deny you in the tiresome quiet of home?

Do you cry — "I can take care of myself" when they lay gentle hands on you in restraint? But can you? Natalie thought she could take care of herself. And—this—is the care she took:

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I have strayed into such circumstances that if my terrible experience will help any other girl, I would like to show what a climax of misery a bad life brings one.

"Only four years ago my mother said I was such a sweet good girl. Then I was just 14 and I was full of life and eagerness to see and live.

LOSES HER HONOR

"I started going around with fast girls and for a while I thought I was having a wonderful time. But I ended up by losing my honor. In shame I left my home and decided to see what I then foolishly called a 'real life.' I was wild, yes. I yearned for cabarets and the stage . . . for the clown of dance orchestras. It seems as if I had no goodness in me at all. Only weakness. I soon fell deeply in love with a man and before long I learned that I was to become a mother—just at the time that he was tiring of me.

"It seems to me that I just have no gumption. Gee! I don't know how to explain it. I long to be good. I dream of a husband and kiddies. I realize my mistakes and what I will finally end up to be. But this life seems to be in my blood. I'm lazy and I guess you'll think I'm just no good. I don't need pity, but a good thrashing. I am only 18 now and I look about 25 with my face lined and big circles under my eyes. My face, once pretty, seems so hard. I'm not the same girl my mother once called sweet and good.

YEARNS TO BE GOOD

"I am pretty well known in night clubs. It used to thrill me frightfully when men of importance spoke to me and wanted to be with me. But now I merely nod, close my eyes and wish I was entering the place with a young man poor or rich who would love me sincerely and offer me his name instead of money. Miss Martin, I yearn to be a good girl, but it seems I just can't get started.

Forgive me please for taking up so much of your time with my sob story, but it has helped me a lot to get it off my mind. In fact, there are tears running down my cheeks as I write. I guess for the first time in years.

I hope you will print this letter. Maybe my muddled story will help some other little young lady who thinks a life like mine would be a thrill.

What's wrong with me? Am I naturally bad? I am ashamed to sign my own name, so I will just call myself "NATALIE."

Pretty tough breaks kid, but you're not making them any better by going into a huddle of self-pity. Nor does it buy you anything to believe you're endowed with a mysterious 'bad streak' which won't allow you to act regular. That's a wonderful aid for cussedness but it isn't the whole truth. We all have bad streaks—but hugely we all have good streaks, too. And it's up to us to rassle it out with ourselves.

NOT DOOMED TO TRAGEDY

Fate isn't two-timing you, Natalie. You're two-timing yourself. You're not doomed to tragedy. You're just hanging it on your own neck. And there's nothing strange or unique about your motives. You're simply lazy—with the same old breed of laziness that affects us all. It takes gumption to be good. It takes action to be civilized. It's much easier and pleasanter to slump back and drift with our impulses. And we usually get a Big Bang out of boasting about our doomed and derelict souls.

But you don't have to be doomed or derelict a second more than you wish.

I'm not preaching old dear—nor sitting in judgment. But I'm just telling you straight—as from one egg to another—that if you don't like your muddle puddle, you can get out of it when and if you want. How do I know? Because I've been in mudpuddles myself. Natalie.

Silver Fish

If your china closet or cupboard is infested with the insect known as silver fish you may know there is dampness of some sort attracting them. If the closet is naturally damp sprinkle some borax around liberally to frighten them away. Be sure the dishes are thoroughly dry before putting them away. They are destructive bugs, feeding upon linens, book-bindings and other materials.

Successful Omelet

Be sure to use a small pan for omelet; one that will not allow the eggs to spread and the omelet to become thin and tough. The smallest pan obtainable is suitable for a two-egg omelet.

Fay King Warns Against Misery Caused by Easily Stolen Sweethearts

By FAY KING

Men who are easily flattered, fascinated and enticed from home and family are a poor risk.

The girl who feels so triumphant in winning such a one has really nothing more than a sort of consolation prize.

How can she hope for greater love, greater faith and loyalty from one who has found it so easy to forget other dear ones?

It is usually only a matter of time until she in turn finds herself suffering the same heartache and despair another woman suffered.

Then only does she realize the enormity of her mistake.

There is no need to say, "I told you so!" or that "It serves her right!"

She knows it only too well—and too late!

The Marry-Go-Round

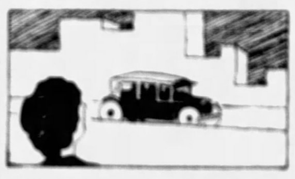
By HELEN ROWLAND

The "Wives' Exchange"

There ought to be a "Wives' Exchange" where slightly used husbands could be turned in and traded off for a different model.

* * *

No matter what kind of car or what kind of husband you have, you can always imagine that you might have been better off with some other kind.



The wife of a tightwad feels that she would cheerfully exchange him for a nice, generous-hearted racketeer, or a liberal, extravagant bootlegger.

The wife of the rounder or the playboy no doubt thinks that she would joyfully trade him off for a sober, steady old grouch who would come home regularly every evening, go to sleep after dinner, and pay the bills on the dot.

The wife of a bore secretly believes that she would be almost willing to part with her steady income and her peace of mind in return for an exciting existence with a heart-breaker or a jazz-boy who would at least put a little color in her life and take her out of the deadly monotony.

And the wife of a "stepper" and a woman-charmer feels sure that she could be far happier with a husband who beat her, choked her or starved her than one who constantly cheats and deceives her, keeps her soul on the rack and holds her up to ridicule.

* * *

That's human nature. "The ills we know not of" always seem more endurable than those that face us across the breakfast table every morning.

That is because we choose a man for his charms and virtues instead of for his faults. Yet the average human being has ten or twenty little faults to one big virtue—and we've got to LIVE with ALL of them.

* * *

If only we could choose our life-mates for their faults and weaknesses and failings, there would be far less travel to Paris and Reno!

If you can love a man BECAUSE he is lazy and careless and easy-going, or because he has an iron will, a flourishing vanity, or a splendid egotism; or because he throws away his money or hoards the pennies or is strong and silent, or frivolous and flirty, you could of course easily love him for his virtues.

And then you'd be loving ALL of him! And to live happily in the close communion of matrimony with any mere human being, you've GOT to love all of him!

Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

There is a feeling against the small bun or chignon which has been the finish of the shoulder length bob. More and more the hair is being cut about two inches below the hair line at the rear of the head. The ends of the hair are curled upward with the iron and laid flat with sculptured curls. Barettes of brilliants are being worn in the evening.

Strange how fashion changes woman. In short skirts and hair she was a gamin, sometimes a bit of a rowdy. With flowing draperies and more wool on the rear of her thought machine, she has developed a quality of elusiveness. She doesn't sprawl, but keeps her pretty feet close together, nicely and primly. With less rouge and the lipstick chucked into oblivion she is taking on qualities of naturalness. It is a "be yourself" era, and it is satisfactory.

● Times will change—but BRUNSWICK'S New Futura Models incorporate all the practical improvements you may expect in radio for seasons to come.

It's easy to imagine better cars and homes and aircraft of the future—but it's hard to imagine a finer radio than the new Brunswick for 1931!

● What more can a radio ever do than bring you your ether entertainment from any distance in any weather; pick it out with ultimate precision from the crowded airwaves; shield it from all electrical interference; and deliver it to you silken smooth in tone—all at the summons of a single dial control?

Yet all this the Brunswick—and only the Brunswick—does today!

● Four revolutionary features, plus Brunswick's traditional painstaking workmanship, explain why these amazing models so completely anticipate the future.

Just to see and hear them is not enough. It will show you only their present perfection—not their extra years of service . . . Add that to the values you get in any set of equal or greater price, and you'll add the Brunswick to your household with calm assurance that you've made the only possible buy!

STATE TO CUT ROAD LIGHTS

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—All unnecessary traffic control signal lights on Pennsylvania State highways will be eliminated within the next three months, the state department of highways announced today.

At the end of this period there will be about 400 fewer lights—half of the present total—and the department's campaign for speeding up traffic movement will have been advanced another step.

The elimination of unnecessary traffic signals follows a survey conducted over a period of several months which resulted in an official decision as to what contributes to the necessity for operation of a signal at a given intersection. On the basis of the survey, the engineering division of the department decided that there is no necessity for such lights at intersections where a peakload of 500 vehicles and 250 pedestrians an hour does not occur.

Fall at Funeral Fatal to Woman

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 12.—Suffering a fractured skull and injured spine in a fall down a stairway as she was entering a chapel to attend the funeral of Orrville R. Miller, Mrs. Mary Cordry Bowman, 69, wife of George A. Bowman, contractor, died at Memorial Hospital yesterday.

Woman, 81, Visits Familiar Scenes, Then Dies

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Permilia McGovern, 81, of Jefferson, on Sunday journeyed to Clarksville, where she spent the day visiting scenes of her youth. She also visited the graves of friends and relatives. Forty-five minutes after returning home she died. Physicians attributed her death to overexertion and emotional strain.

MORROW ONLY SLIGHTLY ILL

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—(Universal.)—The American embassy yesterday authorized a statement to the effect that stories published in the United States concerning the health of Ambassador Morrow are exaggerated.

The fact is that Morrow has been suffering with a slight attack of nervous indigestion, which often troubles persons in this high altitude.

Morrow has been at his country residence in Cuernavaca since last Wednesday and it is likely that he will remain there until tomorrow.

The embassy refused to comment on the reported disagreement between J. P. Morgan and Company, and Morrow, former Morgan partner, over the terms of the settlement of the $500,000,000 Mexican debt to the International Bankers' Committee.

SARATOGA VICE WAR ORDERED

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday ordered the lid clamped down tight on gambling and vice at Saratoga Springs. He gave Saratoga officials until Thursday to act.

Failure of the officials to act promptly may cost them their jobs, Roosevelt indicated. The governor acted as the result of a complaint filed last week with him by Hugh S. Dorsey, former Saratoga policeman. In Dorsey's letter he listed 18 alleged gambling establishments in and near Saratoga and 14 alleged disorderly houses.

Dorsey told the governor he had demanded that local officials take action to suppress gambling and vice at the famous racing resort but that they had refused.

KILLER DOOMED IN 1-DAY TRIAL

WARRENTON, Va., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Elwood Payne, Negro, was convicted of the murder of Miss Estelle Corbin, a young white woman, by a jury in Circuit Court here and his punishment fixed as death in the electric chair.

Judge J. R. H. Alexander sentenced Payne to be electrocuted September 19. The trial began and ended yesterday.

Payne was indicted for the murder of Allie Corbin, a prominent farmer, and his daughter Estelle but the trial was only on the second indictment. The Negro was charged with having shot and clubbed Corbin, Estelle and another daughter on the night of June 28.

Corbin died July 7 and Estelle July 23. The other daughter recovered.

★ What is ESSO?

ask any of the Dealers listed below and he will tell you—

THE finest motor fuel you can buy. A super fuel. That's ESSO. Favorite fuel of racing drivers, such as Fred Frame, Bill Cummings, Deacon Litz and Bob Robinson, who win races through winning motor performance. Favorite of countless motorists who want the last ounce from their motors on the towering hills of Western Pennsylvania. Favorite, too, of the budgeteers, who buy the motor fuel that shows the best economy. ESSO is made from a special motor fuel, to which is added Ethyl, the famous anti-knock compound. The result is a Super Fuel which will outperform any other gasoline or motor fuel regardless of price. And remember, ESSO is a "Standard" product. Try it today in your own car. See for yourself why they all say, "You'll have good luck with 'Standard'."

This Town of Ours

Pres. Lowell, of Harvard, wouldn't let Vanityfair publish his picture because the mag is "too frivolous" . . . Olive Borden, the cinemactress, and Edward Livingstone, of Pittsburgh, in a new combination . . . Vilma Blanky shoved off for the Old Country in a two-year oold hat . . . That's the way things get you . . . The Alexander ("Rain or Shine") McKees are blessed-eventing, as are the James Cornelius' (Ruth Clifford) . . . The Paramount firm turns over Gary Cooper's pay checks to Lupe Velez . . . George Graves, of the phlickers, is Marion (Vanities) O'Daying it . . . The editor of here made up with Ethel Barrymore at the Berg-Chocolate ringside . . . Mary Crowell, whose husband once edited American Mag, is having it Renew-vated.

Aleck Woollcott will take the stump for H. Broun because they have something in common . . . Both were dramatic critics, and there's nothing commoner than that . . . It's a boy at the Carl Winstone and at the Robert Harts . . . And when Cliff Edwards' divorce is final he won't middle-aisle it with Nancy Dover, either, . . . Jim Tully wasn't invited to Albertina Rasch's party, at which other rags erroneously reported that he bopped Arthur Caesar on the meezer . . . He only threatened to . . . Warner's fired 200 people Fridee . . . The gels look so much prettier in their organdies . . . Give Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs a G. B. Hand. With the rest primping on Bailey's Beach, Newport, she decorates herself in overalls!

Daisy Waterman's mother is gravely ill, as is Sally Fisher, who once was the toast of the musical comedy lovelies . . . Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt just bought a $100,000 pearl necklace at Cartier's . . . The dreariest street in town is 53rd between Sixth and Seventh.

Ed. Howe's Monthly, published in Atchison, cuts from its subscription list every subscriber who kicks about anything it prints, which is as it should be . . . Winthrop Ames won't be interviewed on the Hollywood sitch-ee-ay-shun . . . Colin Clive's American visit is being delayed by a nervous b'down . . . Pierre de Rohan's $150 car (1926 brand), for which he hired a liveried driver now and then, blew up the other day . . . One of the jucier aviation scandals will bust some day and the historians will have to juggle the records . . . The Vanderbilts can't do a thing with Willie, Jr., and Lily Damita, who are plenty on fire! . . . The murals on the Grand Central Station ceiling are upside down.

Recommended to diversion seekers: Eubie Blake's "You're Lucky To Me" in the forthcoming "Blackbirds" revusical . . . G. Jessel's touching tribute at the Palace on native sons who have passed on . . . The vastly amusing lyric to "My Old Girl is the New Girl of an Old Heel Pal of Mine" . . . Chas. Rosoff's "Caroline Mine" chune . . . The new chocolates with olive centers . . . The racehorse columns on Kay Oliver at the Abbey . . . N. Anthony's "Three Slices of Life" in Cosmopolitan.

Linda ("June Moon") Watkins' face is so shiny because she won't use cosmetics or powder off stage . . . John Peter Toohey is Sam H. Harris' new voice . . . The largest shoe cleaning chain in town won't polish black and white boots . . . Aside to managing editor, Baltimore News (Thanks, sir) . . . They are going to change the tag of Norma Talmadge's new phlicker from "DuBarry, Woman of Passion," to "DuBarry, Child of Passion," the dopes!

Zazu Pitts has given up all hope of a reconciliation with Tom Gallery, and Margaret Quimby (Doc Kearn's old heart) is the new honey . . . They seed and slice your watermelon for you at the Central Park Casino, the only spot in town retaining some of the old-time night life flavor . . . Why do they try to ape Helen Morgan's hairdress? . . . Helen is the only one who can look effeminate in it . . . Dolly Gilbert will star with Dan Healy in a Warner's chin-ema . . . They discovered a "smoke" in the Joe Cook ensemble when the gels squawked . . . They would have you believe that Harry K. Thaw "took the rap" for a femme, who is supposed to have fired the bullet that felled Stanford White.

Among other unsolved riddles is why the gels snub buttermilk, the only sure-fire complexion-improver . . . It's a 9-pound 13-ounce lad at the Chester (moompitcher) Klebers . . . The demitasse golf fad is dwindling already in the hinterlands . . . "Journey's End," which did $18,000 weekly during the torrid spell last yr will close because of the humidity . . . Barney Baruch is having his No'th Cahlina shack interior-decorated . . . Elias Grossman, a Go-Ghetto boy, is over there etching Einstein . . . Janet Barry, femme taxi-driver, has had her license revoked . . . Edna Leedom is plumper all over.

Things that leave me limp: Watching a pair of "sports" splitting an $8 check for four in the no-couvert places . . . Dorothy Justin, of the Hollywood Restaurant revue, is grieving over the loss of her English bull, answering to the tag of Baby-Spot. Dottie offers a liberal reward . . . Taxis are allowed to park in front of fire hydrants . . . The leader on the Park Central Roof directs with his back to his crew, of all things! . . . B. Johnson is stage-dooring Cynthia (Garrick Gaieties) Rogers . . . Harry Glynn, who crashed society, as it is laughingly called, via the Volstead manner, moans that the Mirror's expose ruined him terribly . . . Things are so tough for most locals on the Canyon that even the lights are against them.

WIFE OF GROSS SEEKS CASH

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, heiress and daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor of the Philippines, petitioned the Supreme Court for an additional $2,000 counsel fees to prosecute her litigation against her diplomat husband, Capt. Christian Gross, to whom she once gave $850,000.

She also disclosed that she would take steps to set aside a divorce obtained by her husband last week in Chicago and recover $350,000 from him.

Gross, well-known in Chicago as a clubman and polo player, married the heiress in Algiers in 1922. In January, 1928, Mrs. Gross sued for divorce in Paris, where her husband was then secretary of the legation.

Charles Rogers Discards Nickname and Goes In for Westerns

By HARRISON CARROLL.

(Copyright, 1930, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.

Heeding to the call of the open spaces, Charles Rogers, whom Paramount decrees may no longer be referred to as "Buddy," will go western in his next talking picture.

The star himself is my authority. He says that Herman Mankeweicz, erstwhle New York reviewer and now a scenarist, is writing a story for him about a dude ranch. Perhaps, Paramount will send the company on location to Gary Cooper's place in Montana.

In the meanwhile, Charles is making a picture that bears the unattractive title, "Molinoff." Time, no doubt, will take care of that. If we are to believe the studio, "Molinoff" is "not a musical, but has a few songs in it."

Charles Rogers.

Leading woman for the star in this film is Frances Dee, a pretty newcomer, who already has had a tilt with the studio over her screen name. She liked her own, Dee; the studio wanted to change it to Deane. They compromised, and it is Dee.

SOFT MUSIC

The sound "mixer" on the set often is a meddlesome gentleman. Out at Universal, Max Fisher was trying to tone down his orchestra to suit Bessie Love's voice. A trumpeter and a trombonist had been silenced, but still the "mixer" cried for a slash in strength.

Max cut out two more instruments, and turned to the director:

"Mr. Craft," he said, "I beg to report that the orchestra now consists of the director."

COMES HIGH

A Hollywood restaurant patronized by many film people charges $1 for an ordinary hamburger that is impressively delivered to the table in a covered skillet. The meat is still sizzling in hot grease.

DOUG'S TEACHER

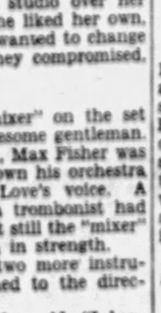
Margaret Fealy, who taught Douglas Fairbanks acting while he was a high school boy in Denver, is in Hollywood, working for the talkies.

DEADLOCK RENEWED

My impression was that Janet Gaynor and Fox had come to an agreement, but she says they are just as far apart as ever.

"I've been spending my time at the beach trying to get a tan," declared the star.

When discovered by this department, Janet was lunching with her husband, Lydell Peck, at the Paramount restaurant. He's employed at this studio as an assistant to an associate producer. This is a promotion from his former job in the writing department.



Janet Gaynor.

TRIP FOR COLLEEN

According to a close friend, Colleen Moore is closing her house next month to sail for Europe on September 27. Colleen's ex-husband, John McCormick, is now back in the film colony being a new resident at Malibu Beach.

LILY BACK SOON

The German version of "Sons of Guns" never materialized. Lily Damita is due in New York on September 11 and will go to Hollywood to start work with Al Jolson about two weeks thereafter. She's been away two months vacationing.

IN VAUDEVILLE

Despite her success in the movies, Lillian Roth yearns to get back to the vaudeville. She says that upon the completion of her current talkie, Broadway will see her again in an act at the Palace. After that she'll play several other theaters. It's something to know that there are that many left.

River Infection Causes Boy's Death

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—The first fatality from an infection developed while swimming in the Monongahela River occurred here with the death of Glenn Francis Harris, 19. Physicians said a streptococcic infection of the eye started a week ago while the youth was swimming. It spread to his brain and resulted in death.

Employe on River Boat Dies of Burns

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 12.—Burns received when a steam pipe burst and showered him with steam caused the death of Elmer Provance, 42, of New Geneva. He was employed on a river boat.

A SHOWBOAT TEACHES SOMETHING ABOUT CONSISTENCY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Rip Van Winkle slept for 20 years. So we're not so bad. It only took us three weeks to wake up to the fact that the Golden Rod Showboat, up Montrose way, has something we haven't got. It has a consistency of purpose.

It insists on trivial drama. And it makes us like it. We break out into the laughs and we want to somersault into the aisles. We want to write home to the farm and bring the old folks out to see it. We want to stage a theater party and get all our fancy friends from the city in on it.

Our consistency of purpose faltered—and we admit it—in that we, heretofore, have been lukewarm in our treatment of this Showboat "classic." And we mean "classic." It is a page of life that is dead; yet alive. It is history—history of a romantic complex of The Drama—written and spilled before its enacters have passed. Which means that it is a novelty, and what is novel today is history tomorrow.

THERE IS A SOMETHING

But we should mention this week's show. It is called "The Hoodlum." Raymond Rameau, one of the actors, says it is reminiscent of "The Brat." So we'll take his word for it. And we must say this fellow Rameau is something of the best in the way of acting talent—as far as the Showboat goes. Another best is Frank Anton, who portrays a blind father. Still another best—and not so still—is Marie McLain. She is the heroine.

Somehow, we like the heroine. She has a hint of the something that made the talented Jeanne Eagels. We say this, knowing we might sound—and probably are—goofy. And we add if someone robbed her of her terrible theatrical gestures and all that sort of thing, she could be another Sadie Thompson on the stage. But, and this is addressed to you, Miss McLain, don't get temperamental.

Anyway, after the three acts—with some awful vaudeville between—we hope there is a second honeymoon at Niagara Falls, just as someone in the audience suggests. And even if there isn't, there is the happy climax. Even the villain gets a "break." He gets $10,000 and the gateway to South America.

SOMETIME, MAYBE

Sometime, maybe next week, Capt. Menke (he's the boss) will give us a "drammer" from the old days; one of those affairs with the voluminous petticoats and the flowing trains of the Nineties. Heretofore, it has been Maude Adams dramatics in a Clara Bow setting. Which—in spite of all the amusement — is rather pathetic.

Be this as it may, though, we find this Showboat has something we never dreamt it had. It has a cast of players, so serious in their endeavor, that they almost make us believe in them. So we are cheering for them—and applauding.

Go and see them; realize a new angle on things; find something not found before. And learn, as we have, that consistency, not variety, may be the spice of life.

Bridge Workman Hit by Train Dies

OIL CITY, Pa., Aug. 12.—Ignatz Michel, 31, employe of the Ferguson-Edmondson Co., died in Oil City Hospital after he was run down by a Pennsylvania yard train. He was employed on construction work on the new bridge over the Allegheny.

In Western

Myrna Loy has a prominent role in "Last of the Duanes," a Zane Grey drama, which will open on the Aldine screen Friday.

POSSE SHOOTS BOY BANDIT

BRAZIL, Ind., Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Roy Long, 20, a Terre Haute high school boy, was killed, and three other youths were captured here when a posse of citizens ambushed them as they tried to hold up a filling station.

The station had been robbed only a few days before, and a posse ambushed it in the belief another attempt might be made. When Long, Floyd Frye, 23; Emory Young, 22, and Hubert Moyer, 22, made the attempt, the posse was ready for them.

Long was shot through the head. Frye, wounded slightly in the leg, was the only other member of the gang injured.

NEW LUTHERAN SYNOD ELECTS

TOLEDO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—With merger details completed the new American Lutheran church is in session here. One of the first matters of business was election of officers for the group formed by the uniting of the Ohio, Iowa and Buffalo synods.

Dr. C. C. Hein, Columbus, O., is the president of the American synod. The others chosen with him are:

The Rev. K. A. Hoessel, Milwaukee; the Rev. C. G. Prottengeier, Charles City, Ia., and Dr. Emanuel Poppen, Grove City, O., vice presidents; Prof. E. J. Braulick, Segun, Tex., secretary, and the Rev. Rudolph Grabau, North Tonawanda, N. Y., assistant secretary.

The board of trustees elected was: Dr. H. L. Frushel, Milwaukee; William Graening, Denver, Ia., and G. A. Grossman, Waverly, Ia.

The synod elected other boards, including that on publication, of which the Rev. N. E. Schramm, of Butler, Pa., is a member. George Liebold, Pittsburgh, was chosen to the special board of election of theological professors.

The merger brings together 1,955 congregations, 1,527 pastors and 500,000 church members. Headquarters of the new synod will be in Chicago.

Three Cumberland Jailbreakers Sought

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 12.—Three youths, Melvin (Mouse) Uplinger, 17; Lewis M. (Snap) Edwards, 18, and Thomas (Whitey) Smith, 20, who escaped from Allegany County Jail by sawing three sets of bars, were still at large today. The three were charged with robbery. Uplinger's brother, Ralph, who visited him at the jail Friday, is held pending investigation.

Garment Factory Resumes in Fall

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 12.—Orders from all over the country which J. R. THIS WOMAN FOUND OUT FACTS
SHE COULDN'T BE BEAUTIFUL AND HALF SICK.
"I want to tell you of my wonderful experience. Six months ago I was so thin and so sallow that all my friends asked about my health. I told them I was well but naturally thin, even when I longed for more weight and the clear skin that used to be mine.
"Because one of my neighbors said World's Tonic had added to her weight, I bought it. I was so ashamed of taking any medicine that I hid it from my husband.
"When I was halfway through the first bottle I noticed its benefit. I felt better, and my skin took on a little color. In a couple of weeks I began to gain flesh. To make a long story short, in four months I gained twenty pounds. I no longer had to get up in the night. I no longer belched up gas after meals and it was no longer necessary to take pills to get my bowels to move. All of my friends commented on my improved looks. I wouldn't tell any of them why, but since the improvement was permanent I think I ought to tell other people that I didn't realize I was sick and run-down, and that was the reason I looked so bad. World's Tonic certainly is a friend to women.
Mrs. Barbara Apader,
of Punxsutawney, Pa."
World's Tonic is an aid to health. It is a health restorer. It gives the body just the aid it needs to do its work properly. A really healthy woman is always attractive.

Hearings on Short Haul Rates Reopen in Harrisburg

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

A racketeer, a North Side politician and a city office-holder were in the lobby of the City - County Building when Rudy Valee arrived to receive the key to the city.

Dozens of excited young women crowded about their

"Aw," spoke up the racketeer as he surveyed Rudy, "even his ears is beautiful."

We are mixed up in more or less of a literary argument with our friend Young Eppy, the bay-windowed young man who will be written into the pages of history not as the former bettor, nor yet as the one-time prizefighter, but as the expensively clad entertainer who gives gratis diving exhibitions at our swimming pools. Young Eppy says we misused the word digits. We wrote that part of Eppy's many-pieced beach wardrobe was a pair of Russian boots to protect the tender Eppy digits. But Eppy says digits means fingers, and how in the world could he wear Russian boots on the fingers which were once enclosed in eight-ounce boxing gloves? Eppy says he looked the word up in the dictionary and he forwards two succinct notes: (1) "Pertaining to the fingers or to digits" from Webster's and (2) "Digit—a finger."

Well, we insist that digits means either fingers or toes, much as we dislike to take issue with such an authority. And if this marks the end of a beautiful friendship, then let Eppy take the high road of literature and we'll take the low. Let him have his Shakespeare—the old highbrow!—we'll take Bugs Baer.

Another movie which includes as one of its characters a reporter has come to town. And of course the reporter is a drunken reporter. We can't remember at the moment ever having seen a sober reporter on stage or screen. We have no personal feelings in the matter. We don't care how many drunken reporters are depicted in the movies or back of the lights. But we have just made a tabulation of the habits of the first dozen newspapermen whose names occurred to us and here are the results: Eight don't drink, two are consistent, but not habitual drinkers and two "take a little now and then." This list includes the newspaperman who wrote the sentence you have just read.

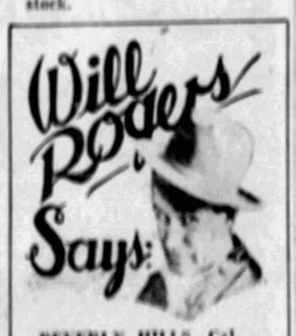
The drunken movie reporter, incidentally, in the current picture, happens to be another local boy who is making good in the cinema, a fact unknown to the Pittsburgh critics when they praised his histrionic efforts. He is Frank McHugh, and he went to school at Old St. Patrick's.

He also has had good parts in "Dawn Patrol" and "Top Speed" in the few months he has been in Hollywood since quitting the New York stage. McHugh comes of a family of actors, his father, Ed McHugh, Sr., his mother and a brother, Matt, having been in "Street Scene." Another brother, Edward, Jr., is manager for Ethel Barrymore, and a sister is in stock.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 12.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Today is another primary day. In the old days when senators were senators, the State Legislatures picked out the ones that were to run. Now they pick themselves. You put an ad in the papers saying "you believe that you are needed." Maybe it's an original idea with you but there is no keeping you from running. There is no qualification outside of an intention necessary.

And by the way, we lost a mighty good ex-senator out here this week, James Phelan, a philanthropist, a scholar, a patron of the arts and a gentleman. With these qualifications naturally a Democrat. A fine fellow was Jimmy.

Yours,
WILL.

PITTSBURGH SHIPPERS ATTEND

Three Railroads to Submit Rebuttal Testimony; Their Compromise Turned Down

A score of iron and steel shippers from this district were to be in Harrisburg today, to attend the reopening of the hearings in the short haul rate case. It was announced that the shippers had turned down a compromise offered by the railroads.

Attorney William W. Collin, Jr., representing a group of iron and steel manufacturers, and Donald O. Moore, of the traffic division, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, will accompany the local delegation. Representatives of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads are expected to present rebuttal testimony today.

During the Pittsburgh hearing, more than 60 iron and steel shippers presented evidence to show the increase in short haul rates on iron and steel, which became effective May 20, placed the district under a severe handicap in competing with other sections of the country.

HUNT MAYVIEW WATER LEAKS

Work will begin soon on a survey of water leaks in underground pipes at the Pittsburgh City Home at Mayview with the Pitometer service, it was announced by City Council yesterday, after a $5,000 appropriation had been set aside for that purpose.

A recent survey on a more elaborate scale was completed by the Bureau of Water on the South Side, in which leaks losing water valued at $316,000 annually were stopped.

Prior to the survey maps will be made of underground pipes at the city home. Some of the courses, so far, are still uncharted. Until this is done the survey cannot be completed.

Water there is supplied by the South Pittsburgh Water Company to the pipes on the home property.

Foot Hurt in Switch, Sues Railways Co.

Damages of $10,000 are asked of the Pittsburgh Railways Company by Philip Harris, Sandusky street, because of his foot having been caught in a switch in East Ohio street February 12, and his ankle fractured. He says, in a statement of claim filed in Common Pleas Court, that a motorman who threw the switch should have seen that his foot had sunk between the steel rails and was negligent in throwing the switch when he did.

Injured by Auto, Sues for $20,000

Edward Rowley, of Freeport, places a value of $20,000 on injuries he received when the automobile he was riding in was struck by a street car, in a suit on file in Common Pleas Court today against the Pittsburgh Railways Company. The accident occurred February 28 at Mellon and Bryant streets. Rowley's head was cut and his body bruised.

SPEED LIGHTS ON FIFTH AVE.

Work on a new artistic lighting system for Fifth avenue will be started shortly by the Duquesne Light Company, City Controller John Kerr announced today following receipt of a communication from the company to that effect.

Council has approved the plan and consented to expend $36,000 to assist in the beautification project. The light company will spend $43,000. The work is expected to be completed by November 1.

The city's share on the project will be appropriated in the 1931 budget, Kerr said.

Boston Methodists Arrange Outing

The annual picnic of the Boston Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will be held Thursday afternoon and evening at Olympia Park. Sunday School Supt. Fred A. Bowden is general chairman of the committee in charge of the event. Mrs. Hannah Cargo and her aides will be in charge of refreshments. There will be games for the children, swimming, and Mr. Cargo of the sports committee is planning for a ball game for evening.

Epworth League Picnic September 1

The McKeesport District Epworth League annual picnic will be held Monday, September 1, all day, at the Scottdale Methodist Episcopal Camp near Mount Pleasant.

Link Pittsburgh Gangs In Hackensack Killing

Pittsburgh gangsters may have had a hand in the slaying of Pete Curatolo, racketeer, formerly of this city, who was killed recently in Hackensack, N. J., according to police of that city.

A Hackensack detective was here yesterday investigating Curatolo's connections with gangland. He was informed by the homicide squad that Curatolo, at one time a member of an East Liberty racketeer group, had been arrested, but later cleared in the killing of John Daniels, who was riddled with machine-gun bullets at Fourteenth street and Liberty avenue, January 10, 1928.

Curatolo left this city shortly after been freed, detectives say. They believe he may have been followed and vengeance wreaked for his supposed connection with the slaying of Daniels.

Tablet to Mark First Buy for State Forest

HARRISBURG, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A tablet and boulder commemorating the first purchase of land for a state forest will be unveiled September 6 in the Sproul State Forest, Clinton County, Charles E. Dorworth, secretary of the State Department of Forests and Waters, announced today. An assemblage of foresters, conservationists and state officials will view the unveiling, Dorworth said.

The boulder has been placed along a road leading into the famous Black Forest region at a point about 12 miles northeast of Renovo. The first state purchase of forest land was in 1900.

PLAN CAMPAIGN AGAINST FIRE

Plans for observance of National Fire Prevention Week October 5 to 11, are being made by the Chamber of Commerce, Donald J. Howard, secretary of the Chamber's Fire Prevention Committee, announced. The Chamber will enlist the services of 150,000 school children in Allegheny County in the drive against carelessness in fire.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith advised the Chamber that the Fire Bureau will co-operate in making the week's observance a success.

As a result of last year's observance Pittsburghers were saved $1,500,000 in fire insurance premiums, Howard said. These reductions came from underwriters last spring, with the message that lower rates henceforth would be in effect here because of the campaigns by the Pittsburgh Chamber in educating the public in the seriousness of fire hazards, coupled with the present efficiency of the city's fire department, Howard declared.

Man Hurt in Fall At Work Succumbs

Louis Viola, 47, of Fourteenth street, Monaca, died last night in the South Side Hospital from a fractured skull suffered several hours before when he fell 18 feet while at work in the plant of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation at Aliquippa, morgue attaches said.

FIGHT UNJUST STORE RETURNS

Plans for reducing unjust complaints in the return of merchandise to retail stores were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Retail Credit Men's Association, called to elect a committee to choose officers and directors to be voted on September 8.

The members of the Adjusters' Association also were present. All indicated their willingness to co-operate with the retail credit body in working out a plan to reduce complaints and make a record of unfair ones, for the benefit of the merchant-owned Credit Bureau, Inc., with which the credit body is affiliated.

The credit body elected Col. Franklin Blackstone, Leon Michaels, Thomas L. Ford, J. L. Gillespie and Mrs. Agnes R. Joyce to present nominations for officers and directors. The ticket will be presented at the first fall gathering.

Two Farmers File Bankruptcy Suits

Two farmers filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court yesterday. They are Jesse Clarence Morgan and Ethel Louise Morgan, of Girard Township, Erie County. The former lists liabilities of $20,461 of which $14,000 is listed as real estate. The latter lists liabilities of $15,353 of which $14,000 is represented as real estate.

MOTHERS HAIL BABY SHOW

According to the interest mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, have already taken in the Sun-Telegraph-Kroger Stores baby beauty contest there are no homely babies in Pittsburgh.

Hundreds of babies have already been tentatively entered, although the official entry blanks were not placed in distribution until this morning.

The prizes for Pittsburgh's prettiest babies, as selected in this contest, are going to be the finest ever awarded in a test of this character.

There will be three classes for boys and the same number for girls and silver cups will be awarded to the winners in each class. The first class will be for infants one year and under in age; the second class will include children from one to three and the third class is for youngsters from three to five. The baby beauty contest will be the outstanding feature of the Kroger Stores' annual outing at Kennywood Park, Thursday, August 21, and the prize winners will be selected by a special board of judges.

Entry blanks are now ready. You can get them at any Kroger store. There is no expense to you of any kind. Bring along the twins and triplets. There will be prizes for them, too.

700 Orphans Guests At Party Saturday

Mrs. Frank Mooney, of Chartiers avenue, Crafton, is chairman of the women's dinner committee that will have 700 children of St. Paul's Orphanage as guests at the annual party for orphans Saturday, August 23. The picnic will be held on the lawn of the home under the auspices of the Chartiers Council, Knights of Columbus. The committee in charge will meet tomorrow night at the council house, Crafton.

New Hampshire's Convicts Playing Golf in Prison

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Golf has invaded the New Hampshire state prison, it was learned today. Levin J. Chase, secretary of the board of prison trustees, revealed he had received a letter from an inmate asking for "second-hand clubs, both right and left handed," and also "any old hole cups."

Golf is a welcome addition to prison activities, as far as Warden Charles B. Clarke is concerned. He expressed the opinion that the game was "helpful and of good influence."

A number of the inmates, he said, were taking up the game, playing in the prison yards.

TRAFFIC GROUP MEETS SEPT. 8

The initial meeting of the Traffic and Transportation Association of Pittsburgh will be held September 8, it was announced yesterday.

The meeting will be held under the leadership of H. A. Leech, of the Pere Marquette and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroads and his associate officers and committeemen. The place of meeting has not yet been announced.

THOUSANDS ARRIVE FOR MEET

Election Scheduled, With Boxing, Fireworks and Other Events to Follow

Thousands of firemen, representatives of many companies throughout Western Pennsylvania, today registered for the 1930 convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association in Carnegie Library, Carnegie. The program, which will continue until Friday night, will begin with a memorial service this afternoon. Glendale and Carnegie are joint hosts.

While the trek to Carnegie began Sunday and yesterday and many visitors slept in tents in Glendale, a full attendance was not expected until late this afternoon.

BUSINESS TO FOLLOW

With the morning spent in registering the guests, the official business meeting will follow the memorial service. At 4 p. m. officers are to be elected and the place for next year's convention chosen. Tarentum, Conneaut Lake and Meyersdale are bidding for the meet.

An inhalator demonstration will be the next event, starting at 7 p. m. At 8:30, boxing bouts will be held on the Carnegie Fair grounds, and a half hour later, fireworks are scheduled.

DIVING STUNT

Capt. Miles Timmons, one-armed, one-legged, will dive 125 feet into a small pool at 11 o'clock. Prior to diving, he will saturate his clothing with gasoline, ignite it, and hurl himself, a blazing mass, into the pool. This daring feature will be given every night during the convention. Promised last night, it was postponed when the water tank burst.

Events will be held tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, terminating with a mummers' parade.

MELLOR ESTATE SET AT $30,000

The will of Mrs. Laura R. Mellor, of Edgewood, filed for probate today, disposes of an estate estimated at $30,000.

A son, Arthur D. Mellor, receives $4,000, two grandchildren, Charles C. and Laura R. Mellor, $1,000 each. Another son, Walter C., is given two $5,000 bequests in trust for the education of Margaret C. and George E. Mellor, Jr., grandchildren. The children receive the principal when they are 25. A third son, George E., receives $2,000. The residue is divided equally among the three sons. Walter C. Mellor is executor.

"Borrows" License Plates, Fined $10

W. F. Allen, 45, of 1310 Allegheny avenue, arrested in connection with the theft of a set of license plates, was fined $10 in North Side Police Court this morning before Magistrate Ray E. Schneider.

Lee Pound, 45, a Negro, of 522 Peedsdale street, from whose truck the plates were missing, appeared against Allen. Allen testified he "borrowed" the plates so that his wife could attend a picnic in their automobile.

Girls' Story of Forced Ride Being Checked

The story of two 13-year-old girls who told police they were forced to take a ride from West Aliquippa to the North Side with a motorist who put them out of the car after taking $2 from one, was being investigated today.

The two appealed for aid at the Woods Run Station late yesterday and were detained while police communicated with authorities in West Aliquippa.

The girls were on their way to pay a bill at a store when the motorist forced them to ride, they said. Because of their youth the Sun-Telegraph will not publish their names.

Perfume, Compacts Taken by Robber

A robber broke into the Ashcom Pharmacy at 5818 Penn avenue, early today, and stole, beside $10 in cash, 77 bottles of perfume and two compacts.

CORAOPOLIS TAX CUT DELAYED

Coraopolis may get a one-mill reduction in taxes, but two Borough Council sessions have failed to muster the necessary quorum to pass the millage for its final reading.

With the tax millage usually set in July, the legal process had merely reached the third reading at that meeting and ended in a tie vote. According to Dr. Fred L. Patterson, president of the Council, Burgess F. C. Gangloff voted in favor of the reduction, to pass the measure on its second reading, and was in position to pass it at the final reading.

This action was planned for August 4, but the four opposing members of the council were not at the meeting, and thereby blocked passage, through lack of a quorum. The members present, besides Dr. Patterson, were L. K. Fleming, George F. Colvin and John P. Leonard. They adjourned the meeting until last night. The four opposition members, George Selzer, Fred A. Rebischung, George O. Dickey and O. W. Ewing, again were absent.

The meeting was continued until next Monday night and, according to Dr. Patterson, will be adjourned weekly until the opposition members appear or the necessary time has passed for Borough Solicitor Horace Thomas, Jr., to take court action. Opposition to reductions in certain appropriations and payment plans for borough improvements are said to be causing the deadlock. The proposed tax is for 11 mills.

SUBURB SPURNS COAL PURCHASE

Mt. Lebanon Township commissioners last night rejected the offer of the Pittsburgh Coal Company to sell the coal underlying township streets.

The commissioners adopted a resolution declining to purchase the rib coal after Township Engineer W. F. Vegeler submitted a report of his inspection of the workings underlying the streets and highways in the township. His report said:

"After making an analysis of the amount expended to date in maintenance and repairs of streets that might be traced directly to previous mining, I find this amount to have been so small that I would not recommend to your board the purchase of any coal for the protection of streets."

The coal company has agreed to revise its original price for coal to private property owners, Vegeler said at the meeting, and the township officials and representatives of the company will meet this week to discuss the new price.

Until the final price negotiations have been completed the injunction and condemnation proceedings authorized by the commissioners will be held in abeyance, Township Solicitor E. B. Goldsmith said last night.

GIRL SLUGGED, PURSE TAKEN

Slugged by a Negro holdup man in McPherson street near her home early today, Miss Alice Dean, 22, of the Ida Apartments, 6725 McPherson street, was knocked to her knees and robbed of her purse. The highwayman fled, leaving her stunned. The purse contained $3.

Hugh Parker, 60, of 70 Marion street, reported to police today that while he was walking in a corridor on the fourth floor of the Improvement of the Poor Hotel, Duquesne way, he was overpowered by two men and robbed of $4.

PERCHERS DEFY ALL BUT SNOW

"The weather man will have to send snow to get us down out of here."

So said James Gravely today:

James and his two brothers, Robert and Lawrence, and their cousin, Sammy King, had to have extra blankets sent up the last couple of nights, but say they have been as comfortable as ever. The boys have completed 670 hours in two trees in the rear of 631 Sickles street, East End.

The three boys engaged in a bicycle endurance contest in the Morningside district are completing their seventh day of continuous riding, a total of 168 hours without a stop of any kind. They say they have to pedal a little faster during the chilly hours of the night, but are as confident as ever of pumping ahead until September 1.

They are Danny Auslander, 13, of 817 Highview street; Al Slutzky, 13, of 5435 Stanton avenue, and Irwin Pittler, 12, of 1021 Jancey street.

BURGESS, CHIEF IN SEA RESCUE

Alfred Howard, a Philadelphia policeman, and his nephew, Michael Howard, 8, today owed their lives to Burgess William Turner and Police Chief Wallace Bishop, of Wilkinsburg, who rescued them from drowning at Ocean City, N. J. The pair were saved by the Wilkinsburg officials in the presence of thousands of persons.

Two lifeguards were struggling to rescue the Howards when Turner and Bishop jumped into a rowboat and went to their assistance. The policeman and boy were pulled into the boat, while the lifeguards clung to the craft until shore was reached. All had been caught in an undertow.

Railroad Worker Drowns in River

A body, found floating in the Ohio River near Groveton today by Eva Musnik, of Royal street, Groveton, was identified by Joseph Brenner, of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad camp at Groveton, as that of Edward Wagner, 40, a worker in the camp. According to the coroner's report, Wagner went swimming Sunday afternoon and was not heard from since. The body was removed to the county morgue.

Boy Check Forger Gets Training School

Richard Harry Jones, 16, of Houston, Pa., who pleaded guilty to forging five checks for $125 in the last two weeks, was sentenced to the national training school for boys at Wahington, by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today. Jones was brought back from Memphis, Tenn., for violating a federal parole given him on a previous forgery charge.

Tarentum Burgess Fines 14 Drivers

Continuing a drive against violations of the traffic ordinance in Tarentum, Burgess V. L. Henry at the Tarentum municipal building last night fined 14 motorists $5 each. Offenders who failed to appear for hearings will be haled before a justice of the peace, police said today.

PLEDGED LOOT RETURN IF HE 'HIT' POOL

Suspect Seized in Home Said to Have Told of Thefts to Play 'Numbers'

Eleven chain store holdups in the East End were cleared today, police say, with the arrest of Robert Fulton, 36, who told police he once was a Sunday school music director.

At a preliminary hearing in East End Police Court, today before Magistrate Charles Papale, Fulton admitted robbing a store at 433 Collins avenue, yesterday, of which J. J. Campbell is manager. Campbell identified him. Fulton was held over for further investigation.

Fulton's arrest last night at his home, 6453½ Aurelia street, came shortly after the holdup of a chain store at 6100 St. Marie street, where R. J. Gracey, the manager, and Miss Sarah Boyd, of 4901 Breesport street, the clerk, were held at bay by a robber who looted the cash register of $4.

TAKES LICENSE NUMBER

Miss Boyd saw the automobile of the robber as he fled and took its license number. Police found the machine parked in front of Fulton's home, they reported. Fulton was arrested at his dinner table without a struggle.

Confessing the robberies, Fulton, according to police, declared he used the cash obtained to play "numbers" on the clearing house lotteries.

PROMISES REPAYMENT

The robber who visited the St. Marie street store said he was "honest" and if he was lucky and "hit" the clearing house pool, the loot would be returned, his victims reported.

Similar remarks came from the bandit who walked into the Collins avenue store and from the one who visited a store at Kelly and Collier streets, yesterday afternoon.

HORSE TRAFFIC BAN UP TODAY

Operators of horse-drawn vehicles in the downtown district were to meet with representatives of the Better Traffic Committee today to discuss the elimination of horse-drawn vehicles from the district. The committee and operators will discuss elimination of horse-drawn vehicles in the Liberty tubes and on boulevards.

The meeting is to be held in the city council chamber at 1:30 o'clock. The committee for some time has been considering banning horse-drawn traffic in the downtown district entirely.

Youth Run Over Truck Driver Held

Grant Waltmeyer, 17, of 917 Carson street, critically injured with a crushed chest, suffered when he was run down by a Liberty Dairy Company truck driven by Harry Pfluger, 24, of 914 Cabot way, is in Mercy Hospital. Waltmeyer, it is said, tried to "catch a ride" on the back of the truck in Forbes street. As he leaped his foot slipped, and he was crushed under the wheels. Pfluger was arrested for reckless driving.

Ambridge Resident Stabbed 20 Times

Stabbed in the chest nearly 20 times during a brawl Anthony J. Oresky, 35, of Kristifek avenue, Ambridge, today was in Sewickley Valley Hospital in serious condition. Ambridge police arrested Andrew Gureal, 42, of Twenty-first street and Lens avenue, shortly after the stabbing late last night, and today were searching for Louis Mazur, 33, of 620 Elm way, in connection with the case.

Van of Groceries Stolen; Produce Truck Looted

A large van loaded with groceries was stolen this morning from the garage at 925 Behan street. W. A. Shaffer, of Coraopolis owner of the truck, reported the theft to police.

Yesterday Abe Levine, of Imperial, came to Pittsburgh to get a truck load of produce. After loading his truck he stopped in a restaurant in Twenty-first street. When he returned he discovered his car was missing. This morning police found the truck abandoned in North Euclid avenue. The produce had disappeared.

Owner of Beer Seized In Cache Sought

Prohibition agents today were endeavoring to establish the identity of the owner of 59 barrels of beer they reported seizing yesterday in a storage plant at Twenty-fourth and Smallman streets.

The beer, valued at $4,000, was seized, agents said, after permission had been given them to inspect the premises by the manager.

Eight other raids in the rural sections of Allegheny County netted the agents home brew and moonshine. Eight persons arrested in the raids were released on their own recognizance.

The Camera Question Box

Today's question — Believing her peculiarly fitted to handle county court work, Gov. Fisher has appointed a woman to a county court judgeship. What public offices do you believe might be capably handled by women?

SAM RUBENSTEIN, assistant store manager, Pittsburgh — I think women should not be barred from holding any high offices at all. Their brains are equal to those of men and there isn't any reason why they should not have just as good positions.

Sam Rubenstein

MISS BETTY WEITZEN, clerk, Hill District—All public offices should be open to women. They're just as capable as men and sometimes a lot more so. Frequently they could handle some offices in a much better manner.

Miss Weitzen

BEN SELIGSON, clerk, Squirrel Hill — I don't think that any woman, if she is sufficiently intelligent, should be kept away from public offices, even the high ones.

Ben Seligson

MISS MINERVA MICHAELS, shop manager, Carrick—It all depends on the woman's capability, of course, but if she has the brains I don't see why she should not hold a high office.

Miss Mich. els

MORRIS SELIGSON, store manager, Squirrel Hill—Women should be allowed to hold any public office at all, even that of President, if they are capably intelligent. Sex shouldn't have anything to do with a person's ability.

Morris Seligson

MISS DOROTHY SIMON, saleswoman, Elliot—A woman is entitled to any office if she has the brains and if she shows enough interest in it to work herself up to it.

Miss Simon

TROLLEY CARS, TRUCK CRUSH VICTIMS

Driver Must Report to Coroner; Police Hunt Five Sideswiping Auto

A girl and a boy are dead today, victims of traffic accidents in Glenwood and Brentwood late yesterday.

Eleven-year-old Bernadette Stromp, of 3025 Bremen avenue, Brentwood, was injured fatally when crushed between two street cars at the Brentwood loop in Brownsville road, according to a morgue report. She died in South Side Hospital.

Bernadette was on an errand for her father, C. F. Stromp, when she was struck. An investigation was begun by deputy coroners.

TRUCK KILLS BOY

Max Echtic, 37, of 178 Hallock street, Mt Washington, was to report to the coroner today in connection with the death of Oliver Lengyel, 5, of 5 Alluvian street, police said. The Lengyel boy was killed when struck by a truck driven by Echtic at Second avenue and Renova street, it was reported.

Joseph Semensky, 23, of 427 Versailles avenue, Oak Hill, escaped with bruises when he was forced to jump from his car as a bus forced the machine off the Lincoln Highway near Bierly Crest at 4:30 a. m. today. Semensky's automobile toppled down a 200-foot embankment and was wrecked, he reported to East Pittsburgh police.

John Sonderdick, 70, of 200 Braddock avenue, Braddock, suffered a fracture of the right arm and shoulder when struck by an automobile at Second and Braddock avenues, Braddock, yesterday. He was treated in Braddock General Hospital, then went home. James L. Lacock, 318 Mill street, rear, Braddock, arrested as driver of the car, was released under bond.

WOMAN'S CAR HITS GIRL

Sofia Ossanik, 19, of 576 Stokes avenue, North Braddock, suffered lacerations when struck by a car in Hawkins avenue, North Braddock. She was taken to Braddock General Hospital, and went home after being treated. The car was driven by Mrs F. C. Marvin, of 506 Greendale avenue, Edgewood, according to a police report.

William Harpish, 21, of 402 Atwood street, was arrested on a charge of violating the automobile laws this morning after his automobile crashed against a retaining wall in Second avenue at Greenfield avenue. The machine was wrecked, but Harpish escaped uninjured. Police say he had no driver's license.

Police are searching for five young men, who, early this morning, while speeding in Fifth avenue, Oakland, sideswiped the machine of J. D. Allen, of 5158 Carnegie avenue. Both machines were traveling toward East End when the youths sped past Allen's auto, striking it heavily.

OWES TOWNSHIP $508, REPORT DECLARES

Finding Based on Records Of Police; Justice Says Politics Behind Statement

Mt. Lebanon's politics, simmering ever since the township fathers moved into the new $240,000 municipal building, boiled over again last night when Agnes R. Joyce, newly elected township auditor, filed a report accusing Justice of the Pe : Ira H. Edmundson of withholding $508 from the township treasury.

In the report, signed by the three auditors of the township, Mrs. Joyce, George R. Fisher and F. Carl Long, Edmundson is reported to have made no remittances of fines collected for the last quarter of 1924 nor for the years from 1925 to 1929 inclusive.

BASED ON RECORDS

The report is based on records found in the basement of the municipal building, made on police cards. Edmundson, the report states, paid into the treasury $312 of $820 due the township, but has not remitted the $508 balance he is charged with in the reportt.

In a letter read at last night's meeting Edmundson asked the commissioners for an itemized account of any money they may think he owes the township. The auditors' report was accepted but will not be approved until after study of it is made by the commissioners.

CHARGES POLITICS

Edmundson said last night there is a lot of politics in the auditor's report. He declared:

"This audit is purely political. From police department records of automobile law violations has been tabulated a total of fines imposed, some which were remitted to the state. If a detailed accounting of the records is prepared and submitted to me and I find by checking this against my records that anything is due the township I will pay it. When an intelligent checkup is made I am sure it will show that all fines due the township have been remitted."

RIVER ROAD AID BY CITY SET

An ordinance authorizing the Department of Public Works to do relocation work on the Ohio River boulevard by a "gentlemen's agreement with Allegheny County will be introduced at a special meeting of Council tomorrow.

Due to the inability of the county to condemn certain church property on a short section of the boulevard, the ordinance provides that the city do so and start work on the project. After this is done, the county agrees to pay the expenses incurred, except certain lighting requirements costing $11,500 and the repaving of street car tracks, estimated to cost $17,500.

The site in question is a part of California avenue from Superior avenue to Atmore street, near the Island Avenue Bridge. There the boulevard will be widened to 80 feet with a 60-foot roadway. Two sidewalks, each 10 feet wide, will complete the improvement.

NEW SHOWERS ANNOUNCED

SUPPORT SUIT WRIT ASKED

Claiming he did not know where his wife and three children have been for the past two years, until he was arrested by a deputy sheriff charged with failing to support his wife, Bruno Stulpin, of Walkers Heights, Elizabeth, is demanding that he be released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. The case will be heard in Common Pleas Court tomorrow.

Stulpin was taken into custody Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Nick Spanivich. Stulpin says his wife deserted him about August 1, 1928 taking their children from their home in Elizabeth.

'GAS' STATION FIRE CHECKED

Chemicals were used by firemen to extinguish a gasoline fire at the service station of the Standard Oil Company, South Twenty-third and Carson streets, last night. Firemen said the blaze started from an overheated motor of a truck which was being filled with gasoline.

Flames which reached the filling pumps were quickly extinguished while a large crowd looked on. The damage was estimated at $150.

COUNCIL GETS FUND TRANSFER

A resolution providing the transfer of $173,000 from other appropriations to the Bureau of Highways and Sewers for wages to 800 employes of that department, was heard by Council yesterday at a special meeting.

At the same time the finance committee reported the matter favorably for final action at a meeting tomorrow.

The money, most of which will be taken from the police and fire fund, according to President John S. Herron, of Council, will be used to pay day laborers hired by the Bureau of Highways and Sewers on various city projects.

Last week Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, announced that 200 men faced indefinite layoff and 200 more work on part time scales, due to the fact that appropriations for this purpose had been exhausted. Later an arrangement to culminate in the final fund transfer tomorrow was instituted by Lang and Herron.

BLONDE, DAGUE APPEAL EARLY

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 12—Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, of counsel for Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague, now under sentence of death for the murder of Corp. Brady Paul, announced that it was expected to make the appeal to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in the next few days. If the appeal is made within that time, as now anticipated by Attorneys Dickey and Jarrett, the defense counsel, it will be heard by the Supreme Court in its Pittsburgh session, commencing September 29.

Should the Supreme Court refuse to review the case or refuse a new trial, the only step left the defendants will be an appeal to the Pardon Board.

Boys Admit Theft At Pool, Two Fined

Andrew Kreil, 18, of 418 Manor street, and Michael Murin, 17, of 812 Windom street, admitted in Morals Court, today, stealing money and valuables from lockers at the Oliver municipal swimming pool, South Eighteenth and Bingham streets. They were fined $25 each, with the option of spending 30 days in jail, by Magistrate T. D. Jones.

Struck by Trolley, Dies of His Injuries

Walter Hayes, 50, of 4709 Butler street, died today in the Pittsburgh Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when struck by a street car on Freeport road, near Blawnox, according to a report to the coroner.

The victim was walking when hit by a West Penn Power Company car, the report stated.

Police Seek Body Of Bridge Suicide

River patrolmen today were still dragging the Monongahela River in the vicinity of the Liberty Bridge for the body of an unidentified man who leaped from the span early yesterday. Police began the search after being informed by two motorists who said they saw the man climb the railing and jump into the stream.

PROTEST COST OF PAVING.

Property owners residing in Laketon road, Wilkinsburg, protested against the district assessment for road improvements at a meeting in the Wilkinsburg Borough Council chamber last night. Handclapping and hissing marked the hearing, attended by more than 100 men and women property owners.

The meeting ended when the matter was referred to the street committee, borough engineer and the borough solicitor, who will attempt to reach an agreement with a committee of objectors.

Burgess W. M. Turner and former Burgess J. R. Langley, one of the protestants, engaged in a debate during the session. Langley charged certain property owners on Laketon road should be very well satisfied to pay, having been especially benefited by the improvement. He said he was perfectly willing to pay the $1,900 assessed against his property on the thoroughfare.

Three Ward Sisters Leave Tonight for Winter Of Study Abroad

Boys and girls who go to school in the States will not begin to think of packing their favorite possessions and tripping off to school until early September. But those who'll study abroad during the coming winter will have to leave within the next week or so.

Mrs. C. S. B. Ward, of Dunmoyle street, and her three daughters, Katherine Leila Ward, Mary Virginia Ward and Elizabeth Ward, will leave tonight for New York and sail Thursday on the Lafayette for Europe for a year.

The girls will study in Paris this winter, and Katherine Leila will probably be a debutante the following winter.

Bridal Party

Autumn now seems near at hand and autumn means first of all a procession of autumn brides. Leading the procession will be Josephine O. Nicola, daughter of the Oliver P. Nicolas of the Schenley Apartments, whose marriage to David Meade Gilmore, son of the Edward Gilmores of Sewickley, will be an event of September 8.

Josephine has named her bridal party, and decided on the place and time of the ceremony. The wedding will take place at "Hillside," the Sewickley Heights home of the Lewis A. Parks at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and will be followed by a reception in the Allegheny Country Club. And the wedding trip will include a tour of England, France and Italy.

The marriage of Miss Lois P. Snyder, daughter of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Snyder, of Broadway Dormont to Thomas Y. Stine, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Stine of Reedsburg, Wis., took place

Dormont Wedding

Saturday at noon in the home of the bride's parents with her father officiating. Her brother, J. Paul Snyder, gave her in marriage and she was attended by Miss Margaret Malkey, as maid of honor, and a sister, Mrs. Harry M. Landis, as honor matron. The former wore pink net with hat to match and carried garden flowers, and Mrs. Landis wore a gown of blue net with matching hat and the same flowers. Clifford H. Snyder, a brother of the bride, was Mr. Stine's best man.

Breakfast at the South Hills Country Club with covers for 46 followed the ceremony. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stine will be at home in Madison. The former is a graduate of Carroll College and the University of Wisconsin and the bride of Margaret Morrison College.

Mrs. Lewis A. Park, of Sewickley Heights, will be matron of honor, and Mrs. Oliver P. Nicola, Jr., who was formerly Alice Childs, Genevieve Bell, Elizabeth Scott, Helen Murdoch and Virginia Goldsbury, all leaders in the younger set, and Edith Wills, of Greenwich, Conn., niece of Mrs. Grant McCargo, will be bridesmaids. And Leila D. Jones, little daughter of the William Latimer Joneses, and Margaret Singer, daughter of the Harton Singers, will be flower girls.

Flower Girls

David Ingalls, of Cleveland and Washington, who is assistant secretary of the Navy for the aviation department, a classmate of the bridegroom-elect at Yale, will be best man. Harvey Childs III, Stewart McClintic, Oliver P. Nicola, Jr., Walton Scully, Clarence Stanley, John S. Laughlin, Lewis A. Park, Stanley Quay, William I. Standish III, and Dudley Young will be ushers.

Others who'll serve as ushers will be William H. Harkness, Meade Keller, F. M. Gould, Alexander Neave, George Bowdoin and Staunton Williams, all of New York, and K. A. Wood, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Newell A. August, of St. Louis, Mo.

And after the wedding trip is over, Mr. Gilmore and his bride-to-be will live in Sewickley.

A former Pittsburgh society woman, Mrs. George Mesta, of Washington, will have as her guest this weekend at The Rocks, the Newport place she has taken for the summer, Vice President Curtis.

Honor Guest

On Friday night she'll give a dinner in his honor for about 50 guests. On Saturday the Eugene S. Reynals will give a luncheon for him, and Saturday night, the Arthur Curtiss Jameses will give a dinner. That evening Mr. Curtiss will go to Providence to be the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Webster Knight. And he will probably visit the horse show on Saturday afternoon since his daughter will be one of the exhibitors.

Plaster for Ache Costs Patient $3,991

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—A week ago Henry Benson had a stomach ache and a Gypsy woman told him someone had put a curse on him, but if he would bring her $4,000 she would make a plaster out of the money that would cure him.

He went to the bank and withdrew the money. The plaster was made and he was told to wear it five days and return. He went back, but the woman had disappeared. The plaster was removed and nine $1 bills fell to the floor.

Police searched for the Gypsy while Benson went home to nurse a headache.

Pitt Savant Going To Belgian Meeting

Prof. Alexander Silverman, head of the chemistry department at the University of Pittsburgh and one of the 15 delegates from United States to the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry at Liege, Belgium, will sail for Europe on the Lafayette on August 21.

On September 7, as a delegate of the American Ceramic Society, he will attend the tenth congress of Industrial Chemistry at Liege.

Tuesday Musical Club Members Travel in Canada, Europe

Tuesday Musical Club members continue to come and go on summer travels. Mrs. J. Smith Christy, last year's vice chairman of the tea committee and chairman of the committee on active membership, with Mr. Christy, started Saturday on a motor trip to Canada to be gone for the remainder of the month. Martha Meyers Murdock, second vice president, is with her mother at the latter's summer place on the William Penn Highway near Bedford.

Mrs. David A. Pitcairn has returned from Europe and is now at her summer home in Canada, where she is entertaining a house party of young people. Mr. and Mrs. John Darr, the latter another tea committee member, are at Eaton's Ranch in Wyoming this summer; Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hetzel are in Canada, as are Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Horner, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Lewis and Dr. and Mrs. Alvan W. Sherrill, who are following their established custom of summering with the Iron City Fishing Club. Canada has also claimed Jean McCrory Newman and her husband, C. Frederick Newman, who are spending a fortnight in Montreal.

Ruth Thoburn Knox and her husband, William F. Knox, are home from a six-week European tour, the Ralph Lewandos are in California for the entire summer, Mrs. Louis E. Huseman is at Silver Bay, Mrs. E. H. Tener is at Lord's Point, Conn., and Henrietta Meyer Bodycombe and her family have returned from a tour of Canada and New York with a week at Atlantic City.

The new year books of the Ingram Woman's Club list a varied and attractive program for the coming season.

Program Listed

The year will open with president's day, September 22, in the home of Mrs. J. M. Rayburn, Prospect avenue. Mrs. L. C. Hess, the new executive, will welcome the guests and will receive the usual greetings from visitors. Elsie Breese Mitchell, chairman of music at the Congress of Clubs, and the Ingram Club Choral will furnish the music. The October meeting is to be in charge of the committee for the blind, the members of which have planned a tea and a sale of goods made by the sightless.

November will bring educational day, with Mrs. H. C. Reller, a past president of the Woman's Club of Pittsburgh, telling of her experiences in "The Land of the Midnight Sun." A feature of special interest will be a Christmas party on December 29, which the Junior Section, under Mrs. Parks Garrett, will give. Mrs. C. C. Cribbs, chairman of literature, has the January meeting, at which a book review will be given by Mrs. E. R. Davidson and Bess Streeter Aldrich will read "A Lantern in Her Hand." The music committee, under Mrs. Frank C. Rex, will give a musicale tea in March, and in April David E. Terry, of the Children's Service Bureau, will give a talk appropriate to the club's public welfare day. Election is also scheduled for this meeting. The May meeting will be designated as Health Day and will have Dr. D. T. James talking on "Children's Dentistry." The year will close with a luncheon on June 1, with the year's history by Miss Adda Hainer. Mrs. Frank Rex furnishing the music and Mrs. Norval R. Daugherty, a past president of the Oakland Women's Club reading.

BLACK AND WHITE PREDICTED POPULAR FOR FALL WEAR

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Seeing style express itself in black and white is a frequent experience here these days. At a time when feminism is dominating the fashion world and black is influencing the entire wardrobe, the imposing touches of white seem to be the most effective way of attaining just the degree of femininity the black costume needs. Sometimes it is found in a yoke of handsome lace. Again it may be a softly draped collar of silk or of a white fur such as ermine or flat caracul. But whether the gown is of a rich velvet or heavy satin or whether it is of a less formal material and designed for casual wear, a bit of white on the black costume is ubiquitous. Not only is there particular verve in this contrast but fashion is hereby recognizing what every woman knows—that a bit of white relief near the face is a most flattering attribute.

SIGNIFICANT OF the current interests in black and white is the timely creation by Molyneux sketched here today. The couturier made this costume for the socially prominent Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt. It is an interesting illustration of how smart a jacket and dress of black georgette may be when discreetly trimmed in white. A plain white collar terminates in a soft bow posed somewhat below the shoulder in front. The bow as a decorative motif is repeated on the skirt, which is intricately cut to slenderizing effect, the bow tying over the hip.

AN ORIGINAL CONCEPTION of the sun-tan bathing suit as developed in black and white is also shown. A glance at the sketch is sufficient to recognize that the model justly deserved the enthusiastic reception it received when recently shown at Le Concourse d'Elegance, organized by L'Intransigeant. It is of black jersey with white applique which extends to form a single shoulder strap, an unusually youthful and practical style for the active water nymph.

AIR HERO HURT IN AUTO WRECK

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Unscathed in flights over half the world, Germany's 24-year-old aviation hero, Baron Friedirch Karl von Warthausen, was severely injured in the collision of an automobile and a milk wagon.

Several hours after the accident he was still unconscious, suffering concussion of the brain, but physicians believed he would recover. Four friends with him in the automobile were also hurt.

It was his second automobile accident in the United States. A taxicab crash in El Paso, Tex., last year put him in the hospital for three months.

Baron von Warthausen first attracted attention in aviation a year ago when he flew from Berlin to Singapore in a plane weighing only 550 pounds. Despite official orders from home to abandon the flight he continued, shipped his plane across the Pacific and then flew it from Los Angeles to New York. Germany then hailed him as a national hero.

Sleep Soundly
Smile In Your Dreams!

This pretty nurse to say "good-night" is undoubtedly a help—not only because of her good-night smile, but because she brings a glass of Welch's. Taken just before retiring, this pure juice of luscious Concord grapes quickly leads to restful slumber. While you sleep, its rich fruit nourishment and mineral salts are readily digested and quickly assimilated into the blood-stream. They restore your broken down body-tissues, build you up. Make this two-weeks test. Each night before retiring sip a large glass of Welch's—adding one-third water, if you like. Before long you'll find yourself sleeping like a top and waking up feeling like a million dollars! Try it also as a breakfast fruit. Six liberal portions to the pint make it the most temptingly delicious 5c drink in America. Recommended by physicians and on the diet-list of leading hospitals.

3 SLAIN, FATHER DIES IN FIRE

KINSLEY, Kan., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Albert Watkins was charged in a coroner's finding last night with slaying his three children and taking his own life by a "gasoline fire."

Firemen extinguished a blaze at the Watkins home and found the four bodies in an upstairs room near an empty five-gallon gasoline can.

The coroner's jury report found the death of Watkins and his children, Erline, 9; Margaret, 8, and Charles, 2, resulted "from gasoline fire with Watkins' intent to kill the children and himself."

Mrs. Watkins, employed in a Kinsley store, said there had been no family trouble and she knew no reason for the slayings.

BOGGS & BUHL

COATS with the New, Chic Dress-Like Details—Special

A New Group in the August Sale

$55

Among the most important news in fashions for fall is that coats must look like dresses. They may match, blend, or harmonize cloth and fur—they may flare high or low, and often wear belts—but they must always have the bulkless, "moulded-on" effects for which leading dress styles are noted.

Coats in the August Sale show this new, individual dress-like treatment—and very great values at their August prices. They have the

1. Wraparound skirt.
2. The high-placed flare.
3. The slim hipline.
4. The blouse and bolero back.
5. The individual sleeve treatment.
6. Important seaming and tuckings.

They are worked on high-priced materials—Norma cloths, Broadcloths, Crepey Woolens, Tweeds. They are trimmed with furs not to be duplicated at this price in season—Caracul, Fitch, Skunk, Beaver, Raccoon, Mountain Lynx, Wolf, French Nutria, Silver Dyed Fox. They have such lovely airs and such low August prices that they are real "finds" at $55—worth shopping the town and coming back for, as many smart women have.

COLORS—Black, Navy, Mauve Brown, Chocolate Brown, Boxwood Green, Rubytone.

SIZES—Women's, 36 to 42. Half sizes, 40½ to 50½. Misses', 14 to 20.

Coats at $85 and $110 show similar details in exquisite materials and more costly furs. See them tomorrow!

Second Floor

Is Your Hat Unbalanced?

These Are—It's Smart!

Soft cushion brims that sit high on the head and swerve far down to one side. What there is of berets perched at an angle at the peak of the skull. Helmets showing the hairline, both back and front.

No matter how they differ in their own respects, the new hats agree in this: they want to be tipped and tilted in the new Paris manner—to show your pretty curls—to give you a young, jaunty, naive, but surprisingly becoming look!

Shown in velvet and the new wafer-weight felts, in Black and these fall colors: Chocolate Brown, Bright Navy, Corinthian Green, Winetone.

Second Floor

Indelible Marking Outfit

50c

The very thing for anyone who is going away to school or on a vacation where his "belongings" are liable to become mixed.

Very simple to use—your name is stenciled on a card and the ink need only be rubbed over the card to produce the imprint.

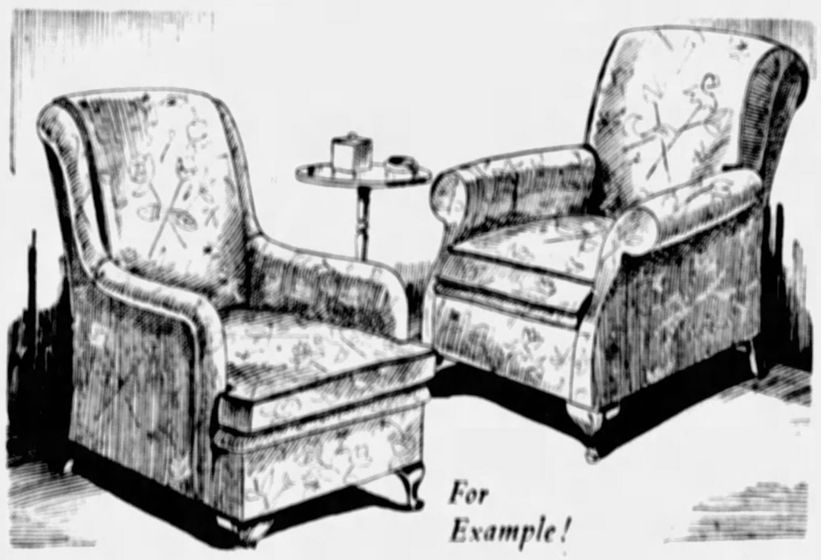
AUGUST FURNITURE SALE

This is the time of times to buy furniture—and Boggs & Buhl is the place of places. Your furniture dollar will buy more quality, style-rightness and comfort than it has for many years. How lucky are the brides of 1930!



For Example!

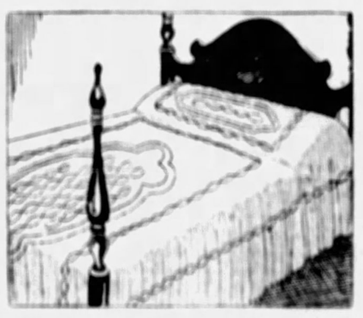
Fireside Chairs

Down Filled for Comfort

$79.50

The kind every man likes to sink into with his favorite sports page. The one shown on the left is a smart club chair with all down seat and back. The one on the right is a handsomely designed high-back club chair, with a comfortable down spring back and down-filled seat cushion. Either one covered to your own selection from a large showing of tapestries. Unusually low priced at $79.50.

Furniture, Fourth Floor



Just 500 Candlewick BED SPREADS

$2.25

The lowest price we have ever been able to mark bedspreads of this high character. Genuine candlewick spreads made in the mountains of Georgia. Tufted by hand on splendid grade ivory white cloth in these colors:

Rose Blue Gold
Green Orchid

They are easily laundered and require no ironing. Single or double-bed size—a remarkable August special at $2.25.

MISS HARD-BOILED

Raquel Learns About Trip From Other Model

CHAPTER XXIV.

Raquel stood on the deck close to the rail, until the mass of moving figures and waving arms on the pier receded into the night. Points of light swam in the darkness on each side of the molten mass that was the river, picking out forms of black shadows that reached toward the stars.

"Adios, New York," Raquel murmured. "Adios, beautiful city."

"Beautiful!" Greta exclaimed, leaning forward to see if this strange Raquel were indeed in earnest. "How do you get that way?"

"Now, now, Miss Greta," Alphonse was displeased. "Le petite Raquel has her dreams. You must not disturb them. Come, we go below."

Raquel realized she felt chilly.

Alphonse bowed his good-nights at the door of the suite.

"My cabin is in the next corridor—No. 16A," he said. "If you should want me for anything whatever, send the steward. Bon voyage, mon petites."

While they were on deck a basket of fruit had made its appearance on the table. A large basket, in the shape of a gondola, bearing big orange spheres, [illegible] figs, clusters of black grapes as big as walnuts, jolly red apples, large rosy-skinned globes that looked like quinces, but that were, Greta informed Raquel, "pomegranates," and wows at that.

Thrilled

"Alphonse has done himself proud," said Greta. Her slant eyes, blue as cornflowers in a field of ripe wheat, were fixed on Raquel.

All the wisdom that had come to women down the ages was in the crinkles at the corners of those childish blue eyes.

"It's why it's too wonderful to be true," breathed Raquel, burying her nose in the tall roses. "Like a magician had done it and any minute he'll wave his wand and take it away."

"You'll get over that," Greta predicted.

"You've been to Paris before?"

Greta shrugged her shoulders wearily.

"This is my sixth crossing," she said.

"Sixth! Why, you must have started when you were a baby."

Greta eyed Raquel sharply. Yes, this strange girl was sincere.

"Thanks, old dear," she said. "That was a neat compliment. I see we're going to get along swell. I'm not such an infant as I look."

Sleep would not come to Raquel that night. The consciousness of motion, unfamiliar sounds, even the yellow and silver canopy over her bed kept her brain racing, her eyes wide. Light came, it seemed, before she was comfortably settled in bed. She walked to a window, high and round, with the glass pushed back. Nothing was visible out there on the gray-green stretch of dancing water.

Sleep Impossible

There was a pile of books, new, with the gayly-colored covers still on them, on the table by her bed. Magazines on the rack under the table. She crawled back into bed. Tried to compose herself to read. She could do no more than turn over the pages unseeingly.

After what seemed to her to be hours, she arose. She would make a leisurely toilet. Her clothes had been unpacked, neatly arranged in a long closet. Yards of beautiful clothes on satin-covered hangers.

"I'll try this pleated skirt with the small red and black checks," she decided, "and the red slip-over blouse. It's gay, like I feel."

When she was fully dressed, she went into the gray room of the suite, and tapped lightly on Greta's door. A drowsy voice told her to "Come in."

Greta was snuggled down in the pillows, her head swathed in gypsy fashion in a length of blue chiffon that failed to rival the blue of her eyes.

"When do we go to breakfast?" asked Raquel apologetic for the intrusion. "I'm starved."

"Good heavens!" Greta yawned like a lazy kitten. "Do you always get up in the middle of the night?"

"It's after 10."

"I told you. Crack of dawn. Ring this bell here. The third one marked steward. We never go down for breakfast. It's served here in our rooms. Order me a flock of orange juice, will you, old dear?" And some Perrier. Might as well get used to it now.

Raquel Puzzled

Some what?"

"Perrier Water. With bubbles in it."

"We have oranges out there in the basket. There's ice water, too. Shall I fetch you a glass?"

"No, thanks, dearie. There was once a chorus girl, too, who had a book."

"We have lots of books. Here on your table. There are more in my room."

Greta groaned.

"Say, dearie," she said, "You're too good to be true. Honest Heavens! How I'd like a flock of coffee. Black as a shoe and piping hot."

"Surely they have coffee on the ship—"

"I'll say they have. It's very popular. Especially the morning after. But not for little Greta. I've got to think of my complexion. If I lost it, good night!"

"It doesn't seem to bother me," Raquel said, doubtfully. "I've always drunk it."

Greta sat up in bed, studied Raquel closely.

"Gee!" she said. "It's real."

"What's real?" Raquel was puzzled.

"That pallid look you have. Like a bowl of pearls served with thick cream. Take it from me, old dear, you're going to be an eyeful of good news to the boys along the Rue de la Paix and the Bois."

Greta climbed out of bed. Through the thin white silk of her pajamas which made her look more than ever like a pretty boy, her flesh showed pink and firm.

Compliments

"Might as well get up," she yawned. "We'll go out on deck and get a load of air in our lungs. It's been so long since I had any really fresh air that the old bellows think I've died and have folded up."

She poked through more yards of clothing in her closet.

"That red certainly looks nifty on you, dearie," she said. "Let me see. I'd better go in for this bisque thing, so we won't clash."

She held the dress before her, studying the effect in the long mirror.

"It makes your hair look like raw gold. Just after it's come from the mines," said Raquel. One knew she was thinking aloud.

"Gosh, dearie, you are certainly going to be a comfort to me. As for the mines, I'm some handy little gold-digger, as you'll soon see if you stick around. There's the steward. Tell him to make it snappy."

A half hour later Raquel and Greta were walking briskly along a smooth boardwalk that completely girdled the immense building that was rollicking along on the surface of the ocean.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Loves Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Volunteers to Accompany Lillian on Visit

"I mean," I said steadily in answer to Harry Underwood's question, "that it is very probable Robert, if his condition be such as his letter indicates, will not survive the unexpected joy of Lillian's visit. If I am right in this premonition, I suppose I ought to call it, then there will be no necessity for Lillian staying there. Her mission is to the living, not to the dead, and Marion need know nothing of her mother's going up there."

"You forget, my dear," Harry Underwood returned dryly, "that Robert Savarin is a famous artist. His death will be given some space in all the newspapers."

"But not first-page headlines," I retorted, "and if you think Marion or any of her comrades are reading the newspapers at this time of the year, you're—"

"Have another think coming," he finished for me. "That is probably true, but there is always the chance of her seeing it, you know."

"Yes, I know," I returned. "But I also know—please don't think me cynical, but I have had unusual opportunities to study adolescent boys and girls—that after a few minutes of genuine shocked grief Marion will be too busy and absorbed in the holiday rush to think much about him. But, of course, if she knew her mother had gone up there, she would be terribly upset. She fears unhappiness for her mother above everything."

"I know she does," Marion's stepfather replied soberly. "I am sure that was at the roots of her dislike of me, her knowledge that I had made her mother unhappy in the past, and her fear that the leopard had not changed his spots."

He smiled ruefully, and I again voiced a reassurance for the doubt which patently still lingered in his mind.

"But she has completely lost that fear now," I told him vehemently, "and all you have to do is to keep on playing the wonderful father role which you have portrayed so well since you came back."

"It isn't acting," he said hastily. "But I don't care what you call it as long as Marion accepts it. However, this is beside the question. Suppose your premonition is not correct and Robert Savarin needs Lil—for the whole Christmas time—"

"She must not stay," I said quickly. "Granting an uttered prayer to see her is one thing—"

"You know Lil," he said, "and you also know I cannot limit her in anything pertaining to this. I am going to urge her to stay as long as she thinks he needs her. And if she is up there alone, his sister probably will."

"Would you like me to go with Lillian?" I asked quietly.

He started, then seized both my hands and crushed them in his.

"I might have known," he said. "And don't think I haven't eyes to see how much you have on hand this holiday time. But I don't dare to protest. I only can be thankful."

"You can be something else," I told him hurriedly, embarrassed by his enthusiastic gratitude. "You can be of use to me in persuading Dicky not only that Lillian and I ought to go, but that he must stay here while I am gone. Those three nephews of his are a double handful."

I turned toward the path leading back to the farmhouse, and he fell into step beside me, putting his hand beneath my arm that I might not stumble.

"I'll talk to him or pummel him, whichever he needs to bring him to reason," he promised, as we hurried down the hill.

We found Dicky standing with William near the kitchen door. Henry was nowhere to be seen, and Dicky answered my raised eyebrows with a smile.

"Henry's getting a lesson in skinning rabbits, and he and Jim are preparing them for the stew pot," he said. "He may not be so anxious for the great open spaces when he gets through."

"Yes," he will," William asserted. "Hank doesn't mind those things the way I do. I wish I didn't."

"Why?" Dicky demanded with a touch of truculence for which I blessed him, especially as I guessed he had assumed it for William's benefit. "I go shooting occasionally, but I'm lazy enough to let somebody else do the part of the job which I don't like. Have you ever heard, William, of the philosophic observation of the aged dame who bestowed a kiss upon her cow?"

William considered a second, then his face lighted up as his troubled eyes met his uncle's mirthful ones.

"You mean that one about 'Everybody to his own taste,'" he quoted.

"Exactly," Dicky said as he turned away from the relieved boy toward us. "Remember that, William, as you travel along life's highway. It's a most comfortable maxim and will save you a great deal of trouble. Well, what's the program?" He turned to Harry and me with a bland air of inquiry which I knew masked lively curiosity and interest.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Gamble With Your Sight!

We all know the colored part of the eye is the iris. It is brown or blue or black or gray.

The iris is really a muscle. What appears to be a black patch in the middle is a hole in the iris. This is the "pupil" which varies in size as the muscles and circulation of blood cause it to dilate and contract.

Of course the iris is subject to disease as is any other muscle. Its most disagreeable ailment is called "iritis."

In iritis, or inflammation of this muscle, the most marked symptom is pain. This may be located either in the eyeball, or in the forehead between the brows. There is much watering of the eye and bright lights cause distress.

There is a zone of redness in the "white of the eye," around the iris, together with dimness of vision. The redness gradually spreads until the entire white may become inflamed. The pupil, which normally reacts to light and shade, becomes fixed in iritis.

This condition requires careful attention in order that the sight may not be affected permanently. Valuable time is sometimes lost by mistaking the trouble for "conjunctivitis," which is an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the eyelid and covering the eyeball.

Reading, or any close work, must be avoided, and dark glasses may be worn for comfort. But the underlying cause must be cleared up before recovery can be expected.

In the chronic form there may be present some blood disease, tuberculosis or diabetes. In this case the constitutional disease is probably the cause of the iritis. Your doctor will institute the necessary general treatment.

But if the cause is obscure, a search must be made to find where the trouble lies. Chronic constipation, pyorrhea, decayed teeth, abscessed tonsils are all factors in producing the disease.

In the control of this disease I want to emphasize the importance of plenty of rest and relief from nervous excitement. The patient should spend much time out of doors and exercise reasonably. But he must be careful to avoid the bright sunlight. The diet should be carefully watched.

In treating iritis the pupil is kept dilated by the medicine the doctor prescribes. For the relief of the pain, the application of heat, as hot as can be borne, is the most beneficial. Capsicum vaseline applied to the temple may help to relieve the suffering.

If there is redness of the eye or any pain, be sure to consult your doctor immediately. The trouble is probably not serious, but do not take a chance.

Answers to Health Queries

M. E. Q.—What causes sties and what treatment is suggested?

2. What can be done to overcome the habit of blushing?

3. What should a girl of 14, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weigh?

A.—For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2. This is usually due to youth and self-consciousness. Try to cultivate poise and ease of manner—mingling with people, keeping up with the topics of the day, to give you confidence in conversation, and taking an active part in affairs will all help you.

3. She should weigh about 125 pounds.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, August 13

Hostile, adverse and frustrating astral forces are in the ascendant on this day, according to the lunar and mutual configuration. This applies to employment, business transactions and to domestic and artistic activities. Under this direction it will be difficult to make much progress and the best advice is to work along the lines of least resistance, conserving the funds and maintaining harmony and equanimity so far as possible.

Those whose birthday it is are under a forecast of a year of delays and obstructions, with employment in jeopardy and the personal relations carrying menace of inharmony and disappointment, unless every precaution be taken to shun friction and disturbance. The funds should be preserved from loss and extravagance. The best advice is to plod along with determination and equipoise.

A child born on this day should be given a practical education and one to develop patience, perseverance and hopeful resistance toward obstructions. Also frugality should be inculcated.

Household Hints

For quick seasoning, I have a large shaker filled with a quarter part pepper and three-quarters of salt already mixed. It's in a convenient spot in the kitchen and saves steps and time.

In making a veal loaf to serve either hot or cold, add salt pork for flavor and fat. The veal is greatly in need of high seasonings and fat. The veal loaf may be chilled after it is baked and cut in thin slices to serve on a cold meat platter with potato salad.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Correct Introduction

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct for a woman who is sitting down to stand up when being introduced?

2. Is a salad (tomato and lettuce) eaten at the beginning of the meal or with the other food?

MARY.

If she is being introduced to another woman, she stands to receive the introduction. But if a man is being introduced to her, she does not stand.

2. The customary place for a salad in a meal is after the roast course. Now it is usually served as a separate course so that the full value of the taste of the salad will be maintained. It is accompanied by cheese and crackers, usually.

However, sometimes salads are served as the first course, especially in certain sections of the country. Then, too, of course, it is often served with main course, the roast course. For instance, many people enjoy having the salad served with a steak, and indeed it is good! As a matter of fact, a salad is served according to choice.

Informal Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am to be married in the fall. I am going to have a home wedding with just the immediate families present. My fiance wishes to be married in a navy blue business suit. Would it be proper for me to be married in a pretty but plain white dress? Should I wear white gloves? Should I wear a hat?

2. Is it proper to invite the minister to stay at the home for luncheon?

M.

If it is definite that your fiance will wear a business suit, you must adapt your attire to his. You may wear a white dress and hat, if both are of a plain type. With this informal costume, you would not wear gloves. If you prefer, you could wear a dress of a pastel shade becoming to you.

2. The minister is invited to stay to luncheon, but he will probably leave shortly after. At luncheon it is correct to give the minister the place on the left of the bride's mother, the groom's father sitting on her right.

Cubs and Robins Clash. Series Means Much. Fine Record by French. Soft Spot for Giants. Tinker Back in Game. Simpson's Ambitions.

CHICAGO GAMES MAY SWAY PENNANT

THE NEXT FEW days may shed considerable light on the question as to how the National League pennant race is going to wind up. And then again, they may not. It all depends upon the outcome of the important series between the Cubs and Robins in Chicago. If Babe Herman and his mates, who were ousted from first place yesterday when they suffered their fourth straight defeat in St. Louis, are routed in this engagement as they were in three out of four previous series with the Bruins, not only will they find themselves a disquieting distance behind the Cubs but the setback may prove a fatal blow to their morale.

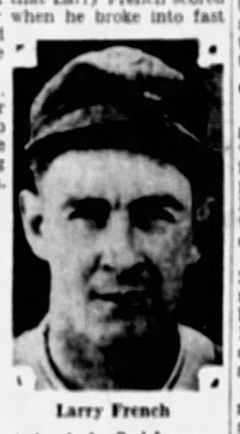
Babe Herman

On the other hand, if the Brooklynites turn the tables on their Windy City rivals and win the majority of the games in the series, they will make a neat recovery of lost ground and will be sitting pretty again, filled with new pep and confidence. A third possibility is an even break that will leave the clubs still practically deadlocked and keep the finish of the race as heavily shrouded in doubt as ever.

INDEED, THE UNCERTAINTY as to the result of the flag chase may be even greater than at present if the Cubs and Robins split their series on a fifty-fifty basis, for if that should happen and the Giants in the meantime should clean up in Cincinnati, the McGrawites would gain enough ground to put them right at the heels of the leading pair and make the fight again a three-cornered affair. So a great deal is likely to hinge on what develops between now and Friday night.

The capture of the majority of the games played in the present Cub series, which may be required to save Brooklyn's pennant chance from going on the rocks, will call for a big form reversal on the part of the Robins. For the Chicago club has been their particular jinx all season, having beaten the Flatbush crowd 11 times in their first 15 meetings. A continuance of that sort of thing through this week's four-game competition would just about smash Brooklyn's championship possibilities.

IT WAS OVER the Giants in New York that Larry French scored his first victory as a major league pitcher when he broke into fast company last year, but 15 months elapsed before he defeated them for the second time at Forbes Field yesterday.



Larry French

In his first start as a Pirate on May 7, in 1929, French won a 3-to-2 decision over Larry Benton in 10 innings at the Polo Grounds. He did not start another game against the McGrawites last year, working against them only twice more in relief roles.

THIS YEAR LARRY last four straight games to the Gotham gang and was knocked out in the first inning of a fifth start last Saturday, only to come back two days later and go through to a victory that ended the Bucs' losing streak of five straight. French is making an impressive record this year. He has now won 13 games, and Remy Kremer, with 14 to his credit, is the only pitcher in the National League who has won more. The Pirate southpaw also has pitched 14 complete games, a total equaled only by Red Lucas. Larry has been in 29 contests all told. Of the 14 complete games he has pitched he has won all but three.*

THE GIANTS HAVE completed their season's schedule in Pittsburgh and will not be seen here again until next year. They were the first club in the league to play out the 1930 string of 11 games in this city, each of the six other teams still having some engagements to fill at the local grounds.

Though the New York club still is the circuit's best drawing card here and the most popular visiting attraction at Forbes Field, it probably is just as well for the home record of the Corsairs that the Ensmen will not be required to play host to the McGrawites on any more occasions.

FOR THE GIANTS have wrought more damage here during two consecutive seasons than any other club in the league. They have been cleaning up regularly at Forbes Field ever since the Bucs beat them three times in a row in the last three games of the 1928 season there.

Last year, the New Yorkers won seven games out of 10 in Pittsburgh, and this season they bagged eight out of 11, so that of their last 21 games in this city they took no fewer than 15. Probably no one regrets more than the Giants themselves the fact that their local bookings are ended.

Joe Tinker

THE SIGNING OF Joe Tinker to succeed Nick Allen, resigned, as manager of the Jersey City club of the International League, brings another of the famous old Cub champions back into baseball. The only other having any connection with organized ball at present is Johnny Evers, who is serving as a scout for the Braves. Frank Chance, Harry Steinfeldt and Pat Moran are dead, a long siege of illness last year forced Frank Schulte to give up playing in the minors, and the other members of the once mighty club have long since abandoned the sport for other business lines. Jimmy Archer catches one game each year, but it is only for the team representing the packing company by which he is employed in Chicago.*

TINKER HAS FILLED several managerial roles since he was part of the great infield combination of Tinker, Evers and Chance. His first job of that kind was as boss of the Cincinnati club in 1913, and after being supplanted by Buck Herzog there he piloted the Chicago Federal League team in 1914 and 1915.

When the Feds passed out, Joe became manager of the Chicago Nationals in 1916, but lasted only one year, and later was an Orlando magnate and manager in the Florida State League. During the first part of this season he assisted Billy Clymer in the management of the Buffalo club in the International League.

GEORGE SIMPSON rated the greatest of present-day sprinters, and who will be seen in Pittsburgh again this month when the

STOGIES WIN TWIN BILL

The Wheeling Stogies continued the fine pace they set in the Mid-Atlantic League last week by taking both ends of a double header with Scottdale yesterday. The Stogies won the first game, 7 to 2, and then captured the second, 4 to 3, in a game limited to seven innings.

At Clarksburg the Jeannette Jays broke a long losing streak by pasting the Generals, 15 to 8. Four home runs featured the contest, two being struck by each club.

Johnstown doubled the score on Charleroi, turning in a 12-to-6 victory at Johnstown. The Johnnies hopped off to a five-run lead in the first inning.

A home run by Savino in the last half of the ninth inning with a man on base enabled Cumberland to sweep the series with Fairmont, the Colts winning yesterday's game, 3 to 1. Smittle pitched a fine game for the Colts, keeping the half dozen hits garnered from his delivery well scattered. He held the opposition scoreless until the ninth inning, with a double and a single tied the score.

SIX ELEVENS TO MAKE UP CIRCUIT

By TOM BIRKS.

Independent football advanced another step last night, when the Western Pennsylvania Independent Sandlot Football Conference practically we put into existence as five of the leading clubs in the district banded themselves together to formulate a regular schedule.

The clubs included are West View, McChesneytown, East Pittsburgh, Hope-Harvey and the Burns A. A., of New Kensington. Managers Muzzio, Kennedy, Art Rooney, Smith and Joe Wambaugh are behind the move, which means a new era in sandlot football hereabouts.

SIX-CLUB LEAGUE

The sixth club in the circuit will be named within the next few days. Four clubs were seeking the berth.

It is the desire of the managers to play a 10-game schedule to begin September 28, and finish Thanksgiving Day. The league will eliminate set-up games and the refusal of the leading clubs to get together.

The Conference also will eliminate the idea carried along for many years that a team once beaten cannot get a game with any of the undefeated teams. The conference will insure the fans getting a regular schedule of games each week.

While the schedule will be based upon Sunday games, there is more than a chance that many of the games will be played at night. Burns, West View and Hope-Harvey are seriously considering night football. Should the games be played in the evenings, it will leave the teams open to book Sunday attractions to suit themselves.

ONE ROAD TEAM

McChesneytown, unless Manager Kennedy shapes other plans, will be the road club of the Conference. This naturally will appeal to the other teams, for the Big Red machine, with its open type of football, is a fine drawing card.

The managers agreed that only 20 players will be carried on each roster, and that all players will have to be out of the Conference 10 days before playing with another club. No player may be signed after October 15.

There is little doubt that the move is going to improve the status of the game in Western Pennsylvania.

BAER STOPS CHRISTNER

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Max Baer, Livermore (Cal.) butcher boy, celebrated his twenty-fourth ring appearance by knocking out K. O. Christner, Akron (O.) veteran heavyweight, in the second of their 10-round fight here last night.

Baer score two more knockdowns early in the second round, ending the one-sided match with a right-hand punch.

It was the second knockout for the Akron fighter. The first went to the credit of Primo Carnera, Italian giant.

Christner weighed 200 pounds and Baer 193½.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: ST. HILLAIRE, CREATOR OF NAVIGATION, NEVER SAW THE SEA—Marig St. Hillaire, the blind French monk, who never saw the sea and yet to this day is accepted as an authority on navigation, gave the world the Saint Hillaire method of establishing the ship's position by computation. The method is one of many credited to St. Hillaire which mariners use today. PUETZ AND MAINZER ROLLED A BARREL OF WINE 500 MILES—On June 24, 1930, Josef Puetz and O. Mainzer arrived in Berlin rolling a 1,000-litre barrel of wine. They rolled the barrel from Bernkastel, in the Rhineland, a distance of approximately 500 miles, covering the distance in 70 days. They were presented a silver wine cup by the wine merchants of Berlin. These caskmakers performed this amazing feat to call attention to the patriotic sentiments of Rhineland occupied by foreign troops.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 12.—The eleventh annual Western Maryland tennis championships broke into stride on the six clay courts of the Women's Civic Club here yesterday morning. With the thermometer touching 35 at an early hour and rising not too rapidly throughout the day, the contest was staged under conditions vastly different from those in vogue for recent competition in the Steel City, but even so no less than 23 first and second round men's singles frays were accounted for.

ARKLE VICTOR

B. F. Arkle, Wheeling youth and defending champion, drew a bye through round one and went on to trim William Mulliss, of Martinsburg, W. Va., 6-1, 6-2.

Edgar Alcorn, Mt. Lebanon lad, featured for Pa Pitt's delegation by virtue of two prettily played three sets victories to ease him into the third bracket. Alcorn first out stroked, J. W. Whiting, Rockville, Md., 2-6, 6-2, 6-1, and later returned to carve out impressive triumph over Doug Thomas, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Bill Servick, Duquesne Library satellite, likewise entered from three by downing Dr. Walter Foster, of Crafton, 6-1, 6-3. Willis McCabe, Penn Stater from Gora-opolis, was less fortunate and succumbed to Thomas before the latter encountered Alcorn.

CLARDY ADVANCES

The Greensburg quartet, Tack and Theodore Hammer, Don Snyder and Dillinger Hixson, came through unscathed, with the exception of Hixson who fell before the fast driving darkhorse, H. Y. Lake, of Ocean City, in a cleverly played fracas, 6-4, 6-1. Tack Hammer eased past J. Egan on a default and clicked off Lou Florian, Washington (Pa.) performer, who had previously

Paddy Harmon 'Broke' When Death Came

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Paddy Harmon, the dreamer, whose dream of a $7,000,000 sports palace came true, died as he started life—virtually penniless.

This was revealed today when plans were set in motion to stage a benefit boxing show in the Chicago Stadium, the building Paddy built, next month, with the receipts going to his widow and 4-year-old daughter.

When Harmon's car skidded off the road two weeks ago and killed him, he had exactly $2.50 in cash to his name. That was found in his pockets. He had no life insurance, no other bank account, nothing left of his fortune except the money he sank in building the Chicago Stadium, largest indoor sports arena in America. When he was ousted from the presidency of the stadium, he still retained a great amount of stock, but this may or may not be valuable for several years to come. Friends paid Paddy's funeral expenses.

LOCALS LOSE AT CULVER

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., seeded second in the junior singles, won his first match in the national junior tennis championships here yesterday, defeating Dick Johnson, Grand Rapids, Mich., 6-1, 6-3.

The best tennis of the day was displayed by Billy Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal., young brother of John Doeg, Davis Cup star, who won a tight match from Dick Inglis, Cleveland, 6-4, 7-9, 6-3.

Earl Tetting, of Milwaukee, defeated Frank Broida, Pittsburgh, 9-7, 6-2, and Frank Gregory, of Chicago, defeated C. B. Maits, also of Pittsburgh, 6-2, 6-3.

JAKE AN' HANK NEED BREAKS

By JESS CARVER.

Jakie Bohren and Hank Hangartner, kid coaches, former Pitt gridiron luminaries, who have deserted respectively the Bellefonte Academy and Bucknell University coaching staffs to undertake the task of showing Hobart College at Geneva, N. Y., what football life really means, intend to do just that in a big, big way.

Hobart's football record during the past has seldom, if ever, been a thing of beauty and a joy forever. For example, last year, Hobart won itself exactly no ball games. Syracuse routed the Upper New Yorkers, 77-0; Dartmouth trimmed 'em, 68-0; Williams, 47-0, and Rochester University, coached by Tom Davies, traditional and most important foe of Hobart, won by 13-0.

The Hobart schedule continues the list of tough games, and with a shade under fair material with which to work, the task ahead of Messrs Bohren and Hangartner is a staggering one. The boys have gone into frequent huddles here in Pittsburgh during the summer, and have mapped out a campaign which calls for a seige of as strenuous preliminary training as any Hobart football squad ever went through. They'll set about building a football team that will be, if nothing else, well grounded in fundamentals, and that will employ to the fullest extent the very satisfactory Warner system of play.

For all they are a pair of well-grounded football men, who know whereof they teach, Jake and Hank are going to need the breaks, and plenty of 'em. It's tough to take a club that is used to being kicked around and make a winnah out of it in a year—or in two years.

The Pirate management today made a move to bolster up the club's slumping slab staff when it announced the acquisition of Charles Wood, remarkable left-handed pitcher, of the Wichita club, of the Western League. In making known the deal, Treasurer Sam Dreyfus said Wood would report here Friday.

The new southpaw, on his record for the year, is one of the outstanding pitchers of the minors. In the first place, he won 21 and lost only three games, his individual prowess having much to do with the first-place position of the Wichita club.

FROM PIRATE "FARM"

The Pirate owners are interested in the control of this Wichita team and therefore had the inside track on getting Wood, but, in order to do so, they were persuaded to give up Pitcher Leon Chagnon as a part of the terms of the transaction.

Chagnon will go to the Class A club on an option. Wichita has a comfortable lead over all competitors and Chagnon should be able to win consistently.

Only 21, Wood has had a banner season in his first year in the Class A circuit. High among his exploits is his strikeout record—he fanned 183 batters, or almost eight each game.

CUBS, ROBINS OPEN CRUCIAL SERIES TODAY

BRUINS TAKE LEAD, DOWN BRAVES

Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs breathed deeply today of the dustless air at the head of the procession leaders of the National League parade once more.

In second place crestfallen and perhaps just a bit weary of the frantic struggling that is marking the final drive for the flag are the Brooklyn Robins out of first place, with the exception of a couple of one-day lapses for the first time since June.

The margin is only a point but it is a margin and the worst is yet to come for the falling flock of Uncle Wilbert Robinson for the Robins must face the battling Cubs themselves in a four-game series that opens today in the back yard of the 1929 champions.

CARDS RALLY WIN

The Cardinals dealt their final blow in the overthrow of Brooklyn yesterday coming from behind in the ninth to score three runs and whip the Robins for the third straight time 7 to 6 while young Buddy Teachout freshman southpaw of the Cubs was taming the Boston Braves 4 to 2 the third time McCarthy's warriors have turned that trick in two days.

More woeful even than the drop of the Robins is the record of the flock against the Cubs themselves Brooklyn has beaten Chicago only four times against 11 defeats.

The goat of the Cardinal conquest yesterday was Del Bissonette lanky Brooklyn first baseman. Hollis Thurston went into the ninth with a 6-to-4 lead thanks to Babe Herman's 27th homer another by Johnny Frederick and other timely clouting against Johnson and Grabowski.

Hafey and Watkins singled Bissonette hit Watkins in the back trying for a force out on Fisher's grounder, and two runs scored. Del missed Gelbert's foul, threw late to catch Fisher at third and Gelbert hit to him again and a pass filled the bases. Babe Phelps replaced Thurston. He got two out, but Frankie Frisch who would like to play in Brooklyn next season singled home the winning run.

CUBS DOWN BRAVES

The Cubs tussle with the Braves was a simple thing with Teachout allowing but six hits.

The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Giants 8 to 5 and kept them from gaining precious ground. Larry French pitched nice ball to halt a Pirate losing streak that had reached five straight.

Washington's Senators picked up a game on the pace setting Athletics in the American League but the breach is still very wide. Washington clipped Cleveland 9 to 2 while old Red Faber and his spitball were taming the A's and Lefty Walberg, 8 to 3.

Goose Goslin hit a pair of homers to lead a St. Louis attack that halted the Yankee winning streak at six games, 10 to 5. O'Rourke and Blue also hit home runs.

Danny MacFayden turned in the best pitching performance of the day, letting Detroit down with three hits, two of them by Easterling, as the Red Sox won 5 to 1. Ray Kolp also hurled well for Cincinnati, holding the slugging Phillies to six hits as the Reds won 4 to 2.

Long's Sport Comment

National championship A. A. U. track and field meet is held at the Stadium, says he has two ambitions which he hopes to realize before quitting the cinder path.

One is to receive official credit for running 100 yards in 9 2-5 seconds though doing it without the aid of starting blocks, and the other is to win two Olympic titles by taking both the hundred and the two-twenty at the big world games in 1932, at Los Angeles.

George Simpson

"RUNNING IS HARD work, and a man is at his best just so many times in a year or in a career," Simpson says, "so it's a question whether or not I'll be able to reach those two goals. A sprinter may be at his peak one day and establish a mark that he never again will be able to equal. I have run 100 yards in 9 2-5 with the aid of starting blocks, and I am hopeful that I'll be able to do this once more without the blocks, so that the time will be officially recognized. I have done 9 3-5 seven times, 9.5 four times, and 9 2-5 once. Of ourse, this Olympic ambition of mine may be nothing more than a dream. The games still are two years off, and anything may happen in that time. A new crop of sprinters will pop up, and there may be several who will be able to trim any of us. Then again, the possibility of pulled muscles and other injuries must also be taken into consideration. Right now I am training for the National championships to be held in Pittsburgh, and the games between the United States and Great Britain in Chicago on the night of August 27. I hope to beat my old friend and rival, Eddie Tolan, again in Pittsburgh, but Eddie is a great competitor and is never beaten until the tape is broken."

BUCS GET WOOD FOR CHAGNON

feats is stressed by the fact that he finished practically every game he started. His record discloses that he pitched in 188 innings and allowed 154 hits, 72 runs and 83 bases on balls.

HAS FINE RECORD

The new lefthander is said to possess an unusual curve, but only fair speed. The latter consideration may be improved when he takes on more weight; he weighs only 153 pounds and stands 5 feet 10½ inches in height.

Aside from his fine pitching, Wood is known as a fine hitter, being used as a pinch-batter for the Wichita club. He hit two homers as he compiled a batting mark of approximately 280. He also bats lefthanded.

The promising candidate for a major league berth resides in South Carolina. He was pitching for a school team when Columbia, of the South Atlantic League, picked him up. Columbia also is controlled by the Pittsburgh club.

The Sally League entry sent him to Salisbury, of the Piedmont League, a smaller organization. Salisbury then was owned by the Pirates. Wood was transferred from Salisbury to Wichita by the Pittsburgh owners last fall and immediately stepped out once the Western League got under way this year.

FRENCH HALTS GIANTS

French gave a nervy exhibition yesterday as the Buccos downed the Giants, 8 to 5, in the last game of the series. Larry kept the Giants' hits well scattered and delivered two very timely hits to sway the fight to his own dugout.

Larry singled with the bases filled in the fourth to score two runs, and his double of the seventh with the score tied led to the winning runs.

Adam Comorosky and Bill Terry struck homers.

LUTHER WINS WEST PA. OPEN BANNER

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

There is only one golf tournament on the calendar for today—and that finds the American Legion of Allegheny County playing in its inaugural event of the season at the Aicoma Country Club.

Yesterday Ted Luther, sensational young Corry, Pa., professional, broke through the ranks, as he has been trying to do all season to win the Western Pennsylvania open golf championship, scoring 158 for the 36-hole contest at the Oakmont Country Club, in a field of the finest golfers ever gathered hereabouts in open tournament ranks. The tall, lanky Corry lad turned in an 80 in the morning and a 78 in the afternoon for his total, unseating Vincent Eldred of Highland who was well down in the tallying.

P. O. HART SECOND

Only one stroke behind the leader came the pace-setter of the first 18-hole test, P. O. (Post Office) Hart, of Canton, O., former Wheeling professional who tallied 159 for his day's labor. He had scored a 78 in the morning, but needed an 81 in the afternoon. Luther and Hart had low 18-hole rounds of 78.

Oakmont was at its very best all day yesterday, although it was a nasty test in the morning, what with a cross-wind blowing in a veritable gale all of the time. And Oakmont is no fun when a Scottish sea-wind hampers play. Not only that, but the change of weather affected most of the players, it being cooler than usual. A great many were playing on a course that was in condition for the first time in many weeks, the majority of other layouts being burnt to a crisp by the great drought. Emil Loeffler, Oakmont greenkeeper, expends no less than 250,000 gallons of water on the Oakmont course every day.

GORMAN STOPPED

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Al Gorman, Italian heavyweight, won a technical knockout over Bud Gorman at the Velodrome last night in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Gorman was out on his feet when Referee Danny Sullivan decided the Bud-not heavyweight had absorbed enough punishment.

Nick Altrock Says:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—If I ran my daily column like Calvin Coolidge's, here's the way it would read today: Well, my fellow countrymen, in spite of all this business depression, there are very few raincheks bouncing back. With our great natural resources, there is enough lumber in our forests for Babe Ruth to get 61 home runs this season if he will get down to hard work. We have a wise government of checks and balances, so an all-seeing Providence has arranged for the Philadelphia Nationals to offset the A's. The American public has not yet reached its capacity for consuming hot dogs and attendance is bound to improve in St. Louis and Cincinnati because it couldn't be any worse. Amen. I'll switch jobs with Calvin any old day.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER

Well, folks, Jule had to call on my roomie once more to get the chains on. You see we're kinda shy of pitchers, especially first stringers and whenever Jule gets in a real jam he starts makin' wise cracks about lefthanders and Larry jes says, "gimme that ball!" He was in there only a few minutes Saturday and it wasn't much of a trick for him to pitch again yesterday.

But if Larry keeps hittin' the way he has been lately he's gonna run the Waner boys right out the clubhouse and down in Panther Hollow. I wouldn't be surprised if he would dare Jule to put him in to pinch hit for some other pitcher. He's got the old confidence and that's something in any kind of a fight.

Maybe Larry didn't get sore when Big Bill Terry nicked him for that long homer with two on to tie up the ball game. I think he would have swung on anybody right there and then if he had half a chance.

Jule and the gang are generally kiddin' Larry about hittin' fungoes. You know he can hit them farther than anybody in the league, but the gang says that doesn't mean a thing when you go up to the plate and act like a windmill. But Larry has the laugh now. I don't blame him if he rubs it in. He's won three of his own games at Forbes Field by his own hittin' this year.

GALLANT FOX FACES TEST

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—With George D. Widener's Jamestown enthroned as the juvenile champion, for the time at least, another title will be at stake Saturday when Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone seeks to oust Gallant Fox from the 3-year-old championship in the sixty-first running of the Travers at Saratoga.

Back to the racing wars after an enforced vacation, the great son of Chicle appears to be faster than at any time in his sensational career. And that is covering a lot of ground, for the Whitney ace was the ranking 2-year-old of 1929.

If Whichone's performances in the Saranac and Whitney stakes are any criterion as to what he will do Saturday, then Gallant Fox is up against a mighty tough proposition in his battle to go through the year undefeated.

Texas League Star To Join White Sox

The action apparently ended a long period of bickering between Frasier and the White Sox management during which the pitcher refused to report for duty.

SEEDED STARS ADVANCE IN RYE PLAY

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP.)—With competition in the women's singles holding the center of play, the Eastern grass courts tennis championships progressed as predicted yesterday, the majority of the favorites advancing with little difficulty.

Scoring an impressive victory over J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J., Jake Hess, Jr., of Fort Worth, Tex., turned in the only real upset of the day. The young Texan went into the second round, defeating Hall, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Play in the women's singles filled seven of the third round brackets, with Miss Mary Greef, Kansas City; Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, East Stamford, Conn.; Miss Catherine Wolf, Chicago; Miss Alice Francis, Orange, N. J.; Miss Mercedes Marlowe, San Francisco, and two New Yorkers—Mrs. T. D. M. Johnson and Miss Clara Greenspan—ahead of the field.

Five of the eight seeded stars remained in the running, while the remaining three, Miss Betty Nuthall, of England, Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Cal., and Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, withdrew.

Fight Results

DUNDEE LOSES, GETS DRAW

BUCK M'TIERNAN VICTIM OF 'GUESS'

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

The judges "guessed" last night's Joe Dundee-Buck McTiernan 10-round main bout before a $5,200 crowd in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, was a draw.

They guessed it after McTiernan had won seven of the 10 rounds with his cleaner punching and had scored a knockdown for a count of eight with a left hook to the jaw of the former world welterweight champion in the fifth round to boot.

Referee Al Grayber voted for McTiernan and when the decision was announced as a draw he thought there must have been some mistake and rushed over to ask the announcer how the judges had voted—just to be certain there had been no error in reading the slips. As the referee's vote does not count unless the judges disagree, his verdict was cast in vain and the result goes into the records as an indictment against two judges who sat on opposite sides of the ring and watched 10 rounds of fighting and couldn't make up their minds at the finish as to which man was ahead when one of them was out in front by a wide margin.

SHOULD BAR DRAWS

The day can't come too quickly when this state, like Massachusetts, will bar draw decisions (they don't allow them anywhere in amateur boxing) and thus put an end to the straddling of officials who hesitate to cast victory and defeat decisions and thus defeat the very purpose for which they are appointed. Boxing bouts were meant to be won and lost, and not hung out on the line as unfinished business.

Last night's battle was an interesting one to watch, presenting, as it did, a contrast between a clever, hard-hitting and ambitious youngster and a veteran campaigner who had been a world champion and was far over on the seamy side of his career. Throughout it was a test between McTiernan's natural skill and the generalship of the Baltimore veteran, and Dundee handled himself with rare judgment to weather the storm of leather in the middle rounds and come through with a blazing finish that left the judges high and dry and booting just another one.

McTiernan was highly respectful of his opponent's reputation as the bout got under way and the first round was a tame one, with Dundee weaving and bobbing and "bulling" and waiting for Buck to come to him. Buck won the round by a shade on his forcing. The second round found Dundee opening up a bit, weaving and bobbing some more and coming up with rights to the head and body and also left hooks to the head and taking the play away from his youthful foe.

DUNDEE FLOORED

Beginning with the third round, however, it was all McTiernan until Dundee put on his rally in the eighth. In sweeping five successive rounds, McTiernan rocked Dundee badly with a right to the jaw as Joe was arguing with the referee in the third round, and followed it up to the bell; handed Joe a slugging throughout the fourth, in which Dundee spent much of his time on the ropes with his hands down; battered Dundee from rope to rope throughout the fifth, flooring him for a count of eight with a right to the stomach followed by a clean left hook to the jaw, and just missed scoring a knockout through the caginess and maneuvering of Dundee until the bell came to his rescue; continued the lacing throughout the sixth, for which round Joe had been freshened up by a deluge of cold water in his corner, and carried the seventh on his forcing.

JOE MAKES RALLY

The eighth round saw Dundee go to work with hard rights on McTiernan's body until he forced Buck to clinch repeatedly. Dundee continued this style of fighting in the ninth and won it also, frequently making Buck look bad as he spun or wrestled him about in the clinches. Buck then came back to win the tenth and final round in some furious mixing.

Dundee did not impress as nearly as good as when he laced Billy Alger in the same ring, more than a year ago. He has lost the speed in his legs, does not force the fight as he did then and seems to lack the old fighting spirit. However, he can "take it," except on one spot on his chin, and he still is a wicked infighter. McTiernan's skill in tying him up inside during the early rounds prevented Dundee from making a better showing in this department.

Dundee weighed 150½ pounds and McTiernan 153¼.

SAYLOR LACES BRENT

The preliminaries were lively affairs. Young Saylor, of Charleroi, 152, handed out a shellacking to Billy Brent, Negro, of the Hill, 152¼, winning every round in hollow fashion in the eight-round semi-final, after the hard 10-round battle Brent gave him at Hickey Park recently.

In the second bout, U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, 132½, defeated Peaches Gallagher, of Swissvale, same weight, in six rounds, and Angelo Vergione, of Swissvale, 130, won the referee's decision over Jimmy Perry, of Alliance, O., 128¼, in the six-round opener.

Eddie Kennedy alternated with Grayber as referee, Freddie Lux and Frank Ferris were the judges and A. C. Couch and Tommy Grant the timers. Ray Eberle did the announcing and Dr. M. R. Goldman was the commission physician in charge.

It was announced that Patsy Pirrone, of Canton, O., will box Emmett Rocco, of Ellwood City, in the main bout of an all-star card next Monday night. Pirrone takes the place of George Panka, of Homestead, who suffered an injured side in training.

REFEREE AL GRAYBER — DUNDEE DOWN IN FIFTH — M'TIERNAN — DUNDEE

Between Rounds

Justo Suarez, the Argentine lightweight star, meets Herman Perlick, of Kalamazoo, in the main bout at the Queensboro Stadium, New York, tonight. Marty Fox takes George Lagiorsa and Lew Feldman meets Jimmy Smith in the two other 10-rounders. Billy Bolen, local negro lightweight, boxes Lou Sparta, of Buffalo, at Wilkes-Barre. Vince Forgione and Joe Anderson, shooting middleweights, battle at Lancaster, Pa. Mel Pelcula boxes Paddy Wahlberg in Chicago.

Benny Bastock has a new heavyweight under his management, Leo Johnson, hands, formerly at New York, whom he is ready to put there against any of the big fellows around here.

The second afternoon race at Havre De Grace, Maryland, Thursday, might will be given their favorite dish for 2½ units a head. Tips on admission and Matchmaker Charley Lack has scheduled 40 rounds of fighting with Lynn Jordan meeting Indian Tiger Wise and Harry Williams opposing Johnny Urban in the two 10-rounders.

COUNTY LINKS NOT TO OPEN

There will be no golf at the new North and South links in the Allegheny County parks this year—and it's all caused by the great drought. It had been planned that the South Park layout, at least, would be thrown open for Saturday and Sunday play beginning with an inaugural on Labor Day—but the young grass on the course has failed to withstand the withering rays of Old Sol without the needed tonic of rain-water.

"A watering system has been installed," John Jay Burke, city office manager of the parks, said today, "which has been a big help in keeping the greens in shape, but it has not been possible to water the fairways. The country clubs hold an advantage over us in that the grass on those courses is matured and will come back more readily when the drought breaks up. With us, it appears the fairways will have to be started all over again, the roots of the young grass not being able to keep alive without water."

Now that a big well has been found at the North Park, with a 200-gallon-a-minute supply, it is expected that course will be in great shape for next year with a few breaks in weather. Neither of the county courses will be opened this year, according to Burke, but next spring may tell a different story.

PRIMO-SHARKEY GO PLANNED

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Chicago is on the verge.

On the verge of what?

Of getting the biggest prize-fight of the year.

Mike Malloy is behind it all. He has signed Primo Carnera, the Italian giant, for a battle with Jack Sharkey, the outstanding claimant for the title, and has a conference slated in New York tomorrow with Sharkey's managers.

The Illinois commission is in favor of the battle, which is planned for Soldier Field on September 29.

Leaders Deadlocked In Philly Open

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—(INS.)—Two men were tied for first place today at the end of the first 36 holes of the Philadelphia open golf championship.

The leaders, George Griffin, of Green Valley Club, and John Scheubel, of the Lu Lu Club, each turned in a score of 147 over the Cedarbrook Country Club links to tie for the lead.

Three big games will be staged this evening in the Central League. The league leading Fintex nine will be the attraction at Warrington Park, meeting the Jimmy Cosletts. The Cosletts are fighting hard to improve their standing, and should give the Fintex boys a hard battle.

Y. M. H. A. will meet Allegheny Collegians at Dean Field. This battle brings one of the hardest hitting ball clubs in the loop opposed to the pitching of Snee or Leon. Soho Board of Trade will travel to Hartman Park to meet the Lincoln Civics. The Civics must win this game to stay in the titular race.

STEELERS FACE B.-O.

One game will be flashed in the Commercial and Industrial loop. Carnegie Steel gets into action at Burgwin Park opposed to the Baltimore and Ohio nine. With Reliance Life away ahead the battle in the league resolves itself into a fight for the second and third places.

Three interesting games will be waged in the City League. Book Shoe goes to Dermont. W. O. W. faces the North Side Civics and Homewood meets Stowe.

The Dormont battle means much to both clubs, for the home team can ill afford to drop this game with Homewood in the lead. This also goes for the East Enders. Heinie Boll and his comrades have a slender lead, and Stowe will make a big effort to cut it down.

In the Steel City League, Eastern Section, St. Elizabeth meets the Doelfel nine at Magee Field. In the Minor League the Sankey Club faces the Brodericks at Marshall Field.

DeHoff Named Tennis Body Head

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 12.—George DeHoff, of Sharon, was elected president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania at the annual banquet at the Sharon Country Club last night.

Oil City probably will get the 1931 tournament, it was announced.

William Selden, Oil City, was elected secretary, and Dr. George Black, of St. Marys, was elected vice president. Dr. Black has attended 23 out of 25 tournaments held by the association.

Twenty-two first round matches in the annual tournament were run off yesterday.

The summary:

Dennison, Youngstown, defeated Coworry, Warren, O., 6-1, 1-6, 6-3. Volmer, St. Marys, won over Mascaro, West Hickory, 6-0, 6-1. C. McMillan, Evans City, won over J. F. Mosley, Sharon, 3-6, 6-3, 6-0. King Dale, Sharon, defeated W. Palmer, Oil City, 7-5, 6-4. Cliff Gregory, Grove City, eliminated W. Lewis, Sharon, 8-7, 6-1, 6-0. P. Gerst, St. Marys, won over Clyde Shimp, Sharon, 6-1, 6-3. J. Cummings, New Wilmington, defeated Ray Golde, Sharon, 6-1, 6-0. W. Stevenson, Oil City, won over Harry Fornander, Sharon, 6-3, 6-0. M. A. Horwitz, Butler, defeated H. A. Love, Brookville, 6-0, 6-1. W. Reher, Warren, O., won over W. Selden, Oil City, 7-5, 6-2. H. E. Schobinger, Bradford, eliminated John Boland, Sharon, 6-2, 6-0. Bill Fehers, Grove City, won over M. Marleure, Sharon, 6-3, 6-1. W. Whiting, Erie, defeated Eddie Yeo, Greenville, 6-3, 6-1. Buck Heil, Youngstown, won over E. Thompson, Oil City, 6-1, 6-1. Ray Boland, Sharon, defeated Edwin Huefen, Grove City, 6-3, 6-2. L. Cooper, Youngstown, defeated Kelly, Beaver Falls, 6-3, 6-1. George DeHoff, Sharon, eliminated W. Zundle, Greenville, 6-1, 6-2. Flynner, Beaver Falls, won over Bob Perkins, Sharon, 6-0, 6-4. Bill Fox, Bradford, defeated Eddie Reiama, Sharon, 6-2, 6-0. Wilhelm defeated R. Kiss, Sharon, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3. D. McMillan, Evans City, won over L. A. Maidahl, Sharon, 6-1, 6-2. R. Redfield, Smithport, defeated Mort Echner, Erie, 6-3, 6-1.

SUMMER COACHING.

This week Hunk Anderson, line coach at Notre Dame, and Pop Warner, of Stanford University, are holding a coaching school at Notre Dame. Next week Pop goes up to Evanston, Ill., where he will hold a school in conjunction with Dick Hanley at Northwestern. The Notre Dame school has an enrollment of more than 200 and the Northwestern school will be just as large, if not larger. Pop is feeling better than he has for the last five or six years and expects to have a great team at Stanford this fall.

Knute Rockne

The group of coaches at Notre Dame are very much interested in the discussion between Pop and Hunk on the relative merits of the double wing back system and the shift. When the smoke clears away and the discussion is over nothing will have been settled except that it is up to each man to go out and coach football as he sees it and to creat new ideas along his own individual lines.

When a recent session broke up at midnight, Pop, as a last argument, propounded this question. "Why do you shift?"

And Hunk immediately came back with the query:

"Why do you use two wing backs? Why does a base runner steal a base? Why does a pitcher use a curve ball? Why does a fast forward dribble around a sluggish stationary guard? Why did Corbett dance all around so Sullivan couldn't him him?"

That was the finish of the discussion. It will be resumed in the fall, when Southern California plays Stanford and Notre Dame plays Northwestern.

NEW SOCCER LOOP FORMED

A new soccer league came into existence last evening when the Pittsburgh Central League was organized with six clubs in line. The clubs present included Pierpoint Motors, Union Switch and Signal, Sons of St. George, Mesta Machine, Crafton Heights and Clan Douglass.

The meeting was very enthusiastic and the delegates seemed to be sold on the idea of an independent soccer league operating on Saturday. Little traveling will be necessary, owing to the clubs being close together.

A rules committee composed of Parks, Mincher and Bradshaw was named. This committee will meet and submit its report to the league at the next meeting on Monday evening. Forfeits will be posted at this session.

Babe Hunt Wins Over J. J. Braddock

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—(AP.)—Babe Hunt, Oklahoma giant, outpointed Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City heavyweight, here last night in a 10-round battle. Both sluggers stood toe to toe most of the distance, Braddock rocking his heavy rival's head with spectacular hooks as the latter battered his body with heavy punches. Hunt weighed 194 pounds, 14 more than Braddock.

EXPECT HIGHER DIVIDENDS ON C. & O.

Earnings Warrant Rise to $3 Basis on Present Shares; May Come Later

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Chesapeake & Ohio Railway stockholders ultimately should benefit from the split-up of the road's common stock through an increase in the dividend rate. As yet directors have given no indication of what the rate on the new $25 par shares will be, but it is virtually certain that it will not be less than the 10 per cent rate in effect for the past two years on the $100 par stock, which would be equal to $2.50 annually on the new stock.

It is likely that an increase to 12 per cent, or $3 annually on the $25 par shares, will be a development of the not distant future.

MAY EARN $4.50

On the basis of current earnings, a $3 basis for the $25 par shares would be a conservative step. Earnings this year have a fair chance of exceeding $4.50 a share on the new stock; and with any appreciable pick-up in business in the latter part of the year, earnings probably would be increased to between $4.75 and $5 a share.

Several factors in the situation may deter directors from increasing the dividend rate in the immediate future. For one thing, considerable curtailment of expenses has been the policy of the Chesapeake and Ohio in recent months, as it has been on the country's railroads generally. An increase in the dividend rate might more logically be instituted at a time when the pressure for reductions in expenses was not so great as at present.

FINANCING AHEAD

On the other hand, at least one factor might influence an increase in the dividend rate this year. Chesapeake Corporation, which controls Chesapeake and Ohio Railway through ownership of a majority of the outstanding shares, has outstanding bank loans approaching $30,000,000, in part incurred as a result of exercising its rights to subscribe to additional Chesapeake and Ohio stock which expired on July 23, last. Eventually, Chesapeake Corporation will undertake permanent financing for these loans; and an increase in the return being received from its Chesapeake and Ohio holdings would facilitate such a step.

OUTLOOK FOR YEAR

Estimated earnings of at least $4.50 a share for Chesapeake and Ohio Railway this year are predicted on the expectation that the road in the last half year will do as well, compared with the preceding five years, as it did in the first half year. Over a five-year period Chesapeake and Ohio has shown 44.02 per cent of its net operating income earned in the first half of the year. If the present year is not an exception to this rule, Chesapeake and Ohio's net operating income for the year will total approximately $41,690,000.

STOCK MARKET HEAVY AT OPENING

Long List of Leaders, Including Steel and Some Rails, Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—(AP.)—Stocks were heavy at the opening today. Southern Railway and New York Central were off 1⅜ each. Goodyear Rubber lost 1¾ and Vanadium Steel, Union Carbide and U. S. Industrial Alcohol about a point. Eastman Kodak slumped 3½, and J. I. Case 2½. U. S. Steel, Du Pont, Radio and National Cash Register sagged ½. Consolidated Gas, International Telephone and Canadian Pacific improved fractionally, while Worthington Pump rallied 2¼.

Wall street viewed unfavorably the drastic reduction in the estimated corn crop and the declines were extended during the early trading although the market was only moderately active.

United States Steel and Southern Railway increased their losses to about 2 points and were joined by Consolidated Gas, Du Pont and Pacific Lighting. Rock Island and Sears-Roebuck broke 3 points, both to the lowest levels since 1927, while there were declines of more than 5 points in J. I. Case, Allied Chemical and American Tobacco B. Eastman Kodak slumped 7. Radio, Bethlehem Steel, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Allis Chalmers, American Can and American Telephone showed losses of 1 to nearly 2 points. Union Pacific yielded more than 3. Montgomery Ward and Canadian Pacific made new lows.

The crop figures constituted the outstanding feature of the news, the drought damage to corn was larger than had been expected, whereas the estimated wheat production was above previous estimates. There was a tendency during the early stock trading to await the reaction of the Chicago grain markets to the reports.

INDEMNITY CO. SHOWS GAIN

The Consolidated Indemnity and Insurance Company, which is represented in the Pittsburgh district by the Harris-Lawrence Company, Inc., general agents, wrote gross premiums, less cancellations and returns, in the six months which ended June 30, 1930, of $2,252,303. This is an increase of $1,902,707 over the corresponding period of 1929. The company was not actively engaged in writing business during the entire first six months of 1929, its home office having been opened on May 1, 1929. Comparing the gross premiums so written in the first six months of 1930 with the last six months of 1929, there is an indicated increase of $853,828.

Net earnings from underwriting were $396,547, an increase of $124,219 over the last six months of 1929. Total net earnings from all services were $533,656, an increase of $116,426 over the last six months of previous year. Capital and surplus as of June 30, 1930, total $6,899,376, an increase of $723,642 over the total of assets shown on the balance sheet of December 31, 1929.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Corn prices jumped fast early today but met with immense profit-taking sales which forced the market backward. Instead of soaring to a bulge as many traders had expected the corn market for at least the time being rose but 3c and quickly lost most of that. Trading was on a huge scale, buyers of corn being aroused by official confirmation of drought losses beyond what had generally been expected, whereas on the other hand many sellers were acting on belief that recent sharp advances in price had largely discounted the government report. Wheat was heartishly affected by the enlarge official estimates of United States wheat yields taken as a whole. Starting ¾@1c higher corn afterwaid receded in some cases to below yesterday's finish. Wheat opened ⅝c off to ⅛c up and subsequently showed a decided drop.

A striking analysis today of the government corn crop estimates indicated that the area suffering most from drought, including Southern Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, had a prospective yield of 444,000,000 bushels against 700,000,000 bushels last year and a five-year average of 824,000,000 bushels. Other sections of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio with Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska had a prospective yield of 1,246,000,000 bushels against 1,364,000,000 bushels last year and a five-year average of 1,306,000,000 bushels. This was said to indicate that the main drought area prospects were for 54 per cent of a five-year production, but elsewhere 93 to 95 per cent.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 4 to 6 points in response to the relatively easy showing of Liverpool cables and private reports of showers in parts of Alabama and Mississippi.

There was further covering and trade buying but the decline continued right after the opening with new October selling off to 12.20c and March to 12.60c, or about 10 to 12 points net lower on the active months. These prices brought in a little more buying and the market was steady at the end of the first half hour, although prices remained within 2 or 3 points of the lowest on most positions.

The market was comparatively quiet later in the morning, but prices worked off with some of the more active months making new low ground for the season under scattered selling prompted by private reports of showers in Oklahoma, Texas, Tennessee and Georgia. At 12.15 p. m. October sold off to 12.18 and March to 12.64, making net declines of 10 to 11 points at mid-day.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 12.—Cotton: Spot quiet; prices steady. NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A slight tendency toward higher levels was displayed by the bond market today but trading remained in the doldrums with institutional buying waiting as call money held at 2½ per cent.

FOREIGN ISSUES

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 12.—Wheat due to ⅛@⅜ lower. Opened unchanged to ⅛ lower, and at 1:20 p. m. was unchanged to ¼ lower.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The Curb drifted aimlessly today. Although both speculative camps seemed to believe that the current price levels were being tested, neither was particularly eager to show any aggression, with the result that the market dragged along inconclusively.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list).

BULL MARKET HELD NEAR IN BONDS

All Business Recessions In Past Followed by Security Price Rise.

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Russe[ll] Leffingwell of Moody's Investors Service points out that on every precedent in this leading country must be near the edge of a bull market in bonds.

As he puts it:

"We have never since the records were kept experienced a business recession or depression which has not been followed by an increasing appetite for investment in stocks and by rising bond prices. And however briskly the argument may be carried on concerning the comparative intensity of the present business reaction, the fact stands out that we are and have been relatively low. According to all precedent we shall now see a rise.

Mr. Rukeyser

In [illegible] the past bonds [illegible] 4.27 to 3.61 points.

The [illegible] the present situation [illegible] preference for [illegible] stocks for long [illegible] Stocks are competing with bonds for the surplus funds [illegible] investors yet it is prudent [illegible] to put a backing of good bonds in the investor's portfolio.

SEES TRADE ADVANCE

George M. [illegible] chairman of the board American Rolling Mill Company [illegible] American business men [illegible] political situation at President Hoover.

He said:

"Business can and will go ahead and if our citizenship as a whole will but do its part in loyal support of our national administration of our great resources and of our unlimited ability nothing can stop the tides of our continued progress.

"Every basic national industry is in sound condition and ready to use it productive and constructive powers to the limit, just as soon as this ever recurring but temporary period of adjustment has passed, as it will within a comparatively short period of time.

"Let us get behind our national administration and we will soon be going ahead as we have never done before."

H. Parker Willis, former secretary of the Federal Reserve Board and present arch critic of the Federal Reserve, points out in an editorial in the Journal of Commerce that there is too much credit in the country contending:

"There is too much credit in the country today, and it is being used in the wrong places. It is already recognized that the condition of the banks is worse than it was just before the panic, taking the country as a whole, and while brokers' loans have been reduced in the aggregate, they have very greatly increased here in New York. In the endeavor to maintain prices of favorite shares by helping to carry them along, or in the endeavor to prevent favorite investment banking houses from suffering immediate loss, far too much bank credit is being pumped back into the investment field."

MANAGERS NEEDED

Nick H. McCarty, who has been developing a successful grocery chain in the very center of the anti-chain store agitation in Texas, explained:

"Propagandists can't hurt our business if customers are courteously treated. And we must have good window displays."

In the development of chain systems, the chief task is the development of successful managers.

In the Sears Roebuck chain, all but one of the large stores has been successful. The problem has been with the smaller stores, for there has been difficulty in finding men for these posts with moderate salaries who have a known record as profit makers. In developing men from within there has been some grief. In an analogous problem, that of selecting managers for the Woolworth stores, Hubert T. Parson, president of the F. W. Woolworth Company, told me that he gets very good results from men who have been country merchants. J. C. Penny, in developing managers, has allowed them to become partners of the business.

An executive of one of the large food chains recently said:

"We have been forced to halt our expansion, because we haven't the men to manage our business. We have to wait until the organization catches up. We have had to close store after store because the men we sent out to manage them were not able to do so, and we closed the location because we had no others to put in their places."

The market in recent months has been acting pretty much according to the chart readers' Hoyle. It recovered 50 per cent of the panic loss, almost made a double bottom with the panic depths, then recovered another 50 per cent before going into its latest drive. The decline was checked Saturday, just about at the level early in July from which the sharpest advance last month started. Vanadium has been one of the outstanding pets of the chart readers, since the public fled to the sidelines, it has been a professional market and the professional usually knows his charts.

Returned pressure on Warner Brothers Pictures forced that stock to a new low, traditionally below its bottom of last week but other amusement shares failed to yield with it yesterday. Most of the gains of the talkie shares on the spring recovery have been well liquidated. Furthermore the end of the seasonal dullness of the theaters is in sight.

Technically, the market was due for a rally yesterday. Industrial averages had shown a decline four consecutive days, including the sharp break on Friday. Some semblance of a rally occurred Saturday, but it was not brisk enough to indicate any extensive covering by shorts. Whether the market would rally or go into a fresh decline hung in balance yesterday until a wave of buying early in the afternoon turned the scales to the side of a rally. Week-end reports painted a gloomy picture of the farm situation, but rains in the drought areas and the United States Steel Corporation's July tonnage report probably helped the rally along.

It is unlikely that the bear faction will surrender until the year's lows touched in June have been tested out. Another sharp decline would carry the market within striking distance of the June bottom and whether the market holds or goes through that level probably will have a profound effect upon the Street's hope for a fall upturn. Several stocks came within a hair's breadth of establishing new 1930 lows yesterday among them Kennecott Copper, Internation Harvester and International Nickel. Stocks which did penetrate new low ground for the year included Canadian Pacific, Corn Products, Columbia Gas and Electric, Granite City Steel, Maytag, Newport and U. S. Hoffman Machinery.

A leader in the food industries, Coca-Cola reported a gain of 10 per cent in the first half of 1930 with net earnings of $7,181,812, equivalent to $5.68 a share. Hot weather and vigorous newspaper advertising have augmented its sales. The stock is high at $175 a share, but the directors have always pursued a liberal dividend policy and future prospects are bright.

Cotton Belt Opens Washington Office

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—St. Louis Southwestern Railway has opened a general agency here for the solicitation of both freight and passenger traffic in line with its recently instituted policy of giving closer supervision to its business solicitation activities.

Similar agencies have been opened in about 15 other cities throughout the country, particularly in the East. Extent to which the augmented solicitation offices will more thoroughly cover the respective territories is seen in the local instance. Heretofore Washington shippers and the Maryland, Virginia and District of Columbia territory were covered out of Pittsburgh, Winston-Salem, N. C., or New York City.

Simms Petroleum Production Higher

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Current assets of Simms Petroleum Company on June 30 amounted to $6,098,819, of which $372,730 was in cash, while current liabilities amounted to $943,602, a ratio of better than 6 to 1. Net quick assets on June 30 amounted to $5,155,217, compared with $4,823,390 on June 30, 1929.

Company produced 2,359,521 net barrels of crude oil during the first six months this year, daily average of 13,036 barrels as compared with 2,189,309 barrels, daily average of 12,096 barrels in the first six months of 1929. Daily average refinery runs in the first six months of the current year amounted to 4,149 barrels as compared with 6,340 barrels daily in the first six months of 1929.

CORN ESTIMATE SHOWS HUGE DECREASE

590,000,000-Bushel Shrinkage in July Indicated by Government's Crop Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (INS).—The nation's corn crop this year will probably amount to about 2,211,823,000 bushels, the Department of Agriculture announced yesterday, basing its estimate on a condition of 62 per cent of normal on August 1. The July 1 forecast indicated a crop of 2,802,000,000 bushels. Last year's crop amounted to 2,614,000,000 bushels.

A yield of 21.8 bushels per acre was estimated from the 101,531,000 acres under cultivation.

The wheat crop will amount to about 820,615,000 bushels, divided as follows: Winter wheat, 591,000,000 bushels; durum wheat, 18,000,000 bushels; [illegible] wheat, 174,851,000 bushels. The July 1 wheat forecast was for 807,000,000 bushels.

WHEAT CONDITION

The average yield of winter wheat per acre was estimated at 15.9 bushels, while the quality was 85.4 per cent. The condition of durum wheat on August 1 was 81.7 per cent, while the condition of other spring wheat was 80.1 per cent.

The condition of oats was 78.9 per cent, indicating a production of 1,516,569,000 bushels. Stocks on farms were estimated to be 60,963,000 bushels.

DROUGHT SETS RECORD

The crop reporting board said:

"A rather wide belt from the Middle Atlantic states westward to the Mississippi Valley has had the driest growing season of record, while the shortage of rainfall for June and July in some South Central states was far greater than for any previous year for which records are available. Temperatures have been abnormally high with many previous heat record equaled or broken in the Central and parts of the southern states.

SMALLEST SINCE 1901

"On the basis of crop conditions on the first of August, the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates that yields per acre will be 5.5 per cent below those secured last year, 9.1 per cent below average yields during the previous 10 years and the low yields secured in any of the last 20 years except 1921. Unlike 1927, however, the shortage is chiefly in feed crops. The corn crop is expected to be the smallest since 1901."

STEEL PAYROLL AT LOW MARK

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 12.—The July payroll of steel companies and allied industries in this district, amounting to $6,058,984, represents a low mark for the year. It compares with $6,579,007 paid out in June and with a July, 1929, disbursement of $7,737,825.

For the first seven months this year, industries distributed $44,639,270 in wages, against a total payroll in 1929 of $88,764,654. Indications are the 1930 distribution will be considerably below that of 1929.

Reading Company Loads Less Freight

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12.—Freight and coal loaded on Reading Company lines and loaded cars received from connections for July amounted to 171,777 cars, against 195,604 in July, 1929, decrease of 23,827. First seven months of year loadings amounted to 1,279,935, against 1,395,125, decrease of 115,190. Loading in July compare with 176,080 cars in June, 1930.

PRODUCE SECURITIES EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—After a fairly brisk opening, trading on the securities market of the Produce Exchange slowed down yesterday.

Manufacturers Trust, fluctuating around $2, led the bank issues in activity. Irving Trust was firm at $8 and Bank of United States, Units sold for 29. Seaboard Fire, holding firm, was the only active insurance issue. Kinner Air led the miscellaneous group in activity, with no issues displaying prominence.

Crude Oil Output Curtailed in Kentucky

To aid in crude oil curtailment throughout Pennsylvania oil fields operators of Owensboro, Bowling Green and Scottsville, Ky., fields have agreed that all producing wells drilling of which started after July 21 would have to provide their own storage and disposal method. No pipe line connections will be made with the wells until such a time as there is a market for the oil. Wells started before July 21 are not affected by this ruling, but any increase over production as of that date will be investigated by the operators association, before it is run through pipe lines.

TEXAS TO CUT OIL YIELD

AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—Curtailment of oil production in the entire state of Texas will be attempted by the Railroad Commission under general proration to be inconsolated in all order due to be issued within the next few days, to take effect a remote effective date so that requests for changes may be made and considered before actual restriction begins. The desire is to reduce the production to 75,000 barrels daily and prevent overproduction with the resultant willful waste of oil and gas and economic waste in depressed prices.

The plan was announced by Pat M. Neff, chairman of the Railroad Commission, following Friday's hearings under the new pipe line bill with more than 100 oil operators present, which was an adjournment of the first hearing which was held on July 30. Subsequent hearings will be held to give each field an opportunity to object or ask for revisions in event of dissatisfaction with the proration assigned the respective areas.

Kinner Airplane Shipments Drop

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—Kinner Airplane and Motors Company's shipments totaled 202 motors for the six months ended June 30, indicating a lower rate of operations than prevailed for the corresponding period in 1929. Comparative shipments aggregated 408 motors for the first six months of last year.

Unfilled orders on the company's books June 30 this year were for 700 motors, compared with 921 in 1929. Officials state that present orders on hand will insure operation of the plant throughout the winter months.

Screw and Bolt Earns Dividends

By GEORGE B. SNYDER.

EARNINGS OF THE Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Corporation in the first half of this year reflected the declining activity in most types of business but were sufficient to cover dividend requirements for the period. While profits dropped below last year they were fairly well maintained in view of the general rate of industrial activity.

Net profit for the six months ended June 30, 1930, was $1,249,479 after deducting depreciation, interest and taxes. This was equivalent to 83 cents a share on 1,500,000 shares of capital stock. It compared with $1,668,476 or $1.11 a share in the first half of 1929.

The results of the second quarter were less satisfactory than those of the first. Net for the three months ended June 30 was $470,716 or 31 cents a share. This compared with $778,763 or 52 cents a share in the quarter ended March 31. The greater earnings reported for the first quarter of this year were partially due to profits from the sale of securities.

Stock Pays $1.40

THE STOCK PAYS dividends of $1.40 a share annually. Profit for the six months covered dividend requirements for the period with a margin of 13 cents but earnings for the second quarter fell slightly below dividends for the period.

The company is in an exceptionally good financial position. Current assets of $9,420,018, shown on the balance sheet of June 30, were 5.7 times current liabilities. Cash of $2,584,826 exceeded all current liabilities of $1,630,679. Current assets included investments in marketable securities carried at $3,088,192. These had a market value of $2,750,808.

Plants Expanded

ADDITIONS TO PLANTS costing $467,958 were made during the first half of the year. A portion of the improvements were still under construction at the end of June so that the next statement will probably show a further gain.

Production of airplane propellers has been started on a small scale. The propellers are made of hollow steel. Development work carried on during the past two years has overcome production difficulties so that the company is in a position to fully develop this new market as soon as conditions in the aviation industry become satisfactory. The propellers have undergone rigid tests by both the Army and Navy and have been approved for use on government planes.

Funded Debt Small

PHYSICAL PROPERTIES were carried at $9,215,509 after deducting depreciation of $1,302,988. Total assets were $18,728,200.

Against this funded debt amounted to only $3,929,000. All indebtedness, including both current and funded items, was exceeded by cash and investments in marketable securities. Surplus amounted to $11,668,521.

The company has five plants, three of which are located in the Pittsburgh district. In addition to nuts, bolts and similar products, it makes thread protectors used by steel pipe producers to prevent damage to their product in shipping. The large amount of line pipe orders placed recently has been an important factor in maintaining sales and earnings this year.

ABRIDGED GOLF CRAZE AIDS SPALDING

Sales Running 5% Ahead Of 1929 as Result of Wide Interest in Midget Courses

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Regardless of general business conditions, the American public must play. Accordingly, the sporting goods industry has become a stable one.

A. G. Spalding and Brothers, established 50 years ago, is by far the largest and best known maker and distributor of all types of sporting goods and outdoor equipment. Its goods are handled by nearly 20,000 dealers. The company makes in 12 plants in the United States, England and France about 90 per cent of the goods it sells. Its best known trade names are "Spalding," "Wright & Ditson" and "Reach."

TINY GOLF SPREADS

This year business of Spalding has been running about 5 per cent ahead of 1929. The Tom Thumb or miniature golf courses have developed into a craze. They are being installed all over the country, while driving ranges are also springing up everywhere. The growth of golf overshadows every other sport for the moment. It is estimated that about 2,000,000 dozen golf balls are made and used each year, with the annual output of clubs placed at 2,000,000.

In 1923 there were 1,803 golf courses in the United States. Today there are 5,648. Tennis playing has probably doubled in the past 10 years.

STEADY SALES GAIN

Spalding has followed the policy of building up a good cash reserve and has exercised careful control over inventories. The business has been built up largely out of earnings. In the past five years sales have jumped nearly 35 per cent while net has improved 71 per cent. The following shows the record of the past two years:

	1929	1928
Sales	$27,886,333	$26,024,700
Net profits	2,050,446	1,843,447
Earns. a sh.	4.92	4.98

Current position of the company was excellent on December 31 last with a ratio of over 8 to 1 and working capital of close to $14,000,000.

From tack hammers to Stoves

The hardware store is distinctly a product of the mechanical age . . . Before science and invention combined to give man the labor-saving devices and conveniences that are now so common around every home, man got along with crude makeshifts. The general store dispensed such simple tools as were needed to work the garden patch and keep the home in repair.

Today the hardware store is an amazing storehouse of things for the home or shop . . . everything from tack hammers to stoves, monkey wrenches to washing machines. Hardly a week passes that the average home owner does not have occasion to visit his neighborhood hardware store.

Many of the hardware dealers of Pittsburgh are depositors at the Mellon National Bank . . . To the others, as well, we are glad to extend the facilities of the bank and invite them to open accounts.

DAILY TRUE STORY

[illegible] Ivan Langford said to his brother [illegible] gford, with an I. I. D and other initials after [illegible] reated to use them.

"There [illegible] y quality, Ivan," the professor admonished.

"It [illegible] ...ted Sara.

Prof. La[illegible] ...ed a sad smile [illegible] ...ugh. This [illegible] ...ntinued, that rust a [illegible] ...and would] girl and [illegible] ...connected with the brokerage business in the city.

If the professor comprehended why his college salary for [illegible] he had as well [illegible] ...Edmonds. It was [illegible] ...but the point Jessen had [illegible] ...ntire stock of [illegible] ...ances already and [illegible] ...ere useless and stead.

They [illegible] ...Langford brother Ivan, and [illegible] ...professor's brother Thomas were [illegible] ...Ingraham's for the week. [illegible] ...Ingraham was an uncle of Miss Ryerson. [illegible] ...Ivan Langford.

Among [illegible] ...guests was Amy Ryerson. So far as Prof. Langford [illegible] ...noticed Miss Ryerson. [illegible] ...think of [illegible] ...Amy was the only girl [illegible] ...in the only person [illegible] ...would while [illegible] ...Ivan fought manfully to love with Amy and [illegible] ...make believe a [illegible] ...perted it [illegible] ...Sunday morning [illegible] ...Ivan suddenly said, "Oh Hum—the little Amy you've [illegible] ...you lassoed and [illegible] ...fair hands, she [illegible] ...

"You [illegible] ...scarcely [illegible] ...

"Let [illegible] ...earth and [illegible] ...I'm [illegible] ...for you. I [illegible] ...my superior [illegible] ...that motherly [illegible] ...kindergarten [illegible] ...a Solon [illegible] ...the heart [illegible] ...with Amy [illegible] ...enough."

Falls in Love

"Then [illegible] ...stead of [illegible] ...lassoes at [illegible] ...

"All right [illegible] ...pretty Amy [illegible] ...and I [illegible] ...you'd fall [illegible] ...never thought [illegible] ...dainty little [illegible] ...like Amy.

"How ever [illegible] ...guess it [illegible] ...

"Chance [illegible] ...guess it. I [illegible] ...could see [illegible] ...with her [illegible] ...but a chance [illegible] ...won't show it. I said she never wears her heart on her sleeve and I can't make a guess whether she is stringing you along or wants you. If she wants you she'll get you and if she doesn't want you, you won't get her."

Professor Langford sighed.

"Crudely put, Ivan, but a truism, nevertheless.

Ivan groaned.

"One of the troubles with you is that you talk like a book instead of coming down to earth."

"Have I other—er—troubles?"

"Plenty, you are bashful as hell and—"

"That is an unknown quantity and doesn't offer any standard medium by which—"

"Please, Tom—listen. If I said that you were abnormally and extraordinarily bashful it wouldn't get over with a punch. What I'm getting at is that you can't win this pretty little Amy girl by mooning around and stammering and getting up sufficient courage to inform her that it is a pleasant day. She knows when the day is pleasant, she isn't a moron. Use a system."

"System?"

"I said system. Instead of telling her that it is a nice day you tell her that she is too darned beautiful you never notice whether it is raining or sunshiny. Girls like to be told that. All of 'em, whether they are little peaches like Amy or homely as a hedge fence—fooled you, eh? I didn't say 'hell,' did I?"

"You did."

Ivan groaned in dismay.

"You work a system. Know the story about the boy and the nettle?"

"Certainly. I am. It is one of Fontaine's original."

Afraid of Amy

"Who the who cares who wrote the darn thing? Remember the kid went up and delicately touched the nettle and it hit him a handful of prickles and he yawped about it."

Prof. Langford laughed heartily. "Imagine putting a Fontaine fable into such jargon," he said.

Ivan got a little red.

"Anyway this lad's father told him not to be a bashful sap, but to go up to the next nettle and grab it and give it a hard squeeze. He did and it didn't sting him. That's the idea."

Prof. Langford laughed for a moment.

"You mean for me to go up to Miss Amy and grab her and give her a hard squeeze?"

"For Pete's sake, I'm using a simile or something. I mean, get a system. Don't be afraid of her. Be jolly with her, and jolly her, don't let her think you're afraid of her, let her think your life has been just full of pretty Amys."

Prof. Langford sighed.

"I am afraid I wouldn't know how—or wouldn't have the courage. I might get a rebuff."

"Sure you might—and then again you might not. Did you hear about the guy—"

"Guy? What is his last name—never mind, go on."

Ivan showed signs of tearing his hair.

"The person, the human, the man who boasted that he asked every girl for a kiss and the English chap said: 'My word, I say, don't you get a lot of rebuffs?' And he answered: 'Sure I do, and I get a lot of kiss[illegible] Get the Point, don't [illegible] ...

If I could get [illegible] ...book of [illegible] ...formative with [illegible] ...Theatre's new [illegible] ...offering, I could [illegible] ...stand up to [illegible] ...about [illegible] ...and [illegible] ...suggest that we [illegible] ...an [illegible] ...

And [illegible] ...the [illegible] ...drink of [illegible] ...and hand you a [illegible] ...talk to [illegible] ...about [illegible] ...then [illegible] ...about [illegible] ...that's exactly [illegible] ...being especially [illegible] ...exactly [illegible] ...reading.

But to be flippant—"

Why, you don't weep when you are reading [illegible] ...Tom, Dick and Harry [illegible] ...a picture and work it. Any [illegible] ...make you a peach of a [illegible] ...You ought to be mad [illegible] ...

I don't think so until I met [illegible] ...Ivan.

Shut [illegible] ...the old stuff [illegible] ...about you the whole [illegible] ...time your cue is to browse [illegible] ...with Amy and make her [illegible] ...that you are a jolly sensible [illegible] ...as a real protector and [illegible] ...and only life playmate [illegible] ...for."

Makes Error

"If I could talk like that [illegible]

"What has she said to you?"

She said that my work must be very [illegible] ...interesting and that [illegible] ...was quite awed to meet a man [illegible] ...who had actually written books for the instruction of [illegible] ...boys and [illegible] ...and she thought I was clever.

Good! [illegible] ...Nothing else? What did you say?

I [illegible] ...her.

That was [illegible] ...to [illegible] ...said to her. There are too many [illegible] ...people now and too few girls [illegible] ...adorably beautiful [illegible] ...as Amy.

Prof. Langford looked at his brother in admiration.

If I could only think of something like that to say but I forget or get tongue-tied—"

Bashful. I've mentioned it before, you girl shy. Use the cheerful self-possessed system."

Look here Ivan you might as well tell a fish to use a quadrant and sextant. Give me a concrete example."

"Your head."

"That, I believe, is a form of joke. I am serious."

"Too damaltogether too serious. All right, here's an example. Suppose you have dated Amy up for a dance tonight, and there will be moonlight strolls in the garden. You meet her and remind her of the date for tonight, then you grin at her and say, 'Look here Amy, what ho for a little kiss tonight?' Get me?"

"That's precipitate—"

"Ten to one she'll say, 'See about it when the time comes,' and at the dance you walk her in the garden and kiss her and if she protests, which she won't, you be dignified and make her believe that she promised you a kiss."

"I'll think it over."

"Aw, heck, put it over, Tom."

Prof. Langford promised, faintly, to try.

There was no dance that evening, it was all contract bridge.

Prof. Langford managed to chat for a few minutes at a between-games period, but he didn't get anywhere except to elicit a sweetly shy smile from Amy.

Good System

"It's no use," he told his brother, "I can't make it work."

"Just do as I say, Tom."

The next evening some neighbors from adjoining estates were to come over and there was to be a big and formal dance.

That afternoon Prof. Langford took a new volume on "Creative Impulses" down in the old-fashioned garden, and sat under a spreading smoke bush reading.

He saw Amy coming along the path alone.

Here was a chance to test the system Ivan told him about.

When Amy came near him she seemed surprised to see him. She had seen him from afar, to be accurate.

Why—why you here, professor?" she stammered.

It was all phoney, but it fooled the professor.

He was going to try the system. He tossed down the book and stood up.

What ho," he said.

What ho yourself, Professor."

"Well—I mean, I'm speaking for a dance and a waltz down here in the moonlight tonight, and so, what ho for a kiss tonight, Amy?"

He blurted it out and stood trembling. Amy eyed him, then she smiled and ran up to him.

"What ho for a kiss right now—this minute?" she asked.

She got it.

"Your system was great, it worked. I'm engaged to Amy!" he cried.

Horse Sense Editorial

What a wonderful age we live in! At no other time in the history of the world has the ordinary working man been able to carry a combination button hook, straight edge ruler and handy pocket comb, made of genuine rust-resisting aluminum, pleasing to the eye, yet strong and durable. Useful as well as artistic. And yet you find people who like to sneer at modern progress and say "Pooh pooh pa doop!" Why don't these winners go back where they came from? Think it over, Mister Taxpayer!

And then there is the type of woman who thinks that all you have to do to make a successful home is to drape a Spanish shawl on a piano.

ONE CLEAR CALL

BROOKLYN—When a man, who refused to give his name, complained by telephone that his wife was playing poker in a nearby apartment, police raiders arrested eighteen women. "She's over at Schwarz's," said the man, "and she loses my money faster than I can earn it. She doesn't know anything about poker or bridge, but she insists upon playing with those female sharpers."

Consider, now, the husband's plight,
It isn't fair—it isn't right!
He's left alone both day and night.
The wife he took, come woe, come woe,
Is on the loose—she's on the go
From noon until she's out of dough.
It wouldn't be so bad if she Would win at cards occasionally—
'Twould dull the edge of tragedy.
But woman plays . . . and plays . . . and plays
And plays . . . and plays . . . and plays . . . and plays;
It's now the man who pays . . . and pays.

Specious Plea for Vice Is Refuted on the Hill

"A wide open town is good for business," we occasionally hear short-sighted business men say. They argue that commercial vice is beneficial in that it brings money into the community and stimulates spending.

As if commercial gains outweighed human values! As if brisker trade were to be measured against the blasted lives, the ruined health, the suffering and dishonor that are exacted when gambling dens, speakeasies and disorderly houses are tolerated—measured against them, and declared to justify them!

It is refreshing to find practical refutation of the specious plea in the experience of the Hill district, as described by Alderman Martin J. Griffin, of the Fifth Ward. The remarks were called forth by raids his constables have been making on gamblers and bootleggers.

Griffin's encroachment on a field commonly regarded as belonging to Director Clark's police caused inquiry and led the alderman to state that he was cleaning up the Hill, not as a political, but as a business proposition. Prevalence of commercial vice has depreciated property values, it was said, and has made it difficult to borrow money on real estate mortgages.

Let that be remembered when the old plea is made that "a wide open town helps business."

Interesting Questions Raised in Local Pulpit

The Rev. M. Herbert Messner, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Carrick, gave us all something worth while to think about in his sermon Sunday on Jonathan Edwards.

Jonathan Edwards, it seems, has been designated by a group of literary people in Boston as the most successful American. The reasons for their choice are interesting; certainly they are widely at variance with the common notion of what constitutes success.

As the word is ordinarily used, a "successful" man is one who, above all else, attains wealth. Ask the average man on the street to name our most successful citizens, and he will mention men conspicuously rich. The importance of winning a competence can, of course, be exaggerated; but the Boston group, in ignoring it altogether, will seem to many to have tried so hard to stand straight that they have leaned backward.

First among the reasons for adjudging Jonathan Edwards America's most brilliant success is that he loved and won the hand of a fine woman. Other reasons are that he blessed the world with his descendants, that he had a religious experience satisfactory to himself, and that he blessed the world through service.

It should be stimulating to everyone to apply the criteria to his own life and inquire how far he may have fallen short of attaining this kind of success.

Western Pennsylvania's Firemen in Convention

There are few conventions that surpass in popular interest the annual gatherings of the fire fighters. That is why there is always such keen competition among the towns of this section to secure the convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association.

Glendale is to be congratulated on being the place of the convention this year. It has made the little Allegheny County town's name familiar to thousands. From the standpoint of advertising, if from no other, it was a stroke of good luck for the community to capture the gathering.

Pittsburgh is gratified that the meeting is being held in a town so close to this city. It offers opportunity to the firemen from 24 counties who are attending the convention to become better acquainted with Pittsburgh as well as with Glendale and Carnegie.

Firemen are all potential if not actual heroes, liable as they are to be called at any time to risk their lives to save other lives and property. Western Pennsylvania's firemen are inferior to none in their courage and skill. Citizens generally will hope, because of their admiration for these men, that their convention will be in every respect a huge success.

Golf Goes Democratic On Miniature Courses

"I made two holes in one on Sunday," remarked a shop girl to a group of companions as they came to work from one of the suburbs yesterday. And in a moment they were plunged into an animated discussion of golf. It developed that they played on miniature courses.

The Department of Commerce reports there are now 25,000 of these baby links in the country, mostly established since last January, and that they represent an investment of $125,000,000.

No wonder they are popular. They have made the game, until recently a sport available only to those possessed of money and leisure, a democratic pastime. The shop girl can now talk of making a "hole in one" and indulge in other such country club chatter. Golf talk is no longer the hallmark of "the upper crust."

But how much better it would be if the golf courses in the county parks were ready, and there were other municipal links available which would permit the masses to play the game as it ought to be played.

SUN TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit.
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Community Fund for charities.
6—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
7—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
8—Development of river transportation.
9—Development of air transportation.
10—Electrification of railroads.

Just Like Tiddledy-Winks -:- By Hal Coffman

Across the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific in 14 hours and 50 minutes—an all daylight trip just achieved by Capt. Hawks—constitutes a record for an east to west flight. Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh flew west to east in 14 hours and 45 minutes, making only one stop. Capt. Hawks made five stops to refuel. Doesn't it remind you of the old game of tiddledy-winks as you snapped a chip back and forth across the table? —H. C.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Wet and Dry

It's about time to explain the status of our political candidates who are lining themselves up six deep for 1932.

That's the presidential year when we all vote for the next trout fisherman.

"Bugs" Baer

About half of the ponderous boys announce themselves as dripping wet. The other 50 percent declare for law and order or anything else the people pay for.

This is the way they do it. The first man thinks to himself, "I was a dry last time. All it got me was a headache. Now, if I have to get a headache I might as well have a reason for it. I will come on an all-wet, soggy platform with a knothole in the middle like a bunghole in a barrel."

His opponent was a wet the last election. He had promised his constituents the world with a fence around it. When they tried to collect it they discovered the fence was barbed wire.

Hearing his distinguished contemporary is now wet, he goes to him and says:

"My distinguished contemporary, I hear you are all wet and dripping like a beached whale. The people must have their rights. In order to preserve what's left of the rights I will therefore oppose you as a dry. I will be a man who is so dry that I will have to sleep in a vacuum cleaner."

The man who was dry, but is now wet, says without the least effort:

"My distinguished contemporary, I am delighted that you are running against me because I was afraid that I would have some opposition. You stump the state as a dry and I will plead for personal liberty, tolerance and anything that is difficult to prove."

The wet steps out and howls for beer for the workingman, whisky for the workingman and wine for the workingman. Anything to make the workingman stop work.

All three are very alluring. But no workingman can afford to buy any one of the trio of liquid dynamite. The wet knows there isn't a chance of getting 'em back again but he proceeds to hypothecate the future as gaily as a Japanese silkworm thinking of the beautiful stockings he is going to be some day.

The dry yawpers, shillabers and howls for prohibition. Which we have got, which is here and which looks as if it would stay. Everybody knows that he is asking for something that we have plenty of and some to spare.

AFTER COAL, WHAT?

By Archibald Henderson

In an economic and industrial era, in a power age, the most important and indispensable factor is energy. As our industrial plants become more numerous and more complicated, as the public demands for power-driven and power-supplied instruments become more intensive and more insatiable, the problem of power supply becomes more acute. One of the great economic and political problems to come before the American public in the near future is the question of power-control. Shall power, the most essential factor in an industrial civilization, fall into the hands of a trust or group of allied trusts? Or shall power remain subject to the direction of a nonpartisan board appointed by the government?

No one deeply interested in scientific questions affecting the immediate density of civilization can forget the profound impression created by Sir William Ramsay just 20 years ago regarding Great Britain's coal supply. At a meeting before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, this cautious and conservative scientist made a prediction which sounded highly spectacular and alarmist.

In carefully considered words, which somehow bore the suppressed thrill of a prophecy by H. G. Wells or J. B. S. Haldane, Ramsay predicted that Great Britain's coal supply would be exhausted in a century and three-quarters.

At first people doubted this truly sensational pronouncement. Our hard-boiled public today is always suspicious of a concealed publicity stunt in startling scientific prophecies. But a careful check up on Ramsay's data and calculations showed that his prediction was conservative rather than rash. England's then world supremacy, on the sea and in industry, was generally recognized as being dependent upon coal.

Far from restricting the coal mined in the British Isles to home consumption, an enormous proportion is sold at a great profit to other, chiefly European, countries. Actually, England produces about 230,000,000 tons of coal every year. At this ruinous rate of production, the supply may be exhausted long before the time set by Sir William Ramsay.

Of course, there are problematic factors in Ramsay's prediction. It is impossible to predict, accurately, the coal measures of the world. Vast new supplies may be unearthed in ice-covered Antarctica. Nor has it been determined how deep it is possible for the mine to excavate coal at a profit, and how endlessly ramifying the subterranean coal beds are. But even granting the uncertainty of these factors, it is clear that the world is near the end of its coal resources. What can the world do then to supply energy in incalculable amount to do the world's work?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

We have undoubtedly the finest crop of youngsters the race ever produced. And we teach them more tricks whereby they may get the wherewith. And yet, despite all this native talent and elaborate schooling, these young lives often fail to click when they hit the line. Why?

There'll be a thousand answers to that but my notion is that it happens because we fail to give them the one course which would prepare them, above all others, to face life.

What knowledge is most vitally necessary to a human being? A knowledge of facts, figures, theories? No. A knowledge of his fellow man and how to get along with his fellow man. Courses in human contact—plain lessons in politeness, tact, sportsmanship and good manners—how to eat, walk, talk, and, above all, listen—that's what our youngsters need from kindergarten through college.

The average human fails, not because he doesn't know enough, but because he doesn't know how to put it across. What strikes you first when a man seeks your job or your friendship? His skill? His information? No—his personality. If his personality is not pleasing or attractive, you reject the man, regardless of his skill or information.

You may have the brains of a Socrates but if, with it you have the manners of a hooligan, you're licked before you start. A diploma without diplomacy isn't worth the paper it's written on.

Recently, I spent a week with a group of June graduates. Wonderful boys and girls with all the makings of greatness. But what a hard time they'll have attaining it! What passes those poor youngsters will have to make at Lady Luck before they ever get near her! And all because, despite their trick training, no one ever taught them common politeness. Educationally they were all well enough equipped. But when it came to behavior, they were, like that classic western steer—"Wild 'n woolly and full of fleas. Never been curried above the knees—"

I never saw brighter or more beautiful specimens of humanity—nor worse mannered ones. There wasn't an ounce of politeness to a ton of kid. Greedy, noisy, selfish little egotists—yet individually touching. For they were ambitious. They longed for popularity and success and love. But they were doomed to frustration by their rudeness and lack of consideration. And, largely, it wasn't their fault. It was the fault of an educational system which didn't knock their ears down while the knocking was good.

We didn't know as much, 30 years ago, as these youngsters know today. We hadn't a tenth of their social advantage and educational opportunity. But we did have manners. I admit we didn't always FEEL manners but we were taught, with painful precision, to USE 'em. We were made aware, from our first conscious moments, that there were other human beings in the world, and, if we wished to succeed, we would have to learn how to get along with those other people. Which is the one thing we AREN'T teaching youngsters today.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There was a farmer in Texas come into town with a badly injured man and took him to a hospital. When the nurse come to get a history of the case the farmer says, "Well, you see, this fellow was my hired man. He just went to work for me Monday, and I never knew that he hadn't any farm experience. I sent him out plowing before ever I knew that he had never worked anywheres only in a garage, mending cars. Well, one of them mules balked, and the boob didn't know that a stalled mule ain't of the same temper as a stalled engine, and the first thing I knew here was this first-class garage mechanic out on his back under that balky mule!"

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Nightfall in the Forest

Trees stand against the darkening sky,
Mysterious and dim;
And amber shadows swim.

As dusk veils leafy forest walls
Sound goes on careful feet,
The whippoorwill's insistent calls
Are muted now, and sweet.

The sky takes hyacinthine tints
A flood of violet bloom;
The splendor of a star shield glints
Across heaven's deepening gloom.

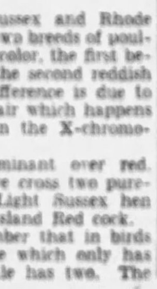
Then, all night's inky flags unfurled,
Blot out the trees, the sky;
Nothing is left in all the world
Except the dark . . . and I!

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

We can accordingly look forward to the installation in animal breeding establishments of "sperm-separators," whose products, labelled "X" or "Y," will be injected into the female to beget the precise proportion of male and female offspring needed in our domestic animals.

There we have one remote and grotesque possibility by which the sex of individuals may ultimately be controlled from the phase of fertilization onward.



H. G. Wells

Later on we shall produce facts which, while they do nothing to encourage any hope of controling the sex of the young under present conditions, may point to the possibility of a post-natal reversal of sexual structure.

SECTION 4. SEX-LINKED INHERITANCE, AND SEX-DETECTORS.

The genes which the X-chromosome carries are not all concerned with the determination of sex. It bears others as well. The genes are crowded on to the chromosomes in serried thousands, and it is hardly to be expected that the X (which is in some species of the largest of the outfit) should have only the genes which determine sex.

Now when a gene is lodged in the sex-chromosome certain complications of the ordinary Mendelian scheme, as we have stated it, appear. Most genes are handed from parent to offspring quite irrespective of sex, but those which are placed on the sex-chromosomes cannot help but behave differently.

As an example of the sort of thing which may occur, we take the plumage color of two breeds of poultry.

The Light Sussex and Rhode Island Red are two breeds of poultry differing in color, the first being white and the second reddish yellow. This difference is due to a single gene-pair which happens to be located in the X-chromosome.

White is dominant over red. Suppose then we cross two pure-bred birds, a Light Sussex hen with a Rhode Island Red cock.

Let us remember that in birds it is the female which only has one X; the male has two. The sperms, therefore, will all be alike; they will each contain one X, and in that X there will be the recessive red gene.

The eggs, on the other hand, are of two kinds: some contain an X and in it the dominant white gene, while others contain no X, and therefore no color-gene at all.

When one of the former kind is fertilized the resulting bird will have two Xs; it will accordingly be a cock. And it will have one red and one white gene; so, the latter being dominant, the bird will be white.

When the second kind of egg is fertilized the resulting bird will have one X only, so it will be a hen, and since the colorgene in the X is alone and unopposed, it will be reddish-yellow.

Here, then, is a strange result. We crossed a red cock with a white hen, both pure bred; in the first hybrid generation all the cocks are white and all the hens are red!

It is usually impossible to tell the sexes of fowls until they are several weeks old. But it would be eminently desirable to do so earlier, for then the breeder could sell batches of chicks guaranteed all female to those who want to fatten birds for the table.

By taking advantage of the facts just described this can be done, and done at hatching. If a Rhode Island cock be used with pure-bred Light Sussex hens we can be certain that all the golden chicks are female while the white ones are all male.

There are other color combinations which give a similar result.

There exist, of course, a large number of widespread popular beliefs and breeders' superstitions as to the possibility of testing the sex of the chicks or of the embryo before hatching. Some breeders declare that the sex can be prophesied from the shape of the egg, pointed eggs yielding males and rounded females; others pin their faith to the size of the egg, others to the position of the embryo as seen when the egg is "candled."

Abroad With A New Yorker

By O. O. McIntyre

DRESDEN.—Some more sickening swoops in the air and here's Dresden! From now on I can use a pet phrase "as fragile as Dresden china" with authority, for I have seen the local product. There is a powder-puff delicacy about the city. Or maybe it is suggestion.

Dresden is cupped in a valley paradoxically high above the sea, the capital of Saxon Free State. It is remindful of Paris in that it is divided into two parts by the Elbe river. Altstadt or old town is on its left bank, and Neustadt or new town on its right.

Next to Berlin, it attracts more tourists than any other city and yet, unless interested in ceramics, Frankfort, Cologne or Leipzig are far more interesting. The high spot of Dresden was its chocolate. I am always lured from exquisite art by prosaic things.

Old town forms the central business section — a mediaeval medley of ancient houses, cowpath streets and wooden shoes. New town is approached over—and how prettily named—the Carola Bridge, spanning the Elbe. But I shall remember Dresden chiefly for the first horse and buggy runaway I have seen in 20 years.

A nag, attached to a dilapidated gig in the Schlossplatz, for no apparent reason bolted and ran hell-for-leather across the square, careening around a corner on two wheels. Windows flew up, shop keepers waddled to doors, and pedestrians scurried for cover. It is grander than an auto smash and no one gets hurt.

If some one would turn a bull loose in one of the china shops it would be a red letter day. As it is I believe glories of Dresden are largely sentimental or of the past. That is true of many "wonder cities." The city's zenith was reached with the reign of August the Strong in the 70's.

What Louis XIV did for Versailles, Frederick the Great for Potsdam, August the Strong—and what a billing for a German acrobat!—did for Dresden. The population is more than a half million. Hindenburg sidewheel whiskers plentiful. Meat three times a day, with lashings of potatoes on every menu!

Dresden has cafes opening at 6 a. m. and closing at noon, patronized solely by nightworkers. Patrons drop in at sun-up, drink beer, converse with fellows and listen to orchestras. It enlivens Dresden mornings.

Three dishes are indelibly linked with the Fatherland—sausage, sauerkraut and schmier kase yet they are not on menus and are only secured by asking. It is as though they were ashamed of such yum-yums. Dresden is famed for eisbein—or pig's knuckle—costing one mark and about as big as a small ham of the size of Lester Allen. Another dish is fried eels, looking like mahogany rulers and tasting like the smell of varnish. My waiter at lunch today used to work at Keene's.

These trivialities for a few days have been dashed off literally on the fly. After trotting around a strange burg rush to a hotel, yank out the typewriter and slam out impressions in a hurry, for I take no notes and have a memory like a tack. As I finish, a green-aproned porter snatches luggage and off we go. Another week and I'll be playing with spools or wearing a sailor hat and flying a kite. I've pulled all the cross threads out of my $6 necktie.

The Dresden "dolls" are flaxen-haired, full-bosomed, thick-ankled and big-hipped. They sit at cafe tables with the lidless gaze of cobras, sipping thimble-sized drinks called, oddly enough, Korn. The drink, like the ladies, is said to be very wicked.

Five in Dresden, along with many in other cities, asked about Samuel Untermeyer, New York lawyer. I take it he is another local boy and so-forthed.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Mrs. Married Woman you make a mistake when you are not cordial to your husband's business friends when they come to your home with him.

You may not like your husband's guests, but he likes them and will continue to mingle with them irrespective of what you think of them.

Not that your husband does not want to respect your personal likes and dislikes, but he cannot be fussy in choosing his business friends.

Business is business and brings social obligations as well.

If your husband cannot entertain these men in his own home he will go elsewhere to extend the glad hand to them.

Another thing, he as every man, likes to feel that his wife will be courteous to his friends.

He wants them to think well of her and believe he used good judgment when he persuaded her to captain his matrimonial craft.
